RAILROAD HEAD URGES REPEAL OF PROHIBITION

Atterbury, Pennsylvania President, Testifies in House Quiz.

COMMITTE HEARS NOTED AMERICANS

Rev. J. A. Ryan Declares Law Sears "Everything That It Touches."

DU PONT IS SLATED FOR STAND TODAY

Loss of People's Freedom Threatened by "Tyranny," Says Wallace Irwin.

Associated Press.)

Prominent citizens testifying yesterday before the House judiciary committee condemned prohibition as a miserable failure and as an affront to the American people which is engendering widespread resentment.

One of the most outspoken was W. W. Atterbury, the president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who also is Republican national committeeman for Pennsylvania. He was preceded by the presentation of a statement from Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, in New York, who was unable to appear in person.

Mr. Atterbury testified that the problem as he saw it is to "minimize the abuse of alcoholic beverages and restore that respect for law which is now seriously jeopardized." He thus plunged quickly into his argument upon taking the stand, which was ten minutes after his arrival in the city. The committee stayed in session later than usual to hear him.

Advocates Government Control.

Standing erectly, the former general of the A. E. F. said he appeared "solely because of my interest in the preservation of law and order." He described the saloon as a menace to the country and said he favored temperance, which he believed "has lost ground in the last ten years." He declared the placing of manufacture and sale of liquor under Government control, State and national, would advance "the real cause of temperance."

"When the prohibition amendment was adopted," Mr. Atterbury said, "it was expected by its proponents that it could be enforced. Had the law been supported by the great body of public opinion its enforcement might have been possible. Even prior to the passage of the amendment certain States were able to secure a high degree of prohibition, because in those States the law was supported by a great majority of the people.

"At the time of its adoption, even the friends of the amendment could not have foreseen four distinct results which have ensued and which have tended not only to break down the effectiveness of the amendment itself, but to hamper the general effort to enforce law and order.

By-Products of Prohibition.

"These unexpected developments have been:

"1. The extent to which the practice of making home brew has developed.

"2. The enormous development of the bootleg industry, the profits from which have been so large as to bring about an alliance in many cases between those charged with law enforcement and the most recklessly criminal section of the population.

"3. The enormous temptations to official corruption and the great development of this corruption.

"4. The revolt of the youth of the country against being deprived of personal liberties which their parents had enjoyed, resulting in a situation which has caused a large number of the most conservative college authorities to urge the repeal of the amendment."

Reversion to States.

Mr. Atterbury suggested that Congress had the right to delegate the authority for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and that the Volstead act should be repealed and the authority delegated to the States to determine for themselves what is intoxicating liquor and whether to enact legislation to enforce it.

The Rev. John A. Ryan, a widely known sociologist and member of the Catholic University faculty here, declared prohibition had seared "everything that it touches." The theologian said President Hoover, Attorney General Mitchell and members of the Law Enforcement Commission had gone to an unwarranted extreme in seeking to present the prohibition question to the people as a moral issue.

Says Courts Are Clogged.

W. W. Montgomery, jr., a Philadelphia lawyer, said his city's courts were "clogged with liquor cases, to the serious and alarming interference with

Lad Saves Companion Entombed by Cave-in

Playmates of Lawrence Richardson (inset), are shown above viewing a pile of sand that buried Lawrence yesterday afternoon when their play pit at Paul Junior High School collapsed.

Harold Bacon Calls Aid as School Pit Buries Richardson Boy.

Presence of mind of a companion saved Lawrence Richardson, 10 years old, from suffocation yesterday afternoon when a huge load of earth caved in on him while playing in the rear of the Paul Junior High School, Eighth street near Oglethorpe street northwest.

Lawrence and Joseph Reynolds, 11 years old, had sought refuge in a cave from Lawrence's 8-year-old brother, William, and Harold Bacon, 10, who averted what might have been a tragedy.

They had just hidden in the hole they had dug in an embankment when the roof collapsed, burying Lawrence under 4 feet of loam and partially covering Joseph.

Harold Bacon dragged Joseph from the grip of the earth. After calming William and Harold, he ordered them to start scooping the earth from Lawrence and then ran three blocks to the No. 11 Truck House and notified the firemen.

Meanwhile, two workmen who were passing had joined the rescue party. Capt. O. C. Bassord, of No. 11 Truck, and his men extricated the lad who was semiconscious when rescued.

After restoratives had been given he seemed little the worse for his experience. The only injury he sustained was a slight cut on the head. He was brought to his home, 5318 Ninth street northwest.

The four boys had been playing tag in the rear of the school. In the embankment at the rear of the

COALITION LOSS OF TARIFF GOAL IS HELD LIKELY

Important Overturns in Vote Are Predicted as Trade Is Rushed.

HIGHER SUGAR DUTY GROUP IS CONFIDENT

COMPROMISE SEEN ON LEATHER GOODS

Senator McNary, at Work on Lumber Schedule, May Gain Victory.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

With the Senate nearing the end in its consideration of the tariff bill, the Democratic-progressive coalition is up against the serious possibility of losing nearly all of its major accomplishments.

Trading among the senators and groups of them is generally believed to have reached the feverish stage and predictions are being freely made that when the bill comes up for final passage there will be some important overturns in the vote.

The higher tariff sugar people are convinced that they will overturn the twelve-vote margin by which the Senate previously voted to retain the present rates on that commodity. This was, of course, not a straight-out coalition proposition, the ranks being split generally, but there are many predictions that the coalition's big fight against the proposed levies on building materials will be lost on the final vote. There are still other predictions that manganese will be restored to the free list against the coalition's fight to retain the present rate.

Building Group Optimistic.

The building materials group includes lumber, shingles and cement and those who are seeking a levy on the two former are in a most optimistic frame of mind, indeed.

There is every reason to believe that in the general trading a compromise will come on shoes and leather goods and hides. This group as a matter of fact lends itself to compromise as there is a community of interest between the Middle Westerners and New England.

When the matter came before the Senate before the Progressives got sore because the Easterners would not give them the rates they wanted on hides and in retaliation placed shoes and leather goods on the free list.

Smoot to Offer Compromise.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, plans to offer the compromise rate on sugar, 2 cents on the Cuban imports and 2.36 on the world supply. This compares with the rate of 2.20 and 2.76 voted by the House and the 2.40 and 3 cent rate reported by the Senate finance committee.

Supporters of the compromise claim they have enough votes to put it over and the indications are that Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, who led the fight for the present rates, is not so confident that they are not

TAFT GROWING WORSE; DEATH RUMOR DENIED

Bulletin Says Former Chief Justice Is Weakening.

BLOOD CIRCULATION STRAIN IS STRESSED

PATIENT SUFFERING NO PAIN, IS REPORT

Telephone Message Sent to Son in Cincinnati, but Kin Is Not Called Here.

A steady decline in the vitality of William Howard Taft last night led to grave fears that the former President might not much longer be able to withstand the tremendous strain on his blood circulation which is reported to be weakening him rapidly.

His attendant physicians, in a bulletin issued through the White House early last night, reported that their patient's condition then was less favorable than at any previous time.

"The former Chief Justice," the bulletin read, "is not as well as Tuesday. He is gradually growing weaker He suffers no pain, but his condition is worse than at any time."

Report of Death Denied.

It was stated that no further reports on Mr. Taft's condition would be made by his physicians during the night unless warranted by a sudden change. However, a supplemental bulletin issued at the same time, "to counteract reports circulated of Mr. Taft's death," it was explained by one physician, stated that "the former Chief Justice has had a restful day. His general condition remains unchanged."

The bulletins are signed by Mr. Taft's physicians, Dr. Thomas A Claytor and Dr. Francis R. Hagner.

Members of the Taft household yesterday were in telephonic communication with Robert A. Taft, a son of the former Chief Executive, who is now in Cincinnati, but it was stated that members of the family have not yet been called to Washington.

Has Lost Much Weight.

Although his physicians have permitted him to sit up for brief intervals, Mr. Taft, now 73 years of age has been confined to his bed for the last several days. He is still able to take nourishment, but is unable to assimilate quantities as large as he could consume last week.

Failing health made it necessary for Mr. Taft to resign as Chief Justice early this month, and since that time his blood circulation system has been seriously impaired.

The result of this condition has been the placing of an exceptionally severe strain upon his heart, which for many years has required the most careful nursing, and rigid precautions against overexertion have been demanded. Mr. Taft also has lost much weight since his recent return from Asheville, N. C.

THREE-POWER TREATY PROSPECT GROWING AS PARLEY AWAITS PARIS

Chicago Racketeers Menace Stage Stars

Francine Larrimore Put Under Guard After $1,000 Demand.

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Racketeers have renewed a "shakedown" campaign backed by threats against well-known actors and actresses appearing in Chicago, police said today.

The Actors Equity League began a formal investigation of complaints made by several members who said they were presented with demands for money during Chicago engagements and threatened with dire penalties unless they paid. Equity said hundreds of dollars already had been paid by members, that others had been frightened out of town and that many had been forced to seek police protection.

Since January 31, police said, Francine Larrimore has been playing the lead role in "Let Us Be Gay" with two detectives standing in either wing back stage guarding her from a possible attack by racketeers who sought to collect $1,000 from her.

Similar demands were reported made of Eddie Cantor, starring in "Whoopee," but Cantor emphatically denied it tonight.

Miss Larrimore received by special messenger a letter informing her she had been "put on the list for $1,000 for the support of a disabled war veteran's family," telling her that if she refused, there were many ways

Delegates Vote to Continue Original Program When Possible.

RESUMPTION HANGS ON TARDIEU SUCCESS

MacDonald and Stimson Are Agreed on Limited Pact Proposal.

CHURCHILL ASSAILS COURSE OF PREMIER

Asserts Safety of British Empire Menaced by Concessions to Other Countries.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, Feb. 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—After a meeting of the heads of the American, British, Japanese and Italian delegations to the London naval conference and the French Ambassador here today, held in Premier MacDonald's room in the House of Commons, an official communique was issued, which stated:

"It was arranged, subject to agreement of the French delegation, that as soon as the conference is in a position to resume its full activities the original program of work will be continued. In the meanwhile, private conversations between the delegations are continuing and the work of the technical subcommittees is still making good progress."

Thus officially the five-power parley still lives and will be resumed next week if and when Andre Tardieu forms a government that can obtain a vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies.

Prospects of a five-power treaty embodying naval restrictions all around have practically disappeared. When the chief delegates convened today, MacDonald opened by suggesting three-power discussions, and Secretary of State Stimson, it is learned from a non-American source, cordially agreed in a manner suggesting previous arrangement.

Japan Opposes Time Limit.

Former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, for Japan, at first raised no objection, but demurred when it was suggested that these conversations be finished within a certain time limit.

When Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, was asked if he would join the other powers in these talks he replied that to do so would give rise to misconceptions on the part of France during her absence. Stimson is reported on good but non-American authority to have stressed America's principal interest in agreement with the other two oceanic powers and to have declared that the United States is not much concerned with European matters lying between France, Italy and Great Britain.

The American together with the British and Japanese delegations are now bending their principal energies to exploration of the possibilities of a three-power agreement.

There is nothing inconsistent in this statement, which is borne out by an authoritative statement made to the New York World News Service of American policy as decided today at a meeting of our delegation, and strong affirmations of an official British spokesman that a five-power and not a three-power treaty is the aim of the conference. The latter is true, but true only if Tardieu's program is modified. The conference officially is forced to keep up its ostensible expectation of French agreement in courtesy to the French republic until events prove otherwise.

Churchill Hits Government.

Former Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill made any modification of the present British attitude much more difficult by a vigorous speech before the Navy League today in which he attacked government weakness and more than hinted that the safety of the empire at sea is

POLICE PICKET PLAN IS TERMED "STUPID"

Carter, Who Asked Action, Hurls Criticism at Placid Maj. Pratt.

OFFICIALS SEE RESULTS

Criticism of his efforts to enforce the law against speakeasies and gambling joints yesterday failed to perturb Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police.

When, acting on complaint of George H. Carter, Public Printer, Maj. Pratt placed police pickets at the entrances not only of the one place near the Government Printing Office specified by Mr. Carter, but also of three other suspected places in the same square block, Mr. Carter yesterday insisted that he had been unable to get any action on his complaint from Maj. Pratt, and described the picketing as "stupid procedure."

Questioned as to his reaction to this statement, Maj. Pratt merely said that "the police records speak for themselves."

The records show that the proprietor of the place against which Mr. Carter's complaint was made has been arrested several times recently, but in each instance he has been able to "beat the rap" in court because of the lack of sufficient evidence.

In one instance recently, four employes of the printing office who were taken in a police raid on this place signed affidavits indicating that gambling had been done there, but the grand jury did not consider this evidence strong enough or conclusive enough to warrant an indictment.

Mr. Carter, describing the police picketing as "stupid procedure," insisted that he had not requested Maj.

TARDIEU SUMMONED TO RE-FORM CABINET

Paris, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Andre Tardieu was hoisted back into the political saddle today by President Gaston Doumergue, who followed the advice of Raymond Poincare and summoned him to reform the cabinet overthrown on February 17.

The first announcement of progress was that Aristide Briand, veteran foreign minister, had agreed to retain his portfolio and collaborate in the selection of a government to replace the cabinet headed by Camille Chautemps which was denied a vote of confidence yesterday.

It was generally assumed that the Tardieu-Poincare conference which was going on this evening would result in the selection of a list of ministers representing all moderate elements in the Chamber of Deputies, but with some representatives of the parties of the right.

Such a list, it was pointed out, would amount to the throwing down of a gauntlet to the parties of the Left represented by M. Chautemps, Edouard Herriot and Edouard Deladier. Should the cabinet which M. Tardieu is trying to form win its necessary vote of confidence in the chamber, France would have a moderate conservative government. If it is overthrown, it was predicted tonight that President Doumergue again would have to look to the Left.

M. Tardieu was entrusted with the task after he first had refused and nominated M. Poincare. But the latter told the president his health was still too precarious from the effects of recent operations to permit him

DOMINICAN REBELS CAPTURE CAPITAL

Santo Domingo Is Taken by 2,000 Insurgents Under Gen. Urena.

OCCUPATION IS PEACEFUL

Santo Domingo, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—This capital of the Dominican Republic was in the hands of the insurgents tonight with the exception of the old fortress near the Presidential Palace, where a small garrison of troops, loyal to President Horacio Vasquez, was holding out pending negotiations between their chief and insurgent leaders.

President Vasquez left his haven in the French Legation and went to the American Legation to confer with Charles B. Curtis, the United States Minister. It was said that Rafael Estrella Urena, leader of the insurgents, was en route from Santiago and might arrive at the legation during the night.

The insurgents, about 2,000 strong, entered the capital this morning firing volleys in the air. About 10,000

WHEAT SHOWS GAIN; FARM BOARD IS FIRM

SENATE LAUNCHES QUIZ

(Associated Press.)

Standing firm on its wheat policy despite widespread protests from independent dealers, the Farm Board looked back on a slightly improved market last night while the Senate awaited determination of whether speculation on the exchanges was responsible for depressed prices.

A resolution, adopted at the instigation of Senator Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, called upon Secretary Hyde to report to the Senate such recommendations as he saw fit in the present emergency "even to the extent of temporarily closing the exchanges."

The resolution, while only asking for an opinion on whether the exchanges should be closed, said it "was alleged that the price of cotton and wheat is now being greatly depressed by harmful speculation that has beaten the price of cotton and wheat down below the cost of production."

Youth, 14, Drops Dead In School Gymnasium

Heart of Francis B. Lightbown, Bethesda High Pupil, Fails After He Chins Stall Bar Seven Times.

Overexertion in the gymnasium of the eBthesda High School is given as the cause of the sudden death yesterday of Francis B. Lightbown, 14-year-old pupil.

Francis was in the gymnasium with the rest of his class. They were exercising on the stall bars. Francis chinned the bar seven times and rejoined his classmates. Reddened by the exertion he suddenly blanched and fell to the floor.

Other boys in the class and the instructor carried his limp form to the office of the gymnasium. Doctors were summoned. eManwhile Francis' brother, Edward, a student in the second-year class, was summoned to his brother's side and was with him when he died.

Dr. Benjamin C. Perry pronounced him dead. Acute dilation of the heart was given as the cause. Francis' younger sister, Emma J., who is also a pupil at the school was not notified of the death until later.

Charles M. Lightbown, father of the boy, a real estate dealer with offices in Cottage City, Md., was prostrated when news of his child's death reached him. Francis, he said, had always been a robust child and had never been sick or required the services of a doctor.

Other pupils of the class, who but a few minutes before had played with the boy, were grief stricken when the news came that Francis had died.

The Lightbown family lives at 5 East Thornapple street, Chevy Chase, Md. There are six other children. Francis was the youngest boy.

Brilliant Meteor Seen By Capital Observers

A meteor of unusual size and brilliance was seen by many Washingtonians about 10:45 o'clock last night as it flashed across the sky from the northwest toward the southeast section of the capital. The shooting star was said by one observer to look like "a flaming football" and to have been visible for 10 or 15 seconds.

The United States Naval Observatory did not observe the meteor, and the Georgetown University Observatory could not be reached by telephone.

Court, Halted by Cutting, Convicts "Blond Bandit"

Sweetheart Cuts Throat of Man Who Testified Against Her.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Sally Joyce Richards, former circus performer known as the "blonde bandit," was convicted of robbery, first degree, by a Supreme Court jury today. She faces a prison term of 20 years for her part in the holdup here of David Glickstein, whose jewelry shop she and her two male companions, both of whom have pleaded guilty, robbed of $9,000 in jewelry.

Shortly before her case came to a close, at noon, Peter Dombkiewicz, her sweetheart and admitted accomplice in the series of daring holdups which resulted in their arrest and that of Eddie Izydorczak in Montgomery, Ala., threw the courtroom in an uproar by slashing the throat of Glickstein, who previously had identified the girl as having led the raid on his store.

being thrown away by the labor cabinet. This powerful attack is expected, according to parliamentary views tonight among members of all parties, to stiffen MacDonald's attitude toward the United States as well as France.

The United States delegation in a formal meeting this morning, before Stimson went to the meeting of the heads of all the delegations, went into the question of a three-power pact. It is reported that some of those present discussed abandonment of what seems a vain attempt to get a five-power treaty and concentration on an understanding with Great Britain and Japan, but the diplomatic impossibility of such an attitude toward France was made clear and agreed upon.

It was learned later, however, from an authoritative source within the delegation that informal discussions about a three-power treaty are under way. As emphasized by a British spokesman later, these will technically be invalid unless ratified by France and Italy, but if France does not modify her program, the decisions taken would presumably stand between the powers directly concerned.

United States' Present Aim.

The United States delegation is now seeking an agreement along the line of Article XXI of the Washington treaty. That is, it is desired to make an agreement covering the building of the three chief powers for the next six years, with a clause added to the treaty, possibly more specific, that the one in the Washington treaty providing that if building by a non-treaty power during the life of the treaty affects the national security of any signatory, the other powers will meet at the instance of the alarmed power and consider alterations.

An American authority declared that the snag here is the unwillingness of the British at present to agree to this. The British attitude appears to be that the French program, if unmodified, requires certain British counter-measures which are already decided, and that therefore no excuse would exist for calling another conference to agree to Great Britain laying down more cruisers and destroyers when their necessity is already evident.

If this snag is surmounted, the United States is willing to talk battleship reduction only after the cruiser dispute with Japan is settled. There are American delegates in conjunction with Mr. MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, who would like reduction of battleship fleets to twelve each for Great Britain and the United States and seven or eight for Japan.

15 Battleships Insisted Upon.

But the New York World News Service's American informant added that the United States naval authorities do not agree to this and think the battleship fleet ought not to sink below fifteen, and tonight in high British quarters it was learned that the British admiralty is also firm on fifteen battleships, so apparently the the British and American sea dogs have formed an entente on this issue against the politicians.

An American authority today confirmed the fact that the new American superbattleship will be dropped and added that the proposal was part of a scheme discussed between Mr MacDonald and Mr. Hoover in Washington under which more older battleships would be scrapped and the United States build three and Great Britain two new battleships. All this, he declared, is now dead.

Financial Burden Threat.

A hint was conveyed that if Japan remains obdurate for 70 per cent of big cruisers the United States may retaliate by a threat to carry out battleship replacements under the Washington treaty. Since this involves commencement of thirteen battleships by the three powers within the next six years it would put a heavy financial strain on all three, but Japan, even with less ships to build, is thought to be less able to bear it.

George Rublee, the American representative on the jurists committee dealing with submarines, caused a surprise in that body, it was learned today from a non-American source, by proposing that the conference adopt the Root convention of 1922 under which all powers agree that submarines can not be used against merchant ships. The French Parliament has already once refused to ratify this convention. The French thought this issue had been disposed of and when Rublee made his suggestion, Rene Massigli, of the French foreign office, at once demurred. It is probable that a compromise agreement on "humanizing" submarines will now be worked out.

Churchill's trenchant speech represents the first attack on MacDonald's conference policy from the Tory side, and as it is said in parliamentary lobbies that Lloyd George for the Liberals is also prepared to attack the prime minister, the importance of this outburst in its effect on British policy may be very great.

Churchill's Emphatic Speech.

The salient points in the former first lord of the admiralty's indictment of the British delegation follow:

"It is a very strange fact," Churchill said, "that these other powers without exception are preparing to increase the relative strength of their navies. So far as the United States is concerned the rise and expansion of American naval armaments has been the main event apart from the war which has taken place on salt water since 1918.

"Great Britain, on the other hand, who formerly had undoubted supremacy on the sea, has been steadily reducing her fleet from the prewar period in ships, gun power and men.

"Great Britain is the only power of those gathered at the conference table to whom naval defense spells national and imperial existence. It is the only power to whom naval defense spells daily bread. We have to ask ourselves whether we are wise in being so ever ready and even eager to cast aside that shield beneath which we have grown from an obscure island into a huge empire and by means of which only fifteen years ago we saved our souls alive.

"I will only deal with two simple points—first, is the number of cruisers we require to prevent our empire being driven asunder or ourselves driven to surrender or death. Up to the time that the present Socialist government took office we had never agreed with the United States that numerical equality in cruisers or in small craft represented what is called naval parity. The sea lords are experts whose duty it is to render true and faithful opinion of the political points of the day. During the time of the late government the admiralty informed us that 70 cruisers was indispensable and the absolute minimum of safety, but now we are told that the naval experts consider that 50 cruisers are sufficient.

"We want to know what has happened to make this extraordinary change of scientific judgment possible. When we asked the prime minister in the House of Commons, he said it was the Kellogg pact which had wiped away the danger of war. But what has the Kellogg pact to do with the strategic precautions of the admiralty?

"What has been the effect of the Kellogg pact on the other naval powers? All of the other powers now gathered in London are signatories to that pact. They have all renounced the idea of war as a part of state policy. This, however, leads them not to reduce, but to seek to increase their navies. The United States, whence this famous declaration originated, is 1-1 to increase its Navy more than any other power. While the British admiralty reduce their cruiser requirements from 70 to 50 on the strength of the Kellogg pact, the Japanese admiralty raise their requirements from 60 to 70 per cent of the leading naval powers. Obviously, the Kellogg pact has made a different impression on the Japanese and American admiralties and the French and Italian admiralties from what it has made on ours.

Asserts Parity Not Equality.

"Now I come to my second simple point: A treaty between Great Britain and the United States on naval parity, calculated arithmetically, is not equality. It leaves out the immeasurable difference between situation of a vast self-contained continental power and a crowded island which lives by traffic on the sea. It excludes all question of relative vulnerability. It is easy for the eagle to engage himself not to swim in the sea any more than the whale, but there is not a fair and equal contrast between the two.

"Every one here knows that arithmetical naval parity between Great Britain and the United States means definite naval inferiority for Great Britain.

"We ought to build, after hearing unbiased naval advice, whatever Parliament considers is necessary for our safety. We ought not to hand over decisions on this vital matter to foreign nationals even of the most friendly sentiments. British naval requirements ought to be fixed by ourselves and ourselves alone because our own lives depend upon them. I must draw to your attention and that of the four other great powers represented in London.

PARLEY HOPE HELD BY ADMINISTRATION

Hoover and Cotton Fail to Share Pessimism Over London Conference.

POSSIBILITIES ARE CITED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Hoover and Acting Secretary of State Cotton are not sharing the pessimistic view of the London naval conference which is reflected in the sables from abroad. A renewed note of optimism was given to the newspaper men by Mr. Cotton yesterday coincident with reports that the French political skies were clearing. "Don't worry about the conference," Secretary Cotton said, adding that the delay caused by the fall of the Tardieu government was not a serious obstacle to ultimate agreement.

Officials and senators here regard the return of M. Tardieu to London as a certainty. They do not look for any change in the French naval expansion program and they realize that the British tonnage figures will have to be increased to meet the Tardieu program. Thus, there is no longer any real hope for a reduction in cruisers or for any such reduction as President Hoover had hoped for. But there still remains, according to the consensus here, a possibility of three distinct accomplishments, as follows:

First: A battleship reduction program featured by postponement of new battleship replacement construction form 1936 to 1941.

Second: An agreement to humanize submarine warfare, featured by the same forms of agreement as were adopted by the Washington conference of 1921-22.

Third—An agreement to call a later naval limitation conference at an indefinite date, not later than 1936, provided the preparatory commission of the League of Nations does not in the meantime succeed in bringing the powers together.

Of these three possibilities, the plan to humanize submarine warfare is regarded as the most likely to materialize in the near future. Secretary Stimson, according to advices from London, has taken up this question with a view to expediting the completion of a preliminary draft which may be given to the public as the first sign of a definite accomplishment. Agreement to this plan must be obtained from M. Tardieu, it is explained, but he has already indicated that he had no objection to a formula stating that the powers hope for more humane methods in this or any other form of warfare, if such a thing is possible.

Senators do not take the submarine program seriously thus far, but they are disinclined to comment until they see the new formula. The interest which Senator Reed has taken in humanizing submarines has been noted by his confreres here in view of the fact that the senator from Pennsylvania, as head of the military affairs committee of the Senate, has been one of the stanchest supporters of the use of poison gases in warfare and has in this connection opposed any and all suggestions to humanize the engines of destruction in war on the ground that no nation would abide by any humanizing agreement when fighting for its existence.

BONNER DISMISSAL URGED BY NORRIS

U. S. Power Board Aid Tried to Cripple Commission, Senator Charges.

UTILITIES QUIZ GOES ON

(Associated Press.)

Demand for the immediate dismissal of F. E. Bonner as executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission was made yesterday in the Senate, while its interstate commerce committee inquired further into activities of this Government organization.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, called for Mr. Bonner's ousting on the ground that he has been shown to "a power man" and was "trying to cripple the commission" in examining into valuations of the power interests.

After the committee had examined O. C. Merrill, former executive secretary of the commission and now president of the American committee of the World Power Conference, Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, said he would call to the attention of the Senate today his testimony that four Cabinet officers are honorary officers of this organization.

Wheeler to Push Question.

Mr. Wheeler described Mr. Merrill's testimony as "the most startling given to a Senate committee since the Fall-Doheny-Daugherty investigation." He said he would lay it before the Senate immediately.

Meanwhile, the Federal Trade Commission was at work again yesterday on its inquiry into the financing of utility companies. Senator Norris also called the Senate's attention to disclosures which have been made in this phase of the protracted investigation ordered by the Senate.

The interstate commerce committee rested its affairs of the power commission, pending the appearance next week of Secretary Wilbur, ex-officio chairman of the commission.

Nye Urges Action at Once.

Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, suggested in the Senate debate that a resolution be offered expressing the sense of the Senate that Mr. Bonner be dismissed at once. Senator Norris passed up this proposal, and said later, off the floor, that such a resolution "will not be necessary—for the President and the executive branch of the Government can not let affairs go on as they are now, after they know what has been developed in the committee investigation."

Senator Dill (Democrat), Washington, announced he would oppose additional appropriations for the commission.

Senator Jones, of Washington, chairman of the appropriations committee, said he recently had inquired whether the commisison neded any more money and had been told it did not.

"The reason the commission does not ask for more money," Mr. Dill interrupted, "is that Bonner says it doesn't need it."

Accusation by Norris.

Senator Norris added that "Bonner, in the name of economy, is trying to cripple the commissoin so that it can't inquire into these steals."

He complained that "one of the commonest methods of mulcting the public by these great utility companies is to organize subsidiary companies which they own and then hire the subsidiaries to go out and do work for them."

Senator Wheeler said he would call attention to all the points brought out since the committee began its investigation, more than a week ago, with witnesses testifying to a long-standing internal dispute over accounts of power companies.

Jackson Describes Death-Row Events

Says Former Editor of Menace Precipitated Split in Order.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The defense rested late today in the trial of Harvey Jackson for the murder of W. P. (Billy) Parker, former editor of the Menace. The State will offer rebuttal witnesses tomorrow, after which arguments will start.

Jackson told on the stand his own story of the blue shirt organization, for which Parker was editor of the official organ, as well as a faction leader.

Jackson told the jury he founded the order in 1927 for the purpose of "bettering conditions for working folks in the city and getting jobs for white citizens." At that time, he said, there were many white families which needed support and "a lot of jobs were going to Negroes." The organization soon decided to print a paper and brought Parker here to become editor, he said.

Difficulties with Parker, he said, led to disputes and finally to a split in the organization. Preceding Jackson to the stand was Charles B. Herlong, a city councilman, who testified he heard Parker threaten to kill Jackson.

Jackson shot and killed Parker in the blue shirt office. He claims he shot the editor in self-defense.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, demanded the dismissal of F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission., on the ground that he is a "power man."

Adopted a resolution calling upon Secretary of Agriculture Hyde to make recommendations to the Senate relative to controlling the price of cotton and wheat.

Senator Dill, Democrat, announced that he would introduce a resolution to prevent the merger of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railroads.

A resolution was introduced for Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, to authorize appointment of a commission to study methods of enabling the President to mobilize all the resources of the United States in the event of war.

Lobby committee quetsioned Chester H. Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:40 to noon today.

W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and other leaders appeared before the judiciary committee and urged repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Chairman Johnson of the immigration committee introduced a new bill to regulate immigration from the Western Hemisphere.

Rules committee voted to act today and Friday on four bills to amend the merchant marine act.

Naval affairs committee favorably reported the Cochran bill to preserve the cruiser Olympia and anchor it here as a memorial to those who fought in the Spanish-American War.

Veterans committee approved a bill increasing by $100,000,000 a year the Government's expenditure for World War veterans.

Olympia Memorial Measure Reported

House Bill Would Preserve Dewey's Flagship in Washington.

The Cochran bill to bring the cruiser Olympia to Washington and convert it into a permament memorial, was favorably reported yesterday by the House naval affairs committee.

In reporting the measure, the committee amended it to authorize an appropriation of $25,000 toward the expense of locating the vessel here. Representative Coyle (Republican), of Pennsylvania, declared that this sum should come out of the Federal Treasury and should not be asked of the local taxpayers.

The Olympia, which was Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manila Bay, has been consigned to the scrap heap. Representative Cochran (Democrat), of Missouri, author of the bill to save it, has suggested that the ship be anchored off Hains Point. The bill, however, leaves the selection of a site up to the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Auto Stolen From Window.

Although unsuccessful in an attempt to smash open a safe in the office of the R. L. Owens Motor Co., Georgia avenue northwest near Sheridan street, early yesterday, thieves succeeded in making off with a new automobile, which was on exhibition in the display window. Entrance was gained by forcing open a rear window.

the administration of justice generally."

Raymond Pitcairn, also of Philadelphia and identified with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., described the eighteenth amendment as a "rotten failure"—saying "the President and Cabinet know it, Mr. Hughes knows it, Congress knows it, and unhappily the young people know it best of all; but the prohibitionists do not know it."

Yesterday was the fifth day of hearings within the past three weeks, all of which time has been taken up so far by advocates of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. After the committee had heard opponents of prohibition, who are expected to complete their say today, the drys will be given equal chance to argue on behalf of prohibition.

Author Assails Law.

Pierre S. duPont, of Wilmington, Del., is scheduled to appear today against the dry laws.

Jeremiar J. Wadsworth testified yesterday on behalf of his father, former Senator James W. Wadsworth, jr., of New York. The tall youth, whose father is out of the country, said "the attempt to enforce total abstinence in the United States has set up a serious friction between the Government and the people."

"Until recently," he continued, "that portion of the public that is resisting has been good natured about it, while the Government has been fighting it hard and, at times, savagely. There are signs that the public is becoming less good natured and more resentful of the extreme measures of the Government."

In addition to Mr. Butler's, the committee also received a statement demanding repeal of the dry amendment from Wallace Irwin, an author. He assailed it as tryanny and declared that if the people could not revolt against it, their freedom would be lost.

Police Morale Lowered.

Another emphatic witness was Dr. Francis J. Gerty, in charge of the Cook County (Ill.) Psychopathic Hospital. He testified there had been large increases recently in the number of alcoholic patients of both sexes and that mortality in such cases had grown.

Morgan Collins, former superintendent of police in Chicago, declared that after prohibition the morale of the policeman lowered and that liquor law violators in his city escaped conviction because courts and juries were not inclined to enforce the act. He said he had found equally bad conditions in many cities.

Two Washington attorneys, representing the Federal Dispensary and Tax Reduction League, Wilton Lambert and Rice Hooe, said conditions of law enforcement could not be corrected as long as the dry laws existed. They urged approval of the Sabbath resolution to modify the amendment to permit Federal supervision of the sale of liquor in packages in States desiring liquor.

Bootlegger to Each 156 Persons Found in Town

Thermopolis, Wyo., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A series of raids that resulted in the round-up of every alleged bootlegger in Thermopolis today disclosed that this town of 2,500 inhabitants has one for every 156 persons.

Federal prohibition agents, in making sixteen arrests last night, said they had "cleaned up" Thermopolis of every one of its liquor sellers. All of those arrested were still in jail today, but the majority were making efforts to secure their release on bond.

19 Teachers Demand Exile Of Parent Disturbing School

Instructors Vow They Will Quit Jobs Unless Former Asylum Inmate, Who Threatened Superintendent, Is Made to Leave Arkansas Community.

West Helena, Ark., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Nineteen teachers and the superintendent of the West Helena school tonight stood by their demand that a school patron leave the community and his two daughters be barred from school, offering their resignations as an alternative.

The school board, after long discussion, has found no solution to the muddled state of affairs precipitated by a quarrel between three girl students, but issued a statement in the afternoon promising that the school would be operating on an normal basis again in a few days.

Meanwhile the two principals in the controversy—Supt. George Cromwell and Lawrence Brown, father of two of the girls involved in the quarrel—left the scene of action. Cromwell went to Little Rock and Brown to Fort Smith. The purposes of their trips was not made known. Several of the teachers were prevailed upon to return to school today on a temporary basis but few classes were conducted. The teachers remained on duty largely, they said, to preserve order among students.

The school board's statement denied that any of the proffered resignations had been accepted, as had been reported, and said Cromwell had refused to accept an apology from Brown for the latter's threats against him for disciplining Brown's two daughters.

It was Cromwell's refusal to act against a third girl who quarreled with the Brown girls, after he had sent them home, that led to the controversy.

The statement by the board also disclosed that it had requested Sheriff J. C. Barlow to refrain from serving a threatened peace disturbance warrant on Brown for his actions which resulted in a guard of sheriff's deputies being placed around the school building yesterday.

The faculty members told the board that if Cromwell's resignation were accepted theirs should be also.

Brown is a former inmate of the State hospital for nervous diseases, having been sentenced there in 1927 at his trial for murder, but has been discharged from that institution following an extended parole.

COOLIDGE CHANGED SHOALS PLAN, CLAIM

Farm Bureau Aid, at Lobby Quiz, Says He Requested Text Alteration.

TELEGRAMS ARE SHOWN

Chester H. Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, testified before the Senate lobby committee yesterday that, upon his solicitation, former President Coolidge changed the Muscle Shoals paragraph in his 1927 message to Congress.

The farm federation's Washington representative added that he did not know how much influence his suggestion had upon the President, but a letter he wrote said some of the Muscle Shoals paragraph was a result of a long-distance conversation with Everett Sanders, secretary to the President.

The federaion has been opposing Government operation of the power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals and has advocated the proposal of the American Cyanamid Co. to lease the project.

Change in Coolidge Message.

Mr. Gray also testified that he had suggested changes in the 1928 message of Mr. Coolidge to Congress, but denied that he had conferred with President Hoover regarding his congressional message. President Hoover's recent communication was characterized by him as the "best message on Muscle Shoals ever written by a President."

"Then he beat you and Mr. Coolidge both," observed Chairman Caraway, of the committee.

Questioning of Mr. Gray was completed yesterday and the committee announced that today's witnesses would be W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid Co., and O. M. Kile, head of the National Agricultural Publishing Co.

Text of Telegrams.

A number of telegrams concerning Mr. Gray's efforts to get the Coolidge message changed were placed in the record. One of them, which was sent to Mr. Coolidge by Mr. Gray and Mr. E. A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, said:

"Just saw advance copy of your message and are at complete loss to understand paragraph on Muscle Shoals in view of your statements to us last Tuesday. Language as we read it contains commitment against use of nitrate plant, No. 2, which use is a basic principle with us and essential part of Madden bill. Hope not too late to revise this paragraph so you can be free to aid Congressman Madden in passing his bill."

The Madden bill, sponsored by the late Representative Madden, of Illinois, proposed that the bid of the American Cyanamid Co. be accepted. This proposal now is embodied in the Wright bill.

Commodore Reed And Wife Are Dead

Retired Coast Guard Officer and Mate Are Stricken While Touring in West.

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Commodore Byron L. Reed, U. S. Coast Guard, retired, and his wife, Mrs. Maud W. Reed, at Phoenix, Ariz. Commodore Reed was formerly in charge of the construction and repair bureau at Coast Guard Headquarters here.

The two were traveling through the West and were simultaneously stricken with influenza. Mrs. Reed died Sunday and her husband succumbed a day later. Both were well known in Coast Guard and naval circles in Washington.

Commodore Reed rose through the ranks. In the Spanish American War and the World War he served with the Coast Guard.

At the time of the enlargement of the Coast Guard in 1924, he was in charge of construction. He was retired in 1925 with the rank of Commodore.

The remains of both were brought to Hillsdale, Mich., where funeral services will be held Saturday. A daughter, Gwendolyn, who is now in Paris, survives them.

TARDIEU WILL FORM NEW FRENCH CABINET

to assume the burdens of the premiership. He, therefore, urged that M. Tardieu should be called upon once more, promised to collaborate with him and on this basis was made the special messenger of the chief executive to notify the premier-elect of his designation.

It was acknowledged that a cabinet under Poincare would have been received with less resentment on the part of the left groups because "the savior of the franc" had nothing to do with the defeat of the Chautemps list. On the contrary, Tardieu was held responsible for yesterday's outcome and he can expect little or no help from the left groups despite the presence of Briand in his cabinet.

But the "man in the street" was pleased with the selection of Tardieu. The latter has captured the imagination of the populace which has credited him with having raised the prestige of France both at the reparations conference at The Hague and the five-power naval conference in London. The popular idea now is that Tardieu has shown other countries that France is a nation of the first rank, strongly united and international in its importance and dignity.

M. Tardieu expects to submit his new ministry to President Doumergue before noon tomorrow. Aside from M. Briand there was no indication of its personnel; but there were plenty of predictions that it would not include Henri Cheron, who, as minister of finance, unsuccessfully tried to fight the previous Tardieu administration's budget through the Chamber of Deputies while his chief was ill in bed with a cold contracted in London.

There were many expressions of hope that Poincare might accept a portfolio. These persisted in the face of his own statement that he could not undertake such work any more than the premiership for at least several months. In fact, the former government leader returned to his modest home just outside the Bois de Boulogne immediately after his conference with President Doumergue, and it was there M. Tardieu sought his help and advice in selecting the new ministry.

COMMITTEE PASSES VETERANS' MEASURE

Johnson Bill Would Increase by $100,000,000 Compensation for Crippled Vets.

$40,000 ITEM FOR FLAGS

(Associated Press.)

The 1924 World War veterans act would be radically amended and $100,000,000 more would be devoted every year to veterans' compensation under the Johnson bill approved yesterday by the House veterans committee.

The measure combines recommendations of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Veterans Bureau. It would deny the Comptroller General power to reverse a decision of the director of the Veterans' Bureau and would provide that proper consideration be given "to lay evidence and other evidence not of a medical nature" in adjudicating veterans' cases.

A section considered of prime importance provides that every man's disability which existed to a 1 per cent degree prior to January 1, 1925, should be presumed to be acquired in service. This would affect approximately 84,000 cases, at a cost of $76,000,000 to the Government.

For persons suffering the loss of a foot or hand, the bill would provide $25 a month additional compensation, a clause which would cause a $1,500,000 expenditure the first year of its operation. Veterans' insurance policies would be made incontestable.

Other provisions would safeguard the interests of mentally incompetent veterans; assure recreation for hospitalized veterans; liberalize insurance and compensation rules; repeal time limits for filing evidence and claims, and insure proper burial of veterans of all wars.

A flag to drape the casket of every veteran of all wars would be specifically provided for, an item which would cost the Government approximately $40,000 the first year for flags to be presented to the next of kin.

Retirement Bill Out of Committee

Lehlbach Measure May Go to Conference at Once.

The House civil service committee formally reported the new Lehlbach retirement bill following an executive meeting yesterday.

The bill goes before the House in the same form in which it was approved Tuesday. Chairman Lehlbach has announced that he will ask the rules committee to give it the legislative right of right at an early date.

As the bill bears the number of the Dale bill, which already has passed the Senate, it will not have to be approved by the Senate, but may go direct to conference.

BRANCH BANKS GET MELLON'S APPROVAL

Treasury Head Sends Letter to House Committee as Inquiry Goes On.

POLE IS PUT ON STAND

(Associated Press.)

Support of Secretary Mellon for branching banking in preference to chain or group banking was added yesterday to that of J. W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, as the House banking commitee continued its investigation of these phases of the Nation's financial system.

In a letter to the committee, the Treasury head based his preference for branch banking on the greater concentration of responsibility under that system; but warned, "even branch banking should be limited to definite economic areas."

"As to what these economic areas should be, I am not prepared to state at this time without further study or thought," Secretary Mellon wrote. He requested that he be allowed to defer his appearance before the committee, "until I have had an opportunity to study the facts which I hope your committee will develop."

Yesterday's committee session was taken up with questioning of Comptroller Pole on his position in favor of "decentralized branch banking," which he advanced as a solution for the situation caused by the failure of many country banks and the concentration of banking capital in New York.

MANY QUAKES FELT IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

Visitors Panicky as Record Number of Shocks Rock Wide Territory.

GROUND SPOUTS STEAM

Brawley, Calif., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Nearly 40 earthquake shocks, the greatest number recorded here at one time in more than a decade, rocked Imperial Valley between 3:30 p. m. Tuesday and 9:15 a. m. today. Buildings in Brawley, Westmoreland and Calipatria were damaged. The largest loss occurred at Westmoreland. No casualties were reported.

Visitors to the valley became panic stricken. Many refused to sleep in their hotel rooms and remained up all night, pacing the lobbies and patios.

There were four major shocks, the first at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, followed by three others at 7:23 p. m., 8:04 p. m. and 11:39 p. m. Not since 1915, valley residents recalled, has there been such a recurrence of earthquakes in the period of a few hours.

H. H. Griffin, of Brawley, said while riding eleven miles northwest of the city today he saw spouts of hot and cold water shooting from the ground. The hot water was indicated by steam. Other residents told of sections of highways being flooded by water pouring out of earth cracks.

It was assumed that the shocks had split the earth deeply, breaking underground reservoirs of water. On some highways it was necessary to detour.

The principal shocks occurred at Westmoreland. Part of a pharmacy was wrecked with a loss estimated at $800. Other buildings there and in Brawley and Calipatria were cracked, plaster being broken, dishes smashed and some windows shattered. Near Westmoreland several adobe huts of Mexicans were shaken down. The occupants escaped uninjured.

Seismologists said the earthquakes were felt only in the valley. Railroad and communication lines were not damaged.

Pantages, in Jail, Plans New Chain of Theaters

Los Angeles, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Coincident with the reported improvement today in the condition of Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman who is in jail here pending his appeal from a penitentiary sentence for attacking 17-year-old Eunice Pringle, it was learned that he is considering plans for a new chain of theaters.

The 54-year-old prisoner recently sold his theaters for $15,000,000. It was about that same time that he is alleged to have criminally attacked the young dancer. He was sentenced to one to fifty years in prison. Pending his appeal he has sought release from jail on the ground that he was too ill to be kept in confinement.

Tons of Steel Smash Plant in Bomb Blast

Detroit, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Officials of the Federal Steel Corporation reported to police this noon that bomb explosions had sent thousands of tons of sheet steel crashing through a wall of their plant at 8 a. m. today. One workman was slightly injured while 20 others were forced to flee from the avalanche of steel.

Officials of the company said there had been labor difficulties at the plant recently. The damage was estimated at $25,000. Previously the shifting of the steel had been blamed on a traveling crane which was thought to have struck one of the piles of metal.

RACE TRACK STABLE BURNS

Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

Ruins of the 50-stall stable at the Marlboro race track owned by the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, which was burned yesterday afternoon. No horses were quartered in the stable and cause of the blaze is undetermined. The loss is estimated at $4,000.

MARYLAND FLAMES RAZE RACING STABLE

All 50 Stalls Unoccupied in $4,000 Blaze at Upper Marlboro.

REBUILDING TO START

Fire of an undetermined origin, which leveled a 50-stall stable and for a time threatened adjacent structures and stables, if not the entire racing plant of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, at Upper Marlboro, Md., yesterday afternoon, caused a loss of approximately $4,000.

Firemen from the Upper Marlboro department found that to reach the blaze from the only available water supply, a creek, an eighth of a mile away, required additional hose to that they carried.

A call was sent to the Seat Pleasant and Capitol Hill departments and the three companies, by "lining in" a stream, finally played upon the blaze and were able to keep the fire from spreading.

Secretary William G. Brookes of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, which owns both the Bowie and Upper Marlboro racing plants, stated that no horses were in the barn at the time of the fire. He also stated the work of rebuilding the structure would be started immediately.

Another Alabaman To Run for Senate

Four-Cornered Race Seen as Latest Candidacy Is Announced.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—John W. O'Neil, Birmingham, announced today he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate in the August 12 primary. He will oppose at least two others for the seat held by J. Thomas Heflin.

Mr. O'Neil said he had asked Secretary of State John Brandon for qualification papers, and expected to file his candidacy formally before the time limit expires Saturday midnight.

"With the present unsettled conditions in the Democratic party in Alabama," Mr. O'Neil said, "I feel that we are in need of a candidate who will uphold democracy as exemplified by the late Senator Underwood."

Others in the race are John H. Bankhead, Jasper attorney, and Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher. Senator Heflin was barred from participation in the primary as a candidate because of his anti-Smith activities in 1928.

CHILE-TO-NEW YORK PLANE LANDS IN U.S.

Airship, on Return Carries, Presidential Greetings for Hoover.

HEAVY WEATHER FOUND

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The Cuba, huge airplane of the New York, Rio & Buenos Aires Airline, arrived here at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon, completing the inaugural flight between Santiago, Chile, and Miami. Seven and one-half days were required, which is less than the time called for in the schedule. The plane brought more than 1,000 pounds of mail from South American countries for the United States and European nations. Included in the mail was an official letter from President Washington Luis, of Brazil, to President Hoover, congratulating Mr. Hoover upon the opening of the air line between Brazil and the United States.

Starting from Santiago on Tuesday, February 18, mail and express were carried over the Andes on a schedule which has been operated since last September. The cargo was transferred in Buenos Aires to marine equipment and started up the east coast of South America.

Heavy weather was encountered along the southern coast of Brazil, officials reported. This was followed by the breaking of an oil line at Florianapolis, Brazil. The cargo was transferred to the plane Tampa, which reached Santos late in the day. The landing at Santos was made in a heavy sea, the Tampa damaging a wing tip and remaining there overnight.

The mail was again transferred to the Porto Alegre, which relayed the cargo farther along the line.

The mail left Port Au Prince, Haiti, at 5 o'clock this morning and stops were made at Santiago and Clenfugos, Cuba, on the way to Miami.

Ralph O'Neill, president of the Myrba Lines; H. E. Sewell, pilot, and Earle C. Steele and K. C. Hawkins, copilots, were aboard the Cuba. Mr. O'Neill, however, was the only member of the party to make the trip all the way from Buenos Aires. Time from Buenos Aires to Miami was 6½ days as compared to 18 days by the fastest steamers, Myrba officials pointed out, while the air time from Rio De Janeiro was 5 days as compared with 14 days by steamer.

Mail for the north was put aboard a train here tonight and that for European points will be sent across the Atlantic by steamer. The time for mail delivery between Rio and London will be 13 days by the air route into Miami, officials said.

Democrat Challenged As Hoover Supporter

Selma, Ala., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The first protest against a candidate entering the August Democratic primary because he supported Republican Presidential electors in 1928 was directed today at L. H. Ellis, of Columbiana, a State administration stalwart and Senate floor leader at the last session of the Legislature. Ellis, now seeking a seat in the lower house of the Legislature from Shelby County, was challenged today by John A. Wade, of Vincent, on the ground that Ellis voted for Hoover in 1928.

The State executive committee has ruled that Hoover supporters can not become candidates in the Democratic primary.

RED RIOTS STAGED IN FOUR U. S. CITIES

11 Arested in Seattle When Police Check March on City Hall.

BATTLE IN LOS ANGELES

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Eight men and three women were arrested here today in a battle between police and radicals who attempted to march on the City Hall in a Communist demonstration.

Fifty policemen were sent from central headquarters when the battle started within about two blocks of the station.

The trouble began with the arrest of Rene Costello, 21, a student, who was attempting to deliver a speech to about 500 demonstrators, because he had no permit to hol da street meeting.

Banners Are Confiscated.

Banners, reading "down with capitalism" and "work or wages," and hand-bills signed by "the Communist party of the United States of America, district, No. 12" were confiscated by the police. The bills urged the "unemployed" to join the group in the "world-wide demonstration" against capital.

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Several thousand men and women, alleged Communists, gathered at the Plaza at 6 p. m. tonight, began a march on the City Hall that 200 policemen found impossible to resist, even though armed with tear and smoke bombs.

Twenty-seven alleged ringleaders of the marching throng, which sang and shouted as it progressed, were arrested, after blackjacks, fists and handcuffs had been called into play by the police.

Vancouver Parade Postponed.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Police here said a parade in which unemployed persons were to have marched on the city h all today was postponed "on receipt of cabled instructions from Moscow." One hundred officers stood guard as 500 men gathered in downtown park place in an orderly Communist meeting.

Boston, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Two young women were arrested early tonight in the downtown garment manufacturing district, after a brief scuffle with police, bringing to nine the total arrests today in the strike called by the Communist faction of the garment workers.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Several persons were slightly injured and two were arrested today when police broke up a Communist parade in Wall street. A near riot occurred when the police bore down on the demonstration, said to have been prompted by the release of a man from Governors Island after he had served part of a sentence for deserting from the Army.

Air Riders to Get Radio Innovation

$200,000 Plans Are Announced for Western Express by Hoover, Jr.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Heralding another step toward safety and efficiency of air travel, Herbert Hoover, jr., chief of radio communications of Western Air Express, today announced the purchase by his company of airplane radio equipment totaling nearly $200,000 for installation in the company's planes and land stations. Installation of the equipment in planes and ground stations of the company, which will permit two-way radio phone communication, will be started immediately.

"The equipment has been specifically designed for airplane use and therefore weight and space have been kept at an absolute minimum commensurate with reliability of performance," Mr. Hoover said. "The total weight of the sending and receiving apparatus aboard planes is 163 pounds."

The sending and receiving apparatus is all mounted in a small cabinet about 16 inches square. The pilot or broadcaster has his equipment mounted in a helmet, seemingly not much heavier than the usual leather helmet aviators wear.

135 UNEMPLOYED JAILED IN CHICAGO

Police Allow Meeting, but Arrest Participants Immediately After.

STOP CITY HALL MARCH

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A mass meeting of unemployed held in a West Madison street building today was attended by police who sequestered 135 men and women in the hall, permitted the leaders to deliver addresses and distribute communistic literature and then arrested the entire group as the meeting broke up.

The plan of the unemployed to attempt again to march to the City Hall was frustrated by the authorities.

A similar demonstration at the City Hall last week was broken up by mounted police, who rode through the ranks on the sidewalks and dispersed the marchers. Several leaders were arrested.

A majority of those taken were aliens who were turned over to the immigration authorities for investigation. Others were taken to the Bureau of Identification and those not wanted for any other offenses were held for vagrancy.

Several details of police were assigned to the meeting to prevent any violent outbreaks and to forestall a repetition of the march on the City Hall. This precaution turned hundreds from the meeting.

Police were forced to resort to the use of "billy clubs" to restore order several times during the session as several of the leaders resented the police supervision. Capt. John Stege, chief of detectives, floored one man with a smash on the jaw and hurled him into the street, after the man had shouted, "Kill the cops." Another of the leaders was a young woman who shouted, "Stand up and fight for freedom," but the trouble was short lived.

Sick U. S. Admiral Leaves for Home

Jones, Naval Parley Aid, Ordered to Return, Boards Liner.

Southampton, England, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones was in a very weak condition when he arrived here today to board the Berengaria, which sailed for the United States at noon.

The admiral, who was ordered home from the London Naval Conference because of stomach illness, had a good trip from London, arrangements having been made so that he could lie down on the train.

At the dock the sturdy old sea dog insisted that he wished to walk aboard but he was too ill to permit that and he was carried in a special chair.

Dr. M. E. Higgins, American Navy physician tufned Admiral Jones over to the care of Dr. J. D. Dogherty, of the Berengaria. Officers of the ship have made special arrangements to keep the admiral comfortable.

FARMER AND WOMAN ACCUSED OF MURDER

LOVE NOTE CLEW FOUND

Anamosa, Iowa, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Albert Hartwig, 60, wealthy farmer, and Mrs. Hilda Miner, 37, today were charged with first-degree murder in connection with the death yesterday from poisoning of the woman's husband, Edward Miner, 63, a laborer, of Olin.

Mrs. Miner, who, physicians say, attempted suicide early today, lies seriously ill in a hospital here, where she was brought this afternoon following a heart attack at her home in Olin. Physicians said they believed the heart attack was attributable to the effects of poison and to mental strain. She may not recover.

Hartwig, now held in the county jail here, has confessed, the authorities said, that he supplied Mrs. Minor with the poison which is alleged to have killed her husband.

Mrs. Miner denied the charges. She asserted that her husband committed suicide. County Attorney Clifford Paul quoted her as say she was out in the yard splitting wood and came into the house to find her husband in convulsions.

The county attorney, however, said he believed Mrs. Miner gave her husband some capsules filled with poison under the pretext that they were the same as pills he had taken previously under his physician's orders.

A box of the capsules was missing after the husband's death, Mrs. Miner said. Paul declared the box was found in the cupboard today. The capsules, along with Miner's stomach, were sent to the University of Iowa Hospital, at Iowa City, for analysis.

A letter written by Mrs. Miner to Hartwig was turned over to the county attorney by the farmer. It contained several "affectionate phrases," Mr. Paul said, and urged Hartwig to "get that stuff" because her husband had been "mean" and she could like with him no longer.

Mrs. Miner was the second wife of the dead man. Miner had four children by his first marriage.

Investigation of Miner's death was urged by Cecil Miner, 23, who said he had become suspicious of Hartwig's frequent visits to his father's home.

17 Die When Sloop Swamps in Big Sea

Three in Crew of 20 Reach Bahaman Island After Vessel Sinks.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Seventeen lives were reported lost when the sloop Pretoria was swamped in heavy seas off Abaco Island, Bahamas, on February 17, according to passengers arriving here today from Nassau.

Three persons of the crew of 20 succeeded in reaching the island after the vessel sank, passengers reported. The craft was trying to make Standard Creek on Abaco Island to take refuge from high winds at the time it was swamped.

The boat was owned by H. P. Treco, but no other details were available.

Leslie Albury, chief engineer of the Isle of June, which returned from Nassau today, said he believed all of those who went down with the Pretoria were Negroes. He said the Pretoria was a sponge boat, 35 feet long.

Man Fails in Second Attempt to End Life

After attempting to end his life for the second time within six days, Edward A. Ingliss, 33 years old, of Malden, Mass., was lodged in Gallinger Hospital yesterday for mental observation following treatment at Emergency Hospital for self-inflicted wounds of the wrists.

Ingliss, according to police and hospital authorities, came to this city recently in search of employment. Last Friday night Ingliss attempted to end his life by swallowing poison. He was removed from a clothing store on F street northwest, near Fourteenth street, yesterday after he had slashed both wrists with a razor blade, police reported. It was reported at Emergency Hospital that his wounds were not serious.

FEDERAL-AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK

being thrown away by the labor cabinet. This powerful attack is expected, according to parliaamentary views tonight among members of all parties, to stiffen MacDonald's attitude toward the United States as well as France.

The United States delegation in a formal meeting this morning, before Stimson went to the meeting of the heads of all the delegations, went into the question of a three-power pact. It is reported that some of those present discussed abandonment of what seems a vain attempt to get a five-power treaty and concentration on an understanding with Great Britain and Japan, but the diplomatic impossibility of such an attitude toward France was made clear and agreed upon.

It was learned later, however, from an authoritative source within the delegation that informal discussions about a three-power treaty are under way. As emphasized by a British spokesman later, these will technically be invalid unless ratified by France and Italy, but if France does not modify her program, the decisions taken would presumably stand between the powers directly concerned.

United States' Present Aim.

The United States delegation is now seeking an agreement along the line of Article XXI of the Washington treaty. That is, it is desired to make an agreement covering the building of the three chief powers for the next six years, with a clause added to the treaty, possibly more specific, that the one in the Washington treaty providing that if building by a non-treaty power during the life of the treaty affects the national security of any signatory, the other powers will meet at the instance of the alarmed power and consider alterations.

An American authority declared that the snag here is the unwillingness of the British at present to agree to this. The British attitude appears to be that the French program, if unmodified, requires certain British counter-measures which are already decided, and that therefore no excuse would exist for calling another conference to agree to Great Britain laying down more cruisers and destroyers when their necessity is already evident.

If this snag is surmounted, the United States is willing to talk battleship reduction only after the cruiser dispute with Japan is settled. There are American delegates in conjunction with Mr. MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, who would like reduction of battleship fleets to twelve each for Great Britain and the United States and seven or eight for Japan.

15 Battleships Insisted Upon.

But the New York World News Service's American informant added that the United States naval authorities do not agree to this and think the battleship fleet ought not to sink below fifteen, and tonight in high British quarters it was learned that the British admiralty is also firm on fifteen battleships, so apparently the the British and American sea dogs have formed an entente on this issue against the politicians.

An American authority today confirmed the fact that the new American superbattleship will be dropped and added that the proposal was part of a scheme discussed between Mr MacDonald and Mr. Hoover in Washington under which more older battleships would be scrapped and the United States build three and Great Britain two new battleships. All this, he declared, is now dead.

Financial Burden Threat.

A hint was conveyed that if Japan remains obdurate for 70 per cent of big cruisers the United States may retaliate by a threat to carry out battleship replacements under the Washington treaty. Since this involves commencement of thirteen battleships by the three powers within the next six years it would put a heavy financial strain on all three, but Japan, even with less ships to build, is thought to be less able to bear it.

George Rublee, the American representative on the jurists committee dealing with submarines, caused a surprise in that body, it was learned today from a non-American source, by proposing that the conference adopt the Root convention of 1922 under which all powers agree that submarines can not be used against merchant ships. The French Parliament has already once refused to ratify this convention. The French thought this issue had been disposed of and when Rublee made his suggestion, Rene Massigli, of the French foreign office, at once demurred. It is probable that a compromise agreement on "humanizing" submarines will now be worked out.

Churchill's trenchant speech represents the first attack on MacDonald's conference policy from the Tory side, and as it is said in parliamentary lobbies that Lloyd George for the Liberals is also prepared to attack the prime minister, the importance of this outburst in its effect on British policy may be very great.

Churchill's Emphatic Speech.

The salient points in the former first lord of the admiralty's indictment of the British delegation follow:

"It is a very strange fact," Churchill said, "that these other powers without exception are preparing to increase the relative strength of their navies. So far as the United States is concerned the rise and expansion of American naval armaments has been the main event apart from the war which has taken place on salt water since 1918.

"Great Britain, on the other hand, who formerly had undoubted supremacy on the sea, has been steadily reducing her fleet from the prewar period in ships, gun power and men.

"Great Britain is the only power of those gathered at the conference table to whom naval defense spells national and imperial existence. It is the only power to whom naval defense spells daily bread. We have to ask ourselves whether we are wise in being so ever ready and even eager to cast aside that shield beneath which we have grown from an obscure island into a huge empire and by means of which only fifteen years ago we saved our souls alive.

"I will only deal with two simple points—first, is the number of cruisers we require to prevent our empire being driven asunder or ourselves driven to surrender or death. Up to the time that the present Socialist government took office we had never agreed with the United States that numerical equality in cruisers or in small craft represented what is called naval parity. The sea lords are experts whose duty it is to render true and faithful opinion of the political points of the day. During the time of the late government the admiralty informed us that 70 cruisers was indispensable and the absolute minimum of safety, but now we are told that the naval experts consider that 50 cruisers are sufficient.

"We want to know what has happened to make this extraordinary change of scientific judgment possible. When we asked the prime minister in the House of Commons, he said it was the Kellogg pact which had wiped away the danger of war. But what has the Kellogg pact to do with the strategic precautions of the admiralty?

"What has been the effect of the Kellogg pact on the other naval powers? All of the other powers now gathered in London are signatories to that pact. They have all renounced the idea of war as a part of state policy. This, however, leads them not to reduce, but to seek to increase their navies. The United States, whence this famous declaration originated, is 1-1 to increase its Navy more than any other power. While the British admiralty reduce their cruiser requirements from 70 to 50 on the strength of the Kellogg pact, the Japanese admiralty raise their requirements from 60 to 70 per cent of the leading naval powers. Obviously, the Kellogg pact has made a different impression on the Japanese and American admiralties and the French and Italian admiralties from what it has made on ours.

Asserts Parity Not Equality.

"Now I come to my second simple point: A treaty between Great Britain and the United States on naval parity, calculated arithmetically, is not equality. It leaves out the immeasurable difference between situation of a vast self-contained continental power and a crowded island which lives by traffic on the sea. It excludes all question of relative vulnerability. It is easy for the eagle to engage himself not to swim in the sea any more than the whale, but there is not a fair and equal contrast between the two.

"Every one here knows that arithmetical naval parity between Great Britain and the United States means definite naval inferiority for Great Britain.

"We ought to build, after hearing unbiased naval advice, whatever Parliament considers is necessary for our safety. We ought not to hand over decisions on this vital matter to foreign nationals even of the most friendly sentiments. British naval requirements ought to be fixed by ourselves and ourselves alone because our own lives depend upon them. I must draw to your attention and that of the four other great powers represented in London.

(Copyright, 1930.)

PARLEY HOPE HELD BY ADMINISTRATION

Hoover and Cotton Fail to Share Pessimism Over London Conference.

POSSIBILITIES ARE CITED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Hoover and Acting Secretary of State Cotton are not sharing the pessimistic view of the London naval conference which is reflected in the sables from abroad. A renewed note of optimism was given to the newspaper men by Mr. Cotton yesterday coincident with reports that the French political skies were clearing. "Don't worry about the conference," Secretary Cotton said, adding that the delay caused by the fall of the Tardieu government was not a serious obstacle to ultimate agreement.

Officials and senators here regard the return of M. Tardieu to London as a certainty. They do not look for any change in the French naval expansion program and they realize that the British tonnage figures will have to be increased to meet the Tardieu program. Thus, there is no longer any real hope for a reduction in cruisers or for any such reduction as President Hoover had hoped for. But there still remains, according to the consensus here, a possibility of three distinct accomplishments, as follows:

First: A battleship reduction program featured by postponement of new battleship replacement construction form 1936 to 1941.

Second: An agreement to humanize submarine warfare, featured by the same forms of agreement as were adopted by the Washington conference of 1921-22.

Third—An agreement to call a later naval limitation conference at an indefinite date, not later than 1936, provided the preparatory commission of the League of Nations does not in the meantime succeed in bringing the powers together.

Of these three possibilities, the plan to humanize submarine warfare is regarded as the most likely to materialize in the near future. Secretary Stimson, according to advices from London, has taken up this question with a view to expediting the completion of a preliminary draft which may be given to the public as the first sign of a definite accomplishment. Agreement to this plan must be obtained from M. Tardieu, it is explained,, but he has already indicated that he had no objection to a formula stating that the powers hope for more humane methods in this or any other form of warfare, if such a thing is possible.

Senators do not take the submarine program seriously thus far, but they are disinclined to comment until they see the new formula. The interest which Senator Reed has taken in humanizing submarines has been noted by his confreres here in view of the fact that the senator from Pennsylvania, as head of the military affairs committee of the Senate, has been one of the stanchest supporters of the use of poison gases in warfare and has in this connection opposed any and all suggestions to humanize the engines of destruction in war on the ground that no nation would abide by any humanizing agreement when fighting for its existence.

BONNER DISMISSAL URGED BY NORRIS

U. S. Power Board Aid Tried to Cripple Commission, Senator Charges.

UTILITIES QUIZ GOES ON

(Associated Press.)

Demand for the immediate dismissal of F. E. Bonner as executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission was made yesterday in the Senate, while its interstate commerce committee inquired further into activities of this Government organization.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, called for Mr. Bonner's ousting on the ground that he has been shown to "a power man" and was "trying to cripple the commission" in examining into valuations of the power interests.

After the committee had examined O. C. Merrill, former executive secretary of the commission and now president of the American committee of the World Power Conference, Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, said he would call to the attention of the Senate today his testimony that four Cabinet officers are honorary officers of this organization.

Wheeler to Push Question.

Mr. Wheeler described Mr. Merrill's testimony as "the most startling given to a Senate committee since the Fall-Doheny-Daugherty investigation." He said he would lay it before the Senate immediately.

Meanwhile, the Federal Trade Commission was at work again yesterday on its inquiry into the financing of utility companies. Senator Norris also called the Senate's attention to disclosures which have been made in this phase of the protracted investigation ordered by the Senate.

The interstate commerce committee rested its affairs of the power commission, pending the appearance next week of Secretary Wilbur, ex-officio chairman of the commission.

Nye Urges Action at Once.

Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, suggested in the Senate debate that a resolution be offered expressing the sense of the Senate that Mr. Bonner be dismissed at once. Senator Norris passed up this proposal, and said later, off the floor, that such a resolution "will not be necessary—for the President and the executive branch of the Government can not let affairs go on as they are now, after they know what has been developed in the committee investigation."

Senator Dill (Democrat), Washington, announced he would oppose additional appropriations for the commission.

Senator Jones, of Washington, chairman of the appropriations committee, said he recently had inquired whether the commisison neded any more money and had been told it did not.

"The reason the commission does not ask for more money," Mr. Dill interrupted, "is that Bonner says it doesn't need it."

Accusation by Norris.

Senator Norris added that "Bonner, in the name of economy, is trying to cripple the commisoiln so that it can't inquire into these steals."

He complained that "one of the commonest methods of muleting the public by these great utility companies is to organize subsidiary companies which they own and then hire the subsidiaries to go out and do work for them."

Senator Wheeler said he would call attention to all the points brought out since the committee began its investigation, more than a week ago, with witnesses testifying to a long-standing internal dispute over accounts of power companies.

Jackson Describes Death-Row Events

Says Former Editor of Menace Precipitated Split in Order.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The defense rested late today in the trial of Harvey Jackson for the murder of W. P. (Billy) Parker, former editor of the Menace. The State will offer rebuttal witnesses tomorrow, after which arguments will start.

Jackson told on the stand his own story of the blue shirt organization, for which Parker was editor of the official organ, as well as a faction leader.

Jackson told the jury he founded the order in 1927 for the purpose of "bettering conditions for working folks in the city and getting jobs for white citizens." At that time, he said, there were many white families which needed support and "a lot of jobs were going to Negroes." The organization soon decided to print a paper and brought Parker here to become editor, he said.

Difficulties with Parker, he said, led to disputes and finally to a split in the organization. Preceding Jackson to the stand was Charles B. Herlong, a city councilman, who testified he heard Parker threaten to kill Jackson.

Jackson shot and killed Parker in the blue shirt office. He claims he shot the editor in self-defense.

SENATE.

Met at 11 and recessed at 5:05 to 11 today.

Voted to continue the present tariff duty of $24 a dozen on fur felt hats, and Senate leaders announced that, beginning tonight, there would be continuous night sessions until the tariff bill is disposed of.

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, demanded the dismissal of F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission., on the ground that he is a "power man."

Adopted a resolution calling upon Secretary of Agriculture Hyde to make recommendations to the Senate relative to controlling the price of cotton and wheat.

Senator Dill, Democrat, announced that he would introduce a resolution to prevent the merger of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railroads.

Adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a congressional committee to attend the celebration of the anniversary of the battle of Kings Mountain in North Carolina October 7.

Passed and sent to the President a bill authorizing a toll bridge across the Choptank River, near Cambridge, Md.

A resolution was introduced for Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, to authorize appointment of a commission to study methods of enabling the President to mobilize all the resources of the United States in the event of war.

Lobby committee quetsioned Chester H. Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:40 to noon today.

W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and other leaders appeared before the judiciary committee and urged repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Chairman Johnson of the immigration committee introduced a new bill to regulate immigration from the Western Hemisphere.

Rules committee voted to act today and Friday on four bills to amend the merchant marine act.

Naval affairs committee favorably reported the Cochran bill to preserve the cruiser Olympia and anchor it here as a memorial to those who fought in the Spanish-American War.

Veterans committee approved a bill increasing by $100,000,000 a year the Government's expenditure for World War veterans.

Olympia Memorial Measure Reported

House Bill Would Preserve Dewey's Flagship in Washington.

The Cochran bill to bring the cruiser Olympia to Washington and convert it into a permanent memorial, was favorably reported yesterday by the House naval affairs committee.

In reporting the measure, the committee amended it to authorize an appropriation of $25,000 toward the expense of locating the vessel here. Representative Coyle (Republican), of Pennsylvania, declared that this sum should come out of the Federal Treasury and should not be asked of the local taxpayers.

The Olympia, which was Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manila Bay, has been consigned to the scrap heap. Representative Cochran (Democrat), of Missouri, author of the bill to save it, has suggested that the ship be anchored off Hains Point. The bill, however, leaves the selection of a site up to the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Auto Stolen From Window.

Although unsuccessful in an attempt to smash open a safe in the office of the R. L. Owens Motor Co., Georgia avenue northwest near Sheridan street, early yesterday, thieves succeeded in making off with a new automobile, which was on exhibition in the display window. Entrance was gained by forcing open a rear window.

the administration of justice generally."

Raymond Pitcairn, also of Philadelphia and identified with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., described the eighteenth amendment as a "rotten failure"—saying "the President and Cabinet know it, Mr. Hughes knows it, Congress knows it, and unhappily the young people know it best of all; but the prohibitionists do not know it."

Yesterday was the fifth day of hearings within the past three weeks, all of which time has been taken up so far by advocates of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. After the committee had heard opponents of prohibition, who are expected to complete their say today, the drys will be given equal chance to argue on behalf of prohibition.

Author Assails Law.

Pierre S. duPont, of Wilmington, Del., is scheduled to appear today against the dry laws.

Jeremiar J. Wadsworth testified yesterday on behalf of his father, former Senator James W. Wadsworth, jr., of New York. The tall youth, whose father is out of the country, said "the attempt to enforce total abstinence in the United States has set up a serious friction between the Government and the people."

"Until recently," he continued, "that portion of the public that is resisting has been good natured about it, while the Government has been fighting it hard and, at times, savagely. There are signs that the public is becoming less good natured and more resentful of the extreme measures of the Government."

In addition to Mr. Butler's, the committee also received a statement demanding repeal of the dry amendment from Wallace Irwin, an author. He assailed it as tryanny and declared that if the people could not revolt against it, their freedom would be lost.

Police Mora'e Lowered.

Another emphatic witness was Dr. Francis J. Gerty, in charge of the Cook County (Ill.) Psychopathic Hospital. He testified there had been large increases recently in the number of alcoholic patients of both sexes and that mortality in such cases had grown.

Morgan Collins, former superintendent of police in Chicago, declared that after prohibition the morale of the policeman lowered and that liquor law violators in his city escaped conviction because courts and juries were not inclined to enforce the act. He said he had found equally bad conditions in many cities.

Two Washington attorneys, representing the Federal Dispensary and Tax Reduction League, Wilton Lambert and Rice Hooe, said conditions of law enforcement could not be corrected as long as the dry laws existed. They urged approval of the Sabbath resolution to modify the amendment to permit Federal supervision of the sale of liquor in packages in States desiring liquor.

Bootlegger to Each 156 Persons Found in Town

Thermopolis, Wyo., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A series of raids that resulted in the round-up of every alleged bootlegger in Thermopolis today disclosed that this town of 2,500 inhabitants has one for every 156 persons.

Federal prohibition agents, in making sixteen arrests last night, said they had "cleaned up" Thermopolis of every one of its liquor sellers. All of those arrested were still in jail today, but the majority were making efforts to secure their release on bond.

19 Teachers Demand Exile Of Parent Disturbing School

Instructors Vow They Will Quit Jobs Unless Former Asylum Inmate, Who Threatened Superintendent, Is Made to Leave Arkansas Community.

West Helena, Ark., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Nineteen teachers and the superintendent of the West Helena school tonight stood by their demand that a school patron leave the community and his two daughters be barred from school, offering their resignations as an alternative.

The school board, after long discussion, has found no solution to the muddled state of affairs precipitated by a quarrel between three girl students, but issued a statement in the afternoon promising that the school would be operating on an normal basis again in a few days.

Meanwhile the two principals in the controversy—Supt. George Cromwell and Lawrence Brown, father of two of the girls involved in the quarrel—left the scene of action. Cromwell went to Little Rock and Brown to Fort Smith. The purposes of their trips was not made known. Several of the teachers were prevailed upon to return to school today on a temporary basis but few classes were conducted. The teachers remained on duty largely, they said, to preserve order among students.

The school board's statement denied that any of the proffered resignations had been accepted, as had been reported, and said Cromwell had refused to accept an apology from Brown for the latter's threats against him for disciplining Brown's two daughters.

It was Cromwell's refusal to act against a third girl who quarreled with the Brown girls, after he had sent them home, that led to the controversy.

The statement by the board also disclosed that it had requested Sheriff J. C. Barlow to refrain from serving a threatened peace disturbance warrant on Brown for his actions which resulted in a guard of sheriff's deputies being placed around the school building yesterday.

The faculty members told the board that if Cromwell's resignation were accepted theirs should be also.

Brown is a former inmate of the State hospital for nervous diseases, having been sentenced there in 1927 at his trial for murder, but has been discharged from that institution following an extended parole.

COOLIDGE CHANGED SHOALS PLAN, CLAIM

Farm Bureau Aid, at Lobby Quiz, Says He Requested Text Alteration.

TELEGRAMS ARE SHOWN

Chester H. Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, testified before the Senate lobby committee yesterday that, upon his solicitation, former President Coolidge changed the Muscle Shoals paragraph in his 1927 message to Congress.

The farm federation's Washington representative added that he did not know how much influence his suggestion had upon the President, but a letter he wrote said some of the Muscle Shoals paragraph was a result of a long-distance conversation with Everett Sanders, secretary to the President.

The federaion has been opposing Government operation of the power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals and has advocated the proposal of the American Cyanamid Co. to lease the project.

Change in Coolidge Message.

Mr. Gray also testified that he had suggested changes in the 1928 message of Mr. Coolidge to Congress, but denied that he had conferred with President Hoover regarding his congressional message. President Hoover's recent communication was characterized by him as the "best message on Muscle Shoals ever written by a President."

"Then he beat you and Mr. Coolidge both," observed Chairman Caraway, of the committee.

Questioning of Mr. Gray was completed yesterday and the committee announced that today's witnesses would be W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid Co., and O. M. Kile, head of the National Agricultural Publishing Co.

Text of Telegrams.

A number of telegrams concerning Mr. Gray's efforts to get the Coolidge message changed were placed in the record. One of them, which was sent to Mr. Coolidge by Mr. Gray and Mr. E. A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, said:

"Just saw advance copy of your message and are at complete loss to understand paragraph on Muscle Shoals in view of your statements to us last Tuesday. Language as we read it contains commitment against use of nitrate plant, No. 2, which use is a basic principle with us and essential part of Madden bill. Hope not too late to revise this paragraph so you can be free to aid Congressman Madden in passing his bill."

The Madden bill, sponsored by the late Representative Madden, of Illinois, proposed that the bid of the American Cyanamid Co. be accepted. This proposal now is embodied in the Wright bill.

Commodore Reed And Wife Are Dead

Retired Coast Guard Officer and Mate Are Stricken While Touring in West.

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Commodore Byron L. Reed, U. S. Coast Guard, retired, and his wife, Mrs. Maud W. Reed, at Phoenix, Ariz., Commodore Reed was formerly in charge of the construction and repair bureau at Coast Guard Headquarters here.

The two were traveling through the West and were simultaneously stricken with influenza. Mrs. Reed died Sunday and her husband succumbed a day later. Both were well known in Coast Guard and naval circles in Washington.

Commodore Reed rose through the ranks. In the Spanish American War and the World War he served with the Coast Guard.

At the time of the enlargement of the Coast Guard in 1924, he was in charge of construction. He was retired in 1925 with the rank of Commodore.

The remains of both were brought to Hillsdale, Mich., where funeral services will be held Saturday. A daughter, Gwendolyn, who is now in Paris, survives them.

to assume the burdens of the premiership. He, therefore, urged that M. Tardieu should be called upon once more, promised to collaborate with him and on this basis was made the special messenger of the chief executive to notify the premier-elect of his designation.

It was acknowledged that a cabinet under Poincare would have been received with less resentment on the part of the left groups because "the savior of the franc" had nothing to do with the defeat of the Chautemps list. On the contrary, Tardieu was held responsible for yesterday's outcome and he can expect little or no help from the left groups despite the presence of Briand in his cabinet.

But the "man in the street" was pleased with the selection of Tardieu. The latter has captured the imagination of the populace which has credited him with having raised the prestige of France both at the reparations conference at The Hague and the five-power naval conference in London. The popular idea now is that Tardieu has shown other countries that France is a nation of the first rank, strongly united and international in its importance and dignity.

M. Tardieu expects to submit his new ministry to President Doumergue before noon tomorrow. Aside from M. Briand there was no indication of its personnel; but there were plenty of predictions that it would not include Henri Cheron, who, as minister of finance, unsuccessfully tried to fight the previous Tardieu administration's budget through the Chamber of Deputies while his chief was ill in bed with a cold contracted in London.

There were many expressions of hope that Poincare might accept a portfolio. These persisted in the face of his own statement that he could not undertake such work any more than the premiership for at least several months. In fact, the former government leader returned to his modest home just outside the Bois de Boulogne immediately after his conference with President Doumergue, and it was there M. Tardieu sought his help and advice in selecting the new ministry.

COMMITTEE PASSES VETERANS' MEASURE

Johnson Bill Would Increase by $100,000,000 Compensation for Crippled Vets.

(Associated Press.)

The 1924 World War veterans act would be radically amended and $100,000,000 more would be devoted every year to veterans' compensation under the Johnson bill approved yesterday by the House veterans committee.

The measure combines recommendations of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Veterans Bureau. It would deny the Comptroller General power to reverse a decision of the director of the Veterans' Bureau and would provide that proper consideration be given "to lay evidence and other evidence not of a medical nature" in adjudicating veterans' cases.

A section considered of prime importance provides that every man's disability which existed to a 1 per cent degree prior to January 1, 1925, should be presumed to be acquired in service. This would affect approximately 84,000 cases, at a cost of $76,000,000 to the Government.

For persons suffering the loss of a foot or hand, the bill would provide $25 a month additional compensation, a clause which would cause a $1,500,000 expenditure the first year of its operation. Veterans' insurance policies would be made incontestable.

Other provisions would safeguard the interests of mentally incompetent veterans; assure recreation for hospitalized veterans; liberalize insurance and compensation rules; repeal time limits for filing evidence and claims, and insure proper burial of veterans of all wars.

A flag to drape the casket of every veteran of all wars would be specifically provided for, an item which would cost the Government approximately $40,000 the first year for flags to be presented to the next of kin.

Retirement Bill Out of Committee

Lehlbach Measure May Go to Conference at Once.

The House civil service committee formally reported the new Lehlbach retirement bill following an executive meeting yesterday.

The bill goes before the House in the same form in which it was approved Tuesday. Chairman Lehlbach has announced that he will ask the rules committee to give it the legislative right of right at an early date.

As the bill bears the number of the Dale bill, which already has passed the Senate, it will not have to be approved by the Senate, but may go direct to conference.

BRANCH BANKS GET MELLON'S APPROVAL

Treasury Head Sends Letter to House Committee as Inquiry Goes On.

POLE IS PUT ON STAND

(Associated Press.)

Support of Secretary Mellon for branching banking in preference to chain or group banking was added yesterday to that of J. W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, as the House banking commitee continued its investigation of these phases of the Nation's financial system.

In a letter to the committee, the Treasury head based his preference for branch banking on the greater concentration of responsibility under that system; but warned, "even branch banking should be limited to definite economic areas."

"As to what these economic areas should be, I am not prepared to state at this time without further study or thought," Secretary Mellon wrote. He requested that he be allowed to defer his appearance before the committee, "until I have had an opportunity to study the facts which I hope your committee will develop."

Yesterday's committee session was taken up with questioning of Comptroller Pole on his position in favor of "decentralized branch banking," which he advanced as a solution for the situation caused by the failure of many country banks and the concentration of banking capital in New York.

MANY QUAKES FELT IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

GROUND SPOUTS STEAM

Brawley, Calif., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Nearly 40 earthquake shocks, the greatest number recorded here at one time in more than a decade, rocked Imperial Valley between 3:30 p. m. Tuesday and 9:15 a. m. today. Buildings in Brawley, Westmoreland and Calipatria were damaged. The largest loss occurred at Westmoreland. No casualties were reported.

Visitors to the valley became panic stricken. Many refused to sleep in their hotel rooms and remained up all night, pacing the lobbies and patios.

There were four major shocks, the first at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, followed by three others at 7:23 p. m., 8:04 p. m. and 11:39 p. m. Not since 1915, valley residents recalled, has there been such a recurrence of earthquakes in the period of a few hours.

H. H. Griffin, of Brawley, said while riding eleven miles northwest of the city today he saw spouts of hot and cold water shooting from the ground. The hot water was indicated by steam. Other residents told of sections of highways being flooded by water pouring out of earth cracks.

It was assumed that the shocks had split the earth deeply, breaking underground reservoirs of water. On some highways it was necessary to detour.

The principal shocks occurred at Westmoreland. Part of a pharmacy was wrecked with a loss estimated at $800. Other buildings there and in Brawley and Calipatria were cracked, plaster being broken, dishes smashed and some windows shattered. Near Westmoreland several adobe huts of Mexicans were shaken down. The occupants escaped uninjured.

Seismologists said the earthquakes were felt only in the valley. Railroad and communication lines were not damaged.

Pantages, in Jail, Plans New Chain of Theaters

Los Angeles, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Coincident with the reported improvement today in the condition of Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman who is in jail here pending his appeal from a penitentiary sentence for attacking 17-year-old Eunice Pringle, it was learned that he is considering plans for a new chain of theaters.

The 54-year-old prisoner recently sold his theaters for $15,000,000. It was about that same time that he is alleged to have criminally attacked the young dancer. He was sentenced to one to fifty years in prison. Pending his appeal he has sought release from jail on the ground that he was too ill to be kept in confinement.

Tons of Steel Smash Plant in Bomb Blast

Detroit, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Officials of the Federal Steel Corporation reported to police this noon that bomb explosions had sent thousands of tons of sheet steel crashing through a wall of their plant at 8 a. m. today. One workman was slightly injured, while 20 others were forced to flee from the avalanche of steel.

Officials of the company said there had been labor difficulties at the plant recently. The damage was estimated at $25,000. Previously the shifting of the steel had been blamed on a traveling crane which was thought to have struck one of the piles of metal.

RACE TRACK STABLE BURNS

Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

Ruins of the 50-stall stable at the Marlboro race track owned by the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, which was burned yesterday afternoon. No horses were quartered in the stable and cause of the blaze is undetermined. The loss is estimated at $4,000.

MARYLAND FLAMES RAZE RACING STABLE

REBUILDING TO START

Fire of an undetermined origin, which leveled a 50-stall stable and for a time threatened adjacent structures and stables, if not the entire racing plant of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, at Upper Marlboro, Md., yesterday afternoon, caused a loss of approximately $4,000.

Firemen from the Upper Marlboro department found that to reach the blaze from the only available water supply, a creek, an eighth of a mile away, required additional hose to that they carried.

A call was sent to the Seat Pleasant and Capitol Hill departments and the three companies, by "lining in" a stream, finally played upon the blaze and were able to keep the fire from spreading.

Secretary William G. Brookes of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, which owns both the Bowie and Upper Marlboro racing plants, stated that no horses were in the barn at the time of the fire. He also stated the work of rebuilding the structure would be started immediately.

Another Alabaman To Run for Senate

Four-Cornered Race Seen as Latest Candidacy Is Announced.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—John W. O'Neil, Birmingham, announced today he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate in the August 12 primary. He will oppose at least two others for the seat held by J. Thomas Heflin.

Mr. O'Neil said he had asked Secretary of State John Brandon for qualification papers, and expected to file his candidacy formally before the time limit expires Saturday midnight.

"With the present unsettled conditions in the Democratic party in Alabama," Mr. O'Neil said, "I feel that we are in need of a candidate who will uphold democracy as exemplified by the late Senator Underwood."

Others in the race are John H. Bankhead, Jasper attorney, and Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher. Senator Heflin was barred from participation in the primary as a candidate because of his anti-Smith activities in 1928.

CHILE-TO-NEW YORK PLANE LANDS IN U.S.

HEAVY WEATHER FOUND

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The Cuba, huge airplane of the New York, Rio & Buenos Aires Airline, arrived here at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon, completing the inaugural flight between Santiago, Chile, and Miami. Seven and one-half days were required, which is less than the time called for in the schedule. The plane brought more than 1,000 pounds of mail from South American countries for the United States and European nations. Included in the mail was an official letter from President Washington Luis, of Brazil, to President Hoover, congratulating Mr. Hoover upon the opening of the air line between Brazil and the United States.

Starting from Santiago on Tuesday, February 18, mail and express were carried over the Andes on a schedule which has been operated since last September. The cargo was transferred in Buenos Aires to marine equipment and started up the east coast of South America.

Heavy weather was encountered along the southern coast of Brazil, officials reported. This was followed by the breaking of an oil line at Florianapolis, Brazil. The cargo was transferred to the plane Tampa, which reached Santos late in the day. The landing at Santos was made in a heavy sea, the Tampa damaging a wing tip and remaining there overnight.

The mail was again transferred to the Porto Alegre, which relayed the cargo farther along the line.

The mail left Port Au Prince, Haiti, at 5 o'clock this morning and stops were made at Santiago and Cienfugos, Cuba, on the way to Miami.

Ralph O'Neill, president of the Myrba Lines; H. E. Sewell, pilot, and Earle C. Steele and K. O. Hawkins, copilots, were aboard the Cuba. Mr. O'Neill, however, was the only member of the party to make the trip all the way from Buenos Aires. Time from Buenos Aires to Miami was 6½ days as compared to 18 days by the fastest steamers, Myrba officials pointed out, while the air time from Rio De Janeiro was 5 days as compared with 14 days by steamer.

Mail for the north was put aboard a train here tonight and that for European points will be sent across the Atlantic by steamer. The time for mail delivery between Rio and London will be 13 days by the air route into Miami, officials said.

Democrat Challenged As Hoover Supporter

Selma, Ala., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The first protest against a candidate entering the August Democratic primary because he supported Republican Presidential electors in 1928 was directed today at L. H. Ellis, of Columbiana, a State administration stalwart and Senate floor leader at the last session of the Legislature. Ellis, now seeking a seat in the lower house of the Legislature from Shelby County, was challenged today by John A. Wade, of Vincent, on the ground that Ellis voted for Hoover in 1928.

The State executive committee has ruled that Hoover supporters can not become candidates in the Democratic primary.

RED RIOTS STAGED IN FOUR U. S. CITIES

11 Arested in Seattle When Police Check March on City Hall.

BATTLE IN LOS ANGELES

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Eight men and three women were arrested here today in a battle between police and radicals who attempted to march on the City Hall in a Communist demonstration.

Fifty policemen were sent from central headquarters when the battle started within about two blocks of the station.

The trouble began with the arrest of Rene Costello, 21, a student, who was attempting to deliver a speech to about 500 demonstrators, because he had no permit to hol da street meeting.

Banners Are Confiscated.

Banners, reading "down with capitalism" and "work or wages," and hand-bills signed by "the Communist party of the United States of America, district, No. 12" were confiscated by the police. The bills urged the "unemployed" to join the group in the "world-wide demonstration" against capital.

Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Several thousand men and women, alleged Communists, gathered at the Plaza at 6 p. m. tonight, began a march on the City Hall that 200 policemen found impossible to resist, even though armed with tear and smoke bombs.

Twenty-seven alleged ringleaders of the marching throng, which sang and shouted as it progressed, were arrested, after blackjacks, fists and handcuffs had been called into play by the police.

Vancouver Parade Postponed.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Police here said a parade in which unemployed persons were to have marched on the city h all today was postponed "on receipt of cabled instructions from Moscow." One hundred officers stood guard as 500 men gathered in downtown park place in an orderly Communist meeting.

Boston, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Two young women were arrested early tonight in the downtown garment manufacturing district, after a brief scuffle with police, bringing to nine the total arrests today in the strike called by the Communist faction of the garment workers.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Several persons were slightly injured and two were arrested today when police broke up a Communist parade in Wall street. A near riot occurred when the police bore down on the demonstration, said to have been prompted by the release of a man from Governors Island after he had served part of a sentence for deserting from the Army.

Air Riders to Get Radio Innovation

$200,000 Plans Are Announced for Western Express by Hoover, Jr.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Heralding another step toward safety and efficiency of air travel, Herbert Hoover, jr., chief of radio communications of Western Air Express, today announced the purchase by his company of airplane radio equipment totaling nearly $200,000 for installation in the company's planes and land stations. Installation of the equipment in planes and ground stations of the company, which will permit two-way radio phone communication, will be started immediately.

"The equipment has been specifically designed for airplane use and therefore weight and space have been kept at an absolute minimum commensurate with reliability of performance," Mr. Hoover said. "The total weight of the sending and receiving apparatus aboard planes is 163 pounds."

The sending and receiving apparatus is all mounted in a small cabinet about 16 inches square. The pilot or broadcaster has his equipment mounted in a helmet, seemingly not much heavier than the usual leather helmet aviators wear.

135 UNEMPLOYED JAILED IN CHICAGO

Police Allow Meeting, but Arrest Participants Immediately After.

STOP CITY HALL MARCH

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A mass meeting of unemployed held in a West Madison street building today was attended by police who sequestered 135 men and women in the hall, permitted the leaders to deliver addresses and distribute communistic literature and then arrested the entire group as the meeting broke up.

The plan of the unemployed to attempt again to march to the City Hall was frustrated by the authorities.

A similar demonstration at the City Hall last week was broken up by mounted police, who rode through the ranks on the sidewalks and dispersed the marchers. Several leaders were arrested.

A majority of those taken were aliens who were turned over to the immigration authorities for investigation. Others were taken to the Bureau of Identification and those not wanted for any other offenses were held for vagrancy.

Several details of police were assigned to the meeting to prevent any violent outbreaks and to forestall a repetition of the march on the City Hall. This precaution turned hundreds from the meeting.

Police were forced to resort to the use of "billy clubs" to restore order several times during the session as several of the leaders resented the police supervision. Capt. John Stege, chief of detectives, floored one man with a smash on the jaw and hurled him into the street, after the man had shouted, "Kill the cops." Another of the leaders was a young woman who shouted, "Stand up and fight for freedom," but the trouble was short lived.

Sick U. S. Admiral Leaves for Home

Jones, Naval Parley Aid, Ordered to Return, Boards Liner.

Southampton, England, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones was in a very weak condition when he arrived here today to board the Berengaria, which sailed for the United States at noon.

The admiral, who was ordered home from the London Naval Conference because of stomach illness, had a good trip from London, arrangements having been made so that he could lie down on the train.

At the dock the sturdy old sea dog insisted that he wished to walk aboard but he was too ill to permit that and he was carried in a special chair.

Dr. M. E. Higgins, American Navy physician turned Admiral Jones over to the care of Dr. J. D. Dogherty, of the Berengaria. Officers of the ship have made special arrangements to keep the admiral comfortable.

FARMER AND WOMAN ACCUSED OF MURDER

LOVE NOTE CLEW FOUND

Anamosa, Iowa, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Albert Hartwig, 60, wealthy farmer, and Mrs. Hilda Miner, 37, today were charged with first-degree murder in connection with the death yesterday from poisoning of the woman's husband, Edward Miner, 63, a laborer, of Olin.

Mrs. Miner, who, physicians say, attempted suicide early today, lies seriously ill in a hospital here, where she was brought this afternoon following a heart attack at her home in Olin. Physicians said they believed the heart attack was attributable to the effects of poison and to mental strain. She may not recover.

Hartwig, now held in the county jail here, has confessed, the authorities said, that he supplied Mrs. Minor with the poison which is alleged to have killed her husband.

Mrs. Miner denied the charges. She asserted that her husband committed suicide. County Attorney Clifford Paul quoted her as say she was out in the yard splitting wood and came into the house to find her husband in convulsions.

The county attorney, however, said he believed Mrs. Miner gave her husband some capsules filled with poison under the pretext that they were the same as pills he had taken previously under his physician's orders.

A box of the capsules was missing after the husband's death, Mrs. Miner said. Paul declared the box was found in the cupboard today. The capsules, along with Miner's stomach, were sent to the University of Iowa Hospital, at Iowa City, for analysis.

A letter written by Mrs. Miner to Hartwig was turned over to the county attorney by the farmer. It contained several "affectionate phrases," Mr. Paul said, and urged Hartwig to "get that stuff" because her husband had been "mean" and she could like with him no longer.

Mrs. Miner was the second wife of the dead man. Miner had four children by his first marriage.

Investigation of Miner's death was urged by Cecil Miner, 23, who said he had become suspicious of Hartwig's frequent visits to his father's home.

Three in Crew of 20 Reach Bahaman Island After Vessel Sinks.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Seventeen lives were reported lost when the sloop Pretoria was swamped in heavy seas off Abaco Island, Bahamas, on February 17, according to passengers arriving here today from Nassau.

Three persons of the crew of 20 succeeded in reaching the island after the vessel sank, passengers reported. The craft was trying to make Standard Creek on Abaco Island to take refuge from high winds at the time it was swamped.

The boat was owned by H. P. Treco, but no other details were available.

Leslie Albury, chief engineer of the Isle of June, which returned from Nassau today, said he believed all of those who went down with the Pretoria were Negroes. He said the Pretoria was a sponge boat, 35 feet long.

Man Fails in Second Attempt to End Life

After attempting to end his life for the second time within six days, Edward A. Ingliss, 33 years old, of Malden, Mass., was lodged in Gallinger Hospital yesterday for mental observation following treatment at Emergency Hospital for self-inflicted wounds of the wrists.

Ingliss, according to police and hospital authorities, came to this city recently in search of employment. Last Friday night Ingliss attempted to end his life by swallowing poison. He was removed from a clothing store on F street northwest, near Fourteenth street, yesterday after he had slashed both wrists with a razor blade, police reported. It was reported at Emergency Hospital that his wounds were not serious.

CARETAKER OF POOL ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

Alphonse Gautier, Employed at Chevy Chase Tank Was Despondent, Claim.

COMPANIONS SEE HIM DIE

Apparently suffering from loneliness, Alphonse Marie Gautier, 45 years old, caretaker at the Chevy Chase Lake swimming pool, took his life last night while three laughing companions looked on and thought he was merely pretending.

With a .38 caliber revolver, which he said was jammed, Gautier fired a bullet through his right temple after he had pulled the trigger several times and obtained only a click in response. The bullet came out the top of his head and entered the ceiling of his room in the pool pavilion.

Although little is known of Gautier's history or family, letters in his pockets revealed that he came from Canada and that he had served in the Canadian Expeditionary Force during the World War. He has been employed at the Chevy Chase Lake pool for a little more than a year.

"I'm gonna shoot myself," he said, as he toyed with the revolver.

James A. Waugh, 18 years old, of Kensington, Md.; Charles Pullian, 22 years old, of Chevy Chase Lake; and Washington Hodge, 24 years old, colored, of Chevy Chase Lake, were in the room at the time. They said afterward that they thought he "was just fooling."

Sergt. Leroy Rodgers and Policemen Joseph Olderfield and J. E. Shoemaker, of the Bethesda substation of the Montgomery County police department, responded to a call. When they arrived, two large airedales stood guard at their master's side, one at his feet and one on the bed beside him. His companions had fled into the yard.

Dr. E. G. Bauersfeld, of West Chevy Chase, examined the body, and it was then removed to the Warner-Humphrey funeral establishment at Rockville, Md., to await orders from State's Attorney Robert P. Peter, jr. Police will try to get in touch with two cousins who are believed to live in Ontario, Canada.

POLICEMAN'S WIDOW FAINTS DURING TRIAL

Mrs. Alice McDonald, When Asked to Identify Bullet, Swoons.

SIX WITNESSES TESTIFY

Featured by another fainting spell on the part of Mrs. Alice McDonald, Alfred Scott Aldridge, colored, went on trial yesterday in District Supreme Court on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Policeman Harry J. McDonald, the woman's husband, who was shot to death in a gun duel last summer.

Mrs. McDonald fainted when she was asked by Assistant United States Attorney Walter M. Shea to identify the bullet which was found in the policeman's automobile and which is believed to have caused his death. At the previous trial of Aldridge on the same charge, which resulted in a mistrial, Mrs. McDonald also swooned when shown the bullet. As in the previous instance she was quickly revived yesterday, but was unable to again appear upon the stand. Court was recessed immediately. Mrs. McDonald is expected to be the principal witness when the case is resumed today.

Six witnesses testified at the trial yesterday. Three of the number are policemen who investigated McDonald's death. McDonald died several weeks after he had been shot in a gun duel with Aldridge and his brother, Albert Aldridge, which was staged at Seventeenth and Q streets northwest. Albert Aldridge was fatally wounded in the encounter.

Alfred Aldridge, the man on trial, was apprehended several days later, by police, while he was riding on a street car.

Attorney James Reilly, who represented Aldridge in the previous trial, appears for him in this instance.

Fahy Plane Rushed For World Flight

Former Capital Pilot Will Circle Globe With Special Craft.

A special plane, equipped with wheels and pontoons for land and water flying, is being rushed to completion for the round-the-world flight to be undertaken early this year by Herbert Fahy, former Washington Army aviator, who is test pilot of the Lockheed Co., it was learned yesterday.

The itinerary of Mr. Fahy's flight will call for the alternate use of wheels, for ground landing, and pontoons for water landings. Spectacular laps of the trip will include a flight across the Atlantic from Newfoundland to England, and across the Pacific by way of Japan and the Aleutian Islands and Alaska. On the latter portion of the journey, pontoons will be substituted for wheels.

Mrs. Fahy, also an aviator, plans to accompany her husband on the trip as copilot. The exact date of the flight is to be announced. Mr. Fahy is well known in Washington, and gained some notoriety during the Harding administration for low flying during two important ceremonies. The flight by Mr. Fahy is one of two round-the-world trips planned for the early part of this year. The other will be undertaken by John Henry Mears, who already holds a record for flying around the earth in 23 days with the late C. B. D. Collyer.

TARIFF COALITION GOAL IS MENACED

right. With the same number of senators voting as voted last time only six senators have to switch to give the sugar tariff people victory after all.

The anticipated switches lie among the Eastern group who were apparently swayed by Harrison's attack when the item was up before and deserted the finance committee.

McNary Victory Foreseen.

If the building materials group or even the lumber and shingles people, succeed in getting their tariff the Progressives will undoubtedly froth at the mouth. This was perhaps the first thing they jumped upon in describing the House bill as a monstrosity. There was no need of increasing agricultural rates, it was contended, if the farmers were to be required to pay more for their building materials.

Nevertheless, the quite capable Senator McNary is at work on the lumber schedule, and it would not be surprising at all if he came out on top.

The drives to overturn the major coalition accomplishments will be made when the bill comes before the Senate proper. At present the Senate is considering it in committee of the whole.

Night Sessions Planned.

The way was paved yesterday, too, to hasten this day. Acting upon the initiative of the coalition, it was agreed to hold night sessions with a view to getting the bill out of the Senate next week, if possible. Senators Harrison and Simmons proposed that debate be limited from now on, but there were objections, and notice was given that night sessions will be the order beginning today.

It would be an enlightening commentary though perhaps not a strange one should the next two weeks reveal the bill to be fashioned after all pretty much along the committee's lines, that is in so far as the hotly controverted items are concerned. But it is not at all impossible that this will be the case.

In the meantime the old guard has taken on renewed life on the assumption that the President will not interfere in the legislative consideration of the bill, that the rates finally worked out in the congressional storm will be agreeable to him. This is the impression they have obtained following their outburst of resentment against published stories that the President favored the coalition rates.

BLOND BANDIT FOUND GUILTY OF HOLDUP

to appear in court today by Justice Hinkley. The prisoner, brought from jail by a deputy sheriff, was sitting without handcuffs in the prisoners' box. Just as the Richards girl was finishing her testimony, in which she declared that Dombkiewicz had threatened her with death if she did not aid him in his acts of banditry, Dombkiewicz and Glickstein were seen to grapple.

As they exchanged blows the prisoner was heard to cry out: "That's the way I treat all squawkers."

After the couple had hit each other several times, Dombkiewicz drew an improvised knife, made of a broken razor blade fastened to a tooth brush handle. He struck out at Glickstein, but succeeded in cutting him only once.

Glickstein, was taken to Emergency Hospital, but was able to return to the courthouse after his throat had been bandaged.

Woman Drinks Poison, Believing It Medicine

Miss Lillian Ashley, 25 years old, of the Astoria Apartments, Third and G streets northwest, was reported to be in a serious condition yesterday at Emergency Hospital as the result of drinking poison accidentally.

According to Sixth Precinct police, the young woman drank a quantity of the poison, mistaking it for a medicine.

Wyoming Avenue Home Ransacked by Thieves

Police of the Eighth Precinct launched a search yesterday for two men, who were seen running from the rear entrance of the residence of L. O. Campbell, on Wyoming avenue northwest, near Twenty-first street. An investigation revealed that the rear door had been jimmied and a quantity of clothing stolen.

The men were seen running from the residence by Bert Cooper, of Jackson place northeast, near North Capitol street, caretaker of the Campbell home. He furnished police with a description of the pair.

DREAM PLAYS PART IN DEATH MYSTERY of Private A. McMaree, of the same company, on December 2. Private Leonidas McGinnis, also of Troop E, is charged with the slaying.

"All day long I had been thinking about my buddy's death and wondering what sort of knife was used and what became of it," said Corpl. Kimbrough. "I fell asleep thinking about it—and around midnight I dreamed I saw Private McMaree bleeding on the ground, then I saw a long, bloody knife against a brick wall beneath the kitchen of Troop E barracks——"

At first, he said, he did not tell his dream to anyone, but after a visit to the widow of Private McMaree he told a sergeant about it. They went to the kitchen and the corporal crawled under.

"I struck a match," he recorded, "and there was that knife, blood-stained and shaped exactly like the one in my dream."

Testimony, according to the transcript, of five other soldiers traced the knife into the hands of Private McGinnis on the day of the slaying. Ill-feeling between the soldiers was given as the motive.

The commander of the Fourth Corps area, Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, recommended that the case be transferred from military jurisdiction to the Federal court.

OTHERS GIVEN LIBERTY

Twenty-one persons were trapped in four raids conducted in the Northwest section yesterday by members of the Police Vice Squad. Charges of violating the dry law were placed against five persons, while another was accused of violating the gambling laws.

Sauntering into a cigar store on 1 street northwest near Fourth street, Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman and Detectives Richard J. Cox and James Mostyn, found 16 persons there. Portland, Oreg., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—One man was killed in a fire which swept the Olds, Wortman & King Storage Warehouse here today and caused damage which firemen estimated at $250,000. Fred M. Wagstaff, warehouse manager, was overcome by smoke while fighting the fire and died of burns.

Three other employes escaped by leaping from windows.

Pratt to take such action. All he had done, he explained, was to complain.

It was pointed out by police officials, however, that inasmuch as the laws do not give police such unlimited powers that they can "walk into any place they choose and place people under arrest without good evidence that the laws are being violated," and as Mr. Carter had not been able to suggest any more effective procedure, the picket system is the most practical and efficient under the circumstances.

The picket system is getting results, these officials declared, and investigation yesterday showed that if anyone is doing any gambling in any of the four places now under the watchful eyes of the police, they must be using telepathy. No one entered any of the places during an extended period of observation, for any purpose, and even the telephone which had rung frequently in one place on the preceding day, was silent yesterday.

No additional places were put under picket yesterday, but rumor indicates that at least a dozen other suspected "joints" throughout the city are due to have uniformed policemen stationed at their entrances within the next few days, if even more drastic action is not taken in the meanwhile.

of collecting. "You are enjoying good health now as well as popularity," the message read, "so be sensible and continue to do so." The message was turned over to police who established a guard detail for the actress, both on and off the stage.

Miss Larrimore since has received several phone calls from a person eager to communicate with her, but the calls were accepted by another party. The person calling represented himself as a "Mr. Brady," a writer of a weekly magazine who desired to have a personal interview with the actress. Investigation developed that the man, who appeared to have some knowledge of newspaper and magazine work, had no connection with the weekly he purported to represent.

The shakedown of the actors and actresses began preceding and during the last Christmas holidays when many of them were approached for "donations" to various benefits which did not exist. Since then the racket appears to have broadened into a general collection agency for all sorts of "charities," investigators said.

Others registering complaints against the racketeers were said to be Groucho Marx, Phil Baker, Jack Peral

Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the State's attorney, said the racket was being used by minor hoodlums who "were attempting to mulct the actors and actresses and had no connection with the 'big shots.'"

Roche said that the recent slaying of Joseph Caddo was the result of an attempted extortion plot. He added that the report, which came to him through underworld sources, was that Caddo was head of a clique who planned to kidnap Texas Guinan, cabaret entertainer, and hold her for ransom, but that Caddo was slain shortly before the plan was to have been attempted.

residents of the city cheered them as they paraded toward the palace.

The president and Vice President Alfonseca, took refuge in the French Legation. Other administration leaders also went to foreign representatives for shelter. Gustavo Diaz, president of the senate, sought haven in the Danish Consulate, but, after hearing that the insurgent leaders did not recognize the right of a consul to offer asylum, he left there. Tonight his whereabouts were unknown.

Ernesto Bonetty Burgos, speaker of the Lower House, was reported as sheltered in the dwelling of a relative and former provisional president, J. B. Vicini Burgos. Arturo Pellerano Sarda, director of the newspaper Listin Diario, became a refugee in the Mexican Legation.

The occupation of the city was accomplished without bloodshed, and while banks and commercial houses put up their shutters and business came to a standstill, there was no sign of disorder until invaders late in the day opened fire on the fortress. The few left in the place decided to hold out in order that President Vasquez might have some background for expected negotiations with Gen. Urena.

If those negotiations result in a definite settlement of the situation, much credit will be given to John M. Cabot, of Springfield, Mass., a member of the American Embassy staff. Mr. Cabot, who is only 28 years old, made a fast automobile trip yesterday to Santiago as emissary of Minister Curtis. He came back with word that encouraged belief in the possibility of a peaceable settlement of the whole controversy.

The movement against President Vasquez was based upon his announcement of candidacy for relection in May. His opponents said that he had violated a pledge not to run for another term and they have demanded the setting up of a provisional government with the idea of guaranteeing the fairness of the coming elections.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Failure of the Dominican government to amend the election laws for the approaching elections, together with increasing unrest among the former political leaders, are the chief causes underlying the Dominican situation so far as can be determined here.

Desiderio Arias, former minister of war and one of the leaders of the 1919 revolution which eventually brought about the American Marine occupation, was reported as among the most active leaders of the present movement, together with Gen. Rafael Estrella, while Gen. Trujillo, head of the army, also has been reported sympathetic with the opposition

EIGHT CHILDREN, NUN DIE IN SCHOOL BLAZE

Sister Loses Life in Trying to Save Charges From Canadian Fire.

AID IS INJURED IN JUMP

The Pas, Manitoba, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Reports of a schoolhouse fire yesterday, in which eight children and a nun lost their lives, was brought to The Pas today by a man who had driven 53 miles through the bitter cold from the isolated outpost of Cross Lake.

Sister Superior Margaret of Mary lost her life in a vain attempt to lead the children—girl pupils of the Cross Lake Indian School, none of whom was more than 9 years old—to safety. Sister Jeanne Deschantel, trying to escape the flames, leaped from the second floor and suffered a fractured spine.

Plans were made immediately to send an airplane from The Pas to take medical supplies to the settlement and to bring the injured nun back to civilization. Bishop Ovide Charlebois was to accompany the rescue party.

It was believed the fire started on the third floor of the wing in which the Indian girls who perished were housed, but its cause was not definitely learned. The building, a three-story brick structure, was erected in 1914, and an addition was built in 1920. Bishop Charlebois estimated the loss would aggregat $20,000.

Sister Margaret, an oblate sister of St. Boniface, went to Cross Lake in 1914 and was there until 1920. She was stationed in Quebec for three years, then on her return to the school in 1923 she became sister superior.

Other Democrat senatorial candidates in the primary to be held next June are J. W. Bailey, Raleigh attorney, and Senator F. M. Simmons, incumbent.

Mr. Estep, in announcement of his candidacy said he also favored a Federal pension for every citizen reaching the age of 65 years and repeal of the fifteenth amendment which enfranchised the Negro race.

20 PLANES SEARCH VAINLY FOR DOLES

Fliers Criss-Cross Above Mohave Desert and Mountain Wall.

TRIO LOST SINCE SUNDAY

Los Angeles, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—An aerial search of the Mohave Desert and its western wall of 10,000-foot-high mountains, late today had failed to bring any trace of James Doles, pilot of a Western Air Express passenger plane, and his two companions, missing since Sunday.

Twenty airplanes all day criss-crossed the heavily timbered San Bernardino and San Gabriel mountain ranges, searching that dangerous section of Doles' route. They worked on first-hand reports that the red trimotored plane had been seen and heard fighting low clouds and snowstorms there Sunday afternoon. The three men, Doles, Copilot A. W. Bieber and Steward John W. Slaton, have not been heard from since they left Kingman, Ariz., Sunday noon for Los Angeles. For three days planes have soared over the region searching for the missing plane and its crew.

A Los Angeles student aviator, who was spending last week-end at Wrightwood, recreation resort high in the San Gabriel range, reported that he heard a trimotored plane pass overhead three times Sunday afternoon. He said he could not see it because of the snow from low hanging clouds, which also shrouded the mountain peaks.

Two ranchers, living on the Mohave at the eastern end of Cajon Pass, told of seeing the transport ship trying to find a hole through the clouds. They reported that it was headed into the San Bernardino range. A State highway patrolman also reported seeing the plane. The ship carried no passengers.

"USING" THE FEDERAL COURT

The Standard Oil Co. of New York and the Vacuum Oil Co. are fishing for legal sanction of their proposed merger. For the purpose of bringing about a test case, the two companies brought to the attention of Department of Justice officials a contract for merger which they have tentatively entered into. This merger has not been acted upon by the stockholders, and, of course, is not yet operative. Nevertheless the department has decided to accommodate these interests by bringing suit in the Federal court at St. Louis to prevent the merger.

Some months ago the Department of Justice decided to discontinue the practice of rendering advisory opinions as to whether proposed combinations would violate the antitrust laws. Such opinions left the department at a disadvantage in later prosecutions. Now it is proposed to shift the burden of rendering advisory opinions to the Federal courts—a still more serious mistake.

Counsel for the oil companies assert that the proposed merger would not violate the decree of the Supreme Court, which dissolved the Standard Oil Co. in 1911. Why do not the companies proceed on that assurance? The very fact that they are seeking legal sanction from the Department of Justice and the courts indicates doubt of the legality of the merger. They ask the Federal courts to pass their judgment on the contract. The situation comes close to using the courts as advisory counsel for private interests.

The duty of the courts is to administer justice, and not to give legal counsel to big business.

Does this action mean that the Department of Justice will follow a policy of bringing suits of this kind to meet the convenience of every one who wishes to stretch the law as far as possible in his favor without incurring the penalties for its violation? The courts are already congested with legitimate actions. To what would the judicial system degenerate if every citizen were accorded this same kind of service from the courts? Does the fact that this consolidation involves $900,000,000 influence the decision of the department to make an advisory body of the courts? Equal justice to all is the fundamental principle on which the American judicial system is built. There is no excuse for sidetracking the regular business of the St. Louis court while it advises big oil operators whether they are within the law or not.

The case may be carried to the Supreme Court. If the circuit court should rule in favor of the oil companies, would the Department of Justice be satisfied? Having agreed to a test suit, the department would be practically estopped from appealing. The tendency would be to let the matter rest on the decision of the hypothetical case in the lower court. In dissolving the Standard Oil Co. the Supreme Court sustained the judgment of the lower court, with modifications; but the decision in the proposed test case might be overruled.

The guardians of the public interest can not afford to have advance understandings with big business in the enforcement of the antitrust laws. It is the function of the Department of Justice to prosecute violators of those statutes, and not to cooperate with corporations in obtaining the advice of the courts as to whether questionable consolidations are lawful.

LEAVING THE FARM.

Farming areas of the United States lost a population of 269,000 last year, according to estimates of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The total farm population at the beginning of 1920 was 27,491,000. A total of 1,876,000 persons moved away from farms, but there was also a considerable migration to agricultural areas. The aggregate shifting was less pronounced than during the previous year. In spite of the fact that agricultural overproduction continues, there is a tendency toward stabilization of population in both rural and urban areas.

The movement cityward was particularly active in the South Atlantic States. This area, which is rapidly building industrial centers, drew 292,000 persons away from the farm, and only 162,000 new farmers moved in to take their places. A movement of considerable proportions also took place in the West South Central States.

The net losses of the agricultural sections are significant in view of the fact that births in farming households totaled 631,000 and deaths only 281,000. The birth rate on the farm is considerably higher than that for the country as a whole, and the death rate is lower. Under ordinary circumstances the increase of rural population would be much more rapid than that of urban population. But the cities still lure the youth away from the farms, and it appears that they will continue to replenish their population with robust lads and lasses from the country for many years to come.

BETTER BUILDING INSPECTION.

The report of the Bureau of Efficiency to the effect that the District of Columbia is not receiving the building inspection to which it is entitled confirms a general opinion. At frequent intervals the building inspector has called attention to the inadequacy of the service and pointed out the need for a larger force of inspectors. A number of accidents in recent years have focused public attention on the necessity for more thorough inspection. Rigid enforcement of the building code is imperative in rapidly growing Washington.

Investigators for the Bureau of Efficiency recommend a thorough reorganization of the inspection service under a superintendent of inspection, who would be a competent engineer. Divisions under him would be devoted to building, electrical, plumbing, elevator and steam boiler inspection. A new code of law governing the activities of each division is recommended. One assistant corporation counsel would devote his full time to inspection problems.

The present practice of having contractors pay inspectors invites inefficiency and corruption. The bureau would have all building inspectors paid by the District, and would revise the schedule of inspection fees to cover the cost of that service. The necessity of such a revision is seen in the fact that revenue of the building inspector's office is but slightly more than half the amount of its expenses.

Inspection of elevators and steam boilers was found to be especially inadequate. Less than half the periodic inspections required by law for elevators have been made in the past. Only one man is assigned to steam boiler inspection, and the bureau found it is a physical impossibility for him to cover the field.

Washington can not afford to be without modern building regulation. Inadequate inspection is always a current source of accidents. Damage that might result years hence from unsafe building practices, defective wiring and inferior elevator equipment must also be considered. The Bureau of Efficiency has made a detailed study of the city's inspection needs, and recommends a comprehensive remedy. Its report should lead to action.

A GUARD, BUT NO ARMORY.

Immediately across the District line stands a handsome brick structure, the armory of a Maryland unit of the National Guard. No matter where one travels he comes across similar structures. In Washington, however, the Nation's Capital, the National Guard is practically homeless. Housed in one of the dilapidated Government hotel structures, which is to be razed to make way for the Plaza Park, the Guard soon will be removed to the old National Hotel which, in turn, is to be razed to make way for the municipal center. A bill is in Congress providing for the acquisition of the Washington Auditorium as an armory for the Guard, but the bill last week was disapproved by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, which sounds its death knell.

The Guard units located in the District are rated as efficient by the War Department. Efficiency and morale can not be sustained, however, if the Guard is not provided with an armory. It is particularly unfortunate that the Washington Guard should be discriminated against. If any city is in need of an adequate reserve force, trained to act quickly and efficiently in an emergency, that city is Washington.

In disapproving the bill for the purchase of the Auditorium, the Park and Planning Commission directed its experts to make a study of other available locations and types of buildings to house the District militia. It is doubtful, however, that a suitable and adequate building could be purchased. The District of Columbia National Guard units should have an armory designed and built for that purpose alone. A bill should be introduced authorizing the Guard to build an armory, and making available an adequate appropriation to that end.

DECENTRALIZED BRANCH BANKING.

No testimony taken by the House committee on banking and currency will carry more weight than that of the Comptroller of the Currency, John W. Pole. It was quite appropriate to call Mr. Pole as the first witness in the investigation of branch, group and chain banking, which is expected to lead to new legislation on the subject. Having been a country banker himself, Mr. Pole has a personal as well as an official interest in the investigation. His observations come from close personal contact with the operation of the banking system for more than 20 years.

Stronger country banks is the objective toward which Mr. Pole is aiming. The growth of great financial institutions in the cities gives the workingman, business executive and other urban dwellers an advantage over the agricultural population. Rural communities have to depend upon small banks; in fact, four-fifths of all the banks in the United States are in small towns. Bank failures are almost entirely confined to these small institutions. Under existing conditions depositors and local stockholders have insufficient protection.

The Comptroller of the Currency urged the committee to consider decentralized branch banking as a means of strengthening rural banking systems. He anticipates that large central banks would take these smaller institutions under their wings, if permitted by law. Country banks could become units of a system operating within a recognized trade area, and the farmer's savings would be as secure as those of the city dweller.

Mr. Pole's specification of "decentralized branch banking" is significant. There is a tendency to consolidate finances of the country in New York. One of the foremost arguments against branch and chain banking is that they tend further to concentrate finances in this money center. The plan suggested to the committee would permit national banks to extend branches into the trade area of the city in which they are located. Cleveland, Boston, New Orleans, San Francisco, Atlanta and similarly located cities would become financial centers for adjacent trade areas. In this way local interest in the needs of each community would not be lost, and the resources of rural banks could be substantially strengthened.

Secretary Mellon adds his counsel to that of Comptroller Pole in favor of limiting branch banking to "definite economic areas." Both of these authorities perceive that the benefits of branch banking may be more than offset if the branches are to become mere tentacles of a gigantic central system in New York.

AIRCRAFT CARRIERS

By Capt. X, U. S. N.

The Washington treaty allocated to the United States and Great Britain and placed a limit of 135,000 tons on aircraft carrier tonnage; 81,000 tons to Japan; 60,000 tons each to France and Italy. The treaty provided that all aircraft carrier tonnage in existence or building on November 12, 1921, would be considered as experimental and may be replaced at any time within the total tonnage limit of 135,000.

The United States has two carriers, the Lexington and Saratoga, of 33,000 tons each, which are not experimental; or, in other words, has used 66,000 tons of the 135,000 tons allowed, and has a balance of 69,000 tons available. Great Britain has used 45,000 tons (the Courageous and Glorious, of 22,500 tons each) of their allowed 135,000 tons, leaving available 90,000 tons. Japan has used 53,800 tons (the Akagi, 26,900 tons, and the Kaga, 26,900 tons), leaving a balance available of 27,200 tons. The French have the Bearn, of 21,653 tons; the Italians have no aircraft carrier.

Of experimental tonnage, the United States has the Langley, of 10,286 tons. The British have four vessels (the Hermes, 10,850 tons; the Eagle, 22,600 tons; the Furious, 22,450 tons, and the Argus, 14,450 tons). The Japanese have no experimental tonnage, but have a small carrier which they call an auxiliary aircraft carrier (the Hosho), of 7,470 tons displacement. It should be noted that the British have in the experimental tonnage no vessel of over 22,600 tons, and that they have one experimental carrier of 10,850 tons and one of 14,450 tons. All of these carriers have a speed of over 20 knots. The Courageous and Glorious have a speed of 31 knots. The Langley has a speed of only 14 knots; the Hosho, 25 knots.

For the United States, the Lexington and Saratoga, 66,000 tons; for Great Britain, the Courageous and Glorious, 45,000 tons, and for Japan, the Akagi and the Kaga, 53,800 tons, can not be replaced until twenty years from the date of completion. The Langley can be scrapped at any time and replaced. The British can replace the Hermes, Eagle, Furious and Argus at any time. The available tonnage—69,000 tons for the United States, 90,000 tons for Great Britain and 27,200 tons for Japan—can be used in carriers of any size that each country sees fit between 27,000 and 10,000 tons. The present plan of the United States is to utilize the available 69,000 tons by building 5 carriers of 13,800 tons each, giving the United States a total number of carriers of seven. The British could use their available tonnage of 90,000 tons to build 7 carriers of 12,850 tons each, giving them a total of 9 carriers, or a superiority in numbers of 2—or nearly 30 per cent.

Great Britain has had extensive experience with aircraft carriers, having used them during the war and since. Their carriers also vary in size from 10,850 tons to 22,600 tons, so that they should know from experience what tonnage is necessary for the most efficient aircraft carrier. The experience of the United States and Japan has been limited to the use of their carriers Lexington and Saratoga, and to the Akagi, Kaga and Hosho, which have been in commission less than two years. Neither the United States, Great Britain nor Japan has built up to the limit of the available aircraft carrier tonnage, but Great Britain has, as shown above, four experimental carriers which are efficient and two permanent ones, six in all. The United States has had aircraft carrier experience with the Langley for several years, but her speed is slow—only 14 knots, far below fleet speed—so that comparatively little experience could be gained by her use. Today Great Britain has six aircraft carriers in commission and operating; the United States has three; Japan three.

It will be seen that while the United States and Great Britain have parity as far as tonnage is concerned, the United States is able to have only seven aircraft carriers as compared with Great Britain's nine. This, of course, is due to the fact that the United States has used 66,000 tons for two vessels, and Great Britain only 45,000.

The value of aircraft carriers does not depend upon their size, as is the case with other war vessels. The value of a naval air force depends on the number of landing fields at sea, in order to have mobility and rapidity of operation. Only one airplane can take off or land upon a carrier's deck at a time, so that the speed of getting the airplane into the air depends directly upon the number of landing decks (aircraft carriers). There is also a great advantage in mobility; that is to say, in having numbers of landing fields available in different places at the same time. For instance, two aircraft carriers of 16,500 tons would be much more efficient than one aircraft carrier of 33,000 tons.

The Washington treaty permits the building of aircraft carriers below 10,000 tons. It is possible that action will be taken to prohibit entirely the building of aircraft carriers of 10,000 tons and below, or at least to limit in some way the tonnage that can be used for carriers of 10,000 tons and below. While an efficient aircraft carrier of 10,000 tons can be built, larger sizes are much preferable and more efficient within limits of cost and the total displacement allowed by any treaty.

Great Britain has 50 merchant ships which are suitable for and can make efficient aircraft carriers; the United States, 14, and Japan about the same number.

A Scarecrow Is Useless When the First Crow Alights at Its Feet.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MORALISTS agree that law-breaking usually is an evidence of stupidity.

Perhaps that is true in England, in Canada and in Wisconsin, where punishment for crime is swift and certain; but it isn't true in communities where criminals easily escape punishment—unless a want of respect for rules is proof of stupidity!

The world contains many people who are by nature resentful of authority and restriction, and as many more made rebellious by their environment or by hard experience.

These are outlaws in spirit, but their violation of law does not indicate stupidity.

On the contrary, it is their intelligence that encourages them to break laws under certain conditions—as under other conditions their intelligence would prompt them to be law-abiding.

In short, the shrewdness that enables a fox to avoid traps is the same quality that enables him to fare well in a land where no traps are set.

No intelligent child would disobey if it knew, beyond any possibility of doubt, that punishment would follow.

The ordinary child's disobedience is an evidence of intelligence, for it has learned by experience that threats of punishment are meaningless.

To obey in fear of punishment, when experience has demonstrated that punishment is rare, would be evidence of stupidity.

It is the reasonable hope of "getting away with it" that causes the normal child to disobey.

And it is the same reasonable hope that causes adults to violate laws.

There are crimes committed in the heat of passion, and crimes committed under stress of a temptation that takes away all thought of consequences; but among the millions who do not regard law as sacred in itself, and respect it only because force is behind it, not one in ten would disobey if punishment was sure and certain.

In fact, none but an imbecile or a man crazed by passion would break a law if he knew the penalty would be immediate and harsh.

To argue otherwise is to argue that a sane man would deliberately step on a snake.

It is society's neglect of duty that encourages crime, as parental neglect of duty encourages disobedience in children; and until that truth is recognized, all efforts to suppress crime will be futile.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE PASSING OF THE OLD-FASHIONED SODA FOUNTAIN.

A convention of carbonated beverage-makers was held the other day at which the transformation of the soda fountain from a soft-drink institution to a combination soup kitchen, delicatessen shop and all-hot stand was the chief topic of discussion.

• • • •

The opinion was unanimous that the soft-drink addict has been left high and dry by the change and that it is up to the soft-drink men to rescue him through the direct sale of bottle drinks.

• • • •

The change that has come over the old-fashioned soda fountain is bewildering. The old-time fountain specialized in sodas and the clerk was always a soda clerk and never a pastry chef, salad-mixer, apprentice waiter or grocer's assistant.

• • • •

He satisfied thirsts, not hunger, and there was no flavor of the church picnic, butcher's barbecue or Elks chowder party about his domain.

• • • •

No boy or girl ever went to a soda fountain for soups, sandwiches and stews. The knife and fork were no part of a drug store's equipment and if you went to the druggist and asked him to put you up a piece of blueberry pie, a slice of sponge cake or a Hungarian goulash you were merely ignored as either a practical joker or the village idiot.

• • • •

During the last few years the drug store soda fountain has closed as a soda fountain and opened as a cafeteria.

• • • •

It has become merely a place where you may get a nut sundae or a strawberry soda if luck is with you and there are not too many people ahead of you waiting for hot groceries.

• • • •

The modern soda fountain clerk may get away with a scant knowledge of soft drinks but he has got to understand plain and fancy cooking and hold a diploma in the art of slicing ham, bologna and tongue so thin that the ultimate consumer will have to depend entirely on the sense of sight rather than the sense of taste to determine what it is he is eating.

• • • •

He must be an exponent of the close shave rather than a demonstrator of expert meat-carving, and must know how to make each leaf of lettuce do a full day's work.

• • • •

The carbonated beverage men are right when they say they see an opportunity to corral the discontented soft-drink seeker. The drive to sell bottle drinks direct to the home with no sandwich man as a middleman has possibilities.

• • • •

After all, no man dying of thirst was ever saved by two slices of rye bread and a piece of roast beef invisible to the naked eye.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Minnesota Reader Says Northwest Is Misrepresented in the Senate.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I observe that the gentlemen in Washington who misrepresent us in the Senate from the Northwest, recently opposed the selection of Charles E. Hughes for Chief Justice.

We haven't heard much from them since last fall, when they were trying to stir up hatred and dissension between the industrial East and the agricultural West on the tariff issue. I presume when it was pointed out to them that they would destroy the farmers' richest market, they put on the "soft pedal."

The appointment of Mr. Hughes offered a vote-catching opportunity, so they thought, and they were not slow to take advantage of it. It would be difficult to find in all America a man so worthy and so well fitted for that high office—so rich with all the attributes that make a great man, gifted with a fine judicial mind, with a background of a long and distinguished public career, and a private life that can be taken as an inspiration. These men took the appointment of Mr. Hughes to again oppose Mr. Hoover's judgment in his selection. It gave them the occasion to again play to the galleries. Since Mr. Hoover took office the radical coterie have been bent on opposing him in every way—to get him in a hole; to bring discredit on his administration—that's their game, as it was with Mr. Coolidge.

Their motive for all this is obvious to me. They want to launch a third or radical party; to adopt the European style of politics, and I presume in the end a kind of Soviet system of government. Can any red-blooded American of those United States imagine us doing anything of that kind? The only thing this country has to show for the La Follette dynasty is an impractical, unworkable railroad valuation law that has cost the taxpayers over one hundred million dollars.

Over here politics is a game, where the political gamester stakes his wits and his political bag of tricks to catch votes that will keep him in office by hook or crook. As a result, our system, or our indifference to who is elected to office, will be our undoing as a great Nation. Our political office-holders are on a low plane. There are many sincere, good and capable men in public office, who are giving their all for their country. Let us help and pray for their success, but let us be done with the loud mouthed, blatant, demagogic, political shyster—out with him.

Why Are Railroad Employes Given Free Passes at Public Expense.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The present agitation over increased valuation of railroad properties, which would require increased rates in order to produce the dividend percentages that are allowed by law, brings to mind a question that has long puzzled me, but which you can perhaps answer.

Why are railroad employes allowed free transportation for themselves and their families? They are among the highest paid classes in the country today and can well afford to pay for tickets.

The employes of gas, electric light or telephone companies do not receive free service, nor do workers in department stores obtain goods free of charge. They do get a slight discount, and railroad workers should get the same, but when not traveling in the company's service a railroad employe is no more entitled to free transportation than any other person.

Just think of the poorly paid postoffice employes who are not even allowed 2 cents postage free.

EVAN WILCOX.

Congress Has No Difficulty in Boosting Its Own Salaries—Commissions Now Do All the Work.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It takes a long time and much congressional hot air before Government employes get enough to live on when they retire, if they depend altogether on retirement money, but our national legislators did not run up against such troublesome snags when they were increasing their own pay from $2,500 to $7,500 and, finally, to $10,000 a year. They also used another barrel of money to get additional office buildings. They are worth less money today, however, than when they were getting only $2,500 a year, because many of the important items which used to be handled by congressmen in person in former years are now turned over to numerous expensive commissions.

All that the average congressman does is to look wise and study up schemes to empty the Treasury of the taxpayers' hard-earned money. President Hoover is on the right track when he calls a halt to such extravagance, and the voters will applaud him.

Author of Article on Vassar Regrets Having Caused Pain to an Alumna.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am very sorry if the article entitled "Dizzy Days at Vassar," and the picture "The Good Old Days," caused pain to your correspondent. In searching for the amusing and bizarre pictures of early times I came upon this hazing scene said to be laid at Vassar College, and as just such an affair had occurred at my own very staid and dignified alma mater it seemed amusing to me and to those who saw the picture with me.

As your correspondent would have seen, if she had read my comment on the illustration, I disclaimed belief in the artist's sincerity, and laid the incongruity of his absurd effort to a too active imagination. Cameras had not then come into use, and illustrators were allowed a certain leeway, just as copy writers of all time were wont to convert a rumor into fact.

I regret having unwittingly offended a loyal daughter of that splendid institution among whose alumnae I have many dear friends.

MERRY DEL VAL DIES; FAMED AS CARDNIAL

Death Occurs in Rome When Heart Attack Follows Operation.

DENIED PAPACY TWICE

Rome, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Cardinal Merry del Val, former papal secretary of State, archpriest of St. Peters, who was twice forecast as "the first foreign Pope" at the conclaves of 1903 and 1914, but who both times failed to attain the necessary two-thirds vote of the College of Cardinals, died today. Death was caused by heart shock following upon an operation for appendicitis. He was 64 years old.

His passing ended one of the most remarkable ecclesiastical careers of recent times. A Spaniard by blood, but born an Englishman and for many years a resident of Italy, he was considered as the most likely to break the four centuries old precedent that an Italian must be elected Pope.

This was based upon not only his linguistic ability and gifts of statecraft but also upon the length of his tenure of the cardinal's office, to which high rank he was appointed by Pope Pius X in 1903 when he was only 38 years old.

Brother of Ambassador.

Tonight he lay, dressed in his crimson robes, on the bed wherein he died, in an upstairs room of his home facing Santa Marta Square, in Vatican City. The body will be transferred tomorrow to the throneroom below, where it will lie in state until the funeral services.

Mgr. Carlo Respighi, prefect of pontifical ceremonies, has asked for an audience with Pipe Pius tomorrow in order to take the orders of the head of the church in regard to the funeral. No relatives of the dead prelate reside in Rome. The nearest relative is the cardinal's brother, Marquis Alfonso Merry del Val, Spanish Ambassador to Great Britain.

Judge Angelina Rotta will open the cardinal's last will tomorrow to learn whether eh expressed any wish as to the place of burial.

Pops Is Griefstricken.

The fatal illness came upon Cardinal Merry del Val with suddenness. Only last Sunday he made a public appearance in St. Peter's when he baptized Maria Pia Persichetti Ugolini, grand niece of Pope Pius. He seemed then in the most robust health. But late yesterday he was stricken with appendicitis. For a time he responded to treatment, but finally his physicians decided an operation was necessary. The failure of his heart to withstand the shock of the operation was unexpected.

Last sacraments of the church were administered by Cardinal Mancini, treasurer of Vatican City. There also was a special benediction by Pope Pius, who showed unconcealed grief when he was informed of the death.

Cardinal Merry del Val was of a noble Spanish family. He was born in London, where his father had been sent on a diplomatic mission. He passed his early youth in Vienna, and came to Rome when his parent was named as Spanish Ambassador to the Holy See.

Was Hardy Mountaineer.

Here he entered the prieshood and began a career which was marked by brilliancy of achievement and rapidity of promotion. The accident of the death of Mgr. Volpini, secretary of the conclave, summoned to choose a successor to Leo XIII in 1903, led to Merry Del Val's being named for that place. He showed such tact that all of the cardinals were impressed, and when Giuseppe Sarto was elected Pope under the name of Pius X, he asked the young monsignor to act until a successor could be chosen to the retiring secretary of state, Cardinal Rampolla.

Merry Del Val's name was coupled with that of Pius X in the struggle against modernism which characterized the latter's pontificate. After the election of Benedict XV, Merry Del Val became secretary of the congregation of the holy office, and among other services prepared a revised edition of the "Index of Prohibited Books."

He was second in the order of cardinal priests to which all four American cardinals belonged and frequently led his colleagues in procession on ceremonial occasions. Like the present Pope, he was an enthusiastic mountaineer, and he usually passed his summers scaling summits in the Dolomites.

Deal Sending Revolution Documents Here Regretted by MacDonald.

London, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The recent sale of headquarters papers of the British army during the American Revolution to Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, of Philadelphia, was brought up in the House of Commons today by Charles Williams.

Mr. Williams asked Prime Minister MacDonald whether he proposed to take steps to restrain the sale of British historical documents to persons in foreign countries.

Mr. MacDonald replied that the question of taking such steps had been considered by successive governments "but I regret that no practical policy so far has been found to meet the varied cases that arise. I consider, however, that it is the duty of those possessng documents of national historical value to give the opportunity, should need arise, for their retention in this country."

To further questioning Mr. MacDonald regretted that the Rosenbach transaction had been completed and that nothing could be done to undo it.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THIS debunking craze that has suddenly seized the country and which is being applied to official Washington with striking force if not with vehemence—well, one sometimes wonders whether it would be so good as a permanent new order.

One should at least consider the matter seriously. It is a question whether the country would be as happy without its myths.

The late Mr. Barnum is credited with having created bunk in the first place, but it came to be definitely established as an essential moving force of the Nation's life during the World War. At that time, in fact, it acquired a loftier term and is now known as propaganda.

• • • •

IT struck us as a radical, if not an unfair thing to do, for the Democrats and Progressives to attack the recent White House economy warnings. Certainly they are not new.

Since time immemorial it has been the custom of members of the House, and senators to a lesser degree, to introduce bills involving expenditure of public money without any thought that they would ever pass, but introduced to keep in good with the people back home. And then periodically it has been the custom of the President to issue a warning against them, to warn against the raid on the Treasury.

If there was no such warning the members might press some of the bills at that, but this warning exonerates them, to say the least. They only have to cite it in explanation of why their bills did not pass. It is helpful to Democrats and Republicans alike.

• • • •

HOWEVER, that is not of what we had intended to speak. These disillusionments can be carried too far.

Now, at the outset of the naval parley in London one reads with pleasure and anger, according to the viewpoint, that the bar in St. James Palace or wherever the American delegates are staying had been closed in deference to them.

Ah, this was what made for good relations between countries, the drys averred, and the wets gritted their teeth and asserted that it was carrying things too far.

Then it was heard that the bar had been set up for the Americans in the first place, but that the delegates had complained and it had been removed. Ah, but our delegates were patriotic citizens, the drys chortled, men to be trusted with our naval destinies. And it makes no difference what the wets thought.

• • • •

FINALLY the true version, apparently, came across the cables.

The bar had always been a part of the hostelry, but had closed of its own volition because of lack of trade. That was still fine for the drys.

But there was a lack of trade because it was that kind of a bar, it develops. It was a bar that served only tea and soda pop. No wonder it closed.

However, this disillusionment does the country no good. First thing you know, it will develop there is no Santa Claus, and then Dr. Clarence True Wilson and Clarence Darrow will have to leave the chautauqua platforms.

FARM UNIT FIRM AS WHEAT DISPLAYS UPWARD TREND

After a conference with President Hoover, Secretary Hyde characterized the general wheat situation as "serious," but said he felt it was a storm that could be weathered. He declined to discuss the Senate resolution until the request embodied in it reached him in a formal communication.

The Secretary gave the first confirmation to reports that the wheat stabilization corporation had been active on the futures market. He expressed the opinion that the upward movement in prices today was the result of the Farmers National Grain Corporation buying 800 carloads of wheat and the Stabilization Corporation buying around 3,000,000 bushels in the open market. The first, he said, bought actual grain and only from cooperatives, whereas the Stabilization Corporation dealt "largely in May futures."

Mr. Hyde's confirmation broke the Farm Board's long silence on futures trading. It was said that unofficially the purchase of May futures was "probably double the figure quoted from Chicago." Reports, which Chairman Legge would not confirm Tuesday, said it was the general belief that the stabilization corporation had purchased above 5,000,000 bushels on the futures market.

It was made evident yesterday that secrecy which has been maintained was meant to facilitate unhampered operations, the results of which apparently were considered to be very satisfactory to the board.

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Hands that have signaled bids and offers while a frantic grain market sought to find solid bottom were raised in protest today against the latest decree in the Government's stabilization program.

Traders File Protests.

From four corners of the wheat belt were heard protests of traders, commissioners and elevator men against the rule that bars the noncooperative wheat owner from selling to the Farmers' National Grain Corporation at the enhanced price fixed by the Federal Farm Board for cash grain.

Grain men described the order as confiscatory. A Kansas elevator operator said the policy threatened to close his 50 country elevators.

The Omaha Grain Exchange, in an appeal telegraphed to Nebraska senators at Washington, asserted shippers were stocked with wheat handled for farmers' accounts which they could not dispose of because of the unanticipated edict restricting purchases of the big Government-sponsored corporations to affiliated cooperatives.

Future Markets Prices.

On the futures markets wheat sold about 12 cents under the price the Farmers' National Grain Corporation was paying cooperators for cash wheat.

Futures trading steadied down on the Chicago Board of Trade today, averaging higher and closing one-eighth of a cent a bushel lower to 2 cents higher than yesterday, although still around 54 cents cheaper than the season's peak.

Late in the day Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, after a conference with President Hoover, issued a statement asserting that he felt a serious situation on the Chicago Exchange had been averted by wheat purchases of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation and the grain stabilization. He ascribed the moderate advance of futures prices today to the buying of 3,000,000 bushels, mostly of May futures, by the stabilization corporation on the Chicago Board yesterday.

$21,562,500 Goes To "Save Chicago"

$50,000,000 Expected to Be Raised This Week to Pay Employes.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Another million and a quarter was added to the "save Chicago" community chest today, swelling the total of tax warrants sold to $21,562,500.

The civic campaign seeks to sell $74,000,000 worth of the tax certificates with which to carry on the city, county and school governments until the collection of taxes is resumed in July after a two-year hiatus caused by delayed reassessment.

Several other large subscriptions during the next 24 hours were anticipated and it was expected that at least $50,000,000 would be raised by the end of the week to assure the 43,000 public employes in Cook County a payday by Monday. Many of them have drawn no checks since before Christmas.

Board of Trade Plans Fete to Honor Barmard

A dinner in compliment to Jerome Barnard, who was chairman of the midwinter dinner committee of the Washington Board of Trade, will be given at the Willard Hotel Friday night by directors, officers and committee chairmen of the organization.

Other guests will include the District Commissioners, the Assistant Engineer Commissioners, Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and parks, and L. B. Wilson, president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

SCIENTIFIC SCHOOL SUPERVISION URGED

Texas Professor, in Talk to Educators, Explains Newest Methods.

WILBUR MAKES SPEECH

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Scientific supervision of instruction gradually is replacing haphazard supervision in the public schools of the United States, said Dr. Fred C. Ayer, professor of educational administration, University of Texas, addressing superintendents in cities under the 10,000 population class in the City Auditorium this afternoon.

The speaker gave examples of scientific supervision which involved the choice of definite objectives, the direct assignment of duties to and functions of different members of the supervisory staff, and the adoption of an annual program to be followed.

"The first improvement," he said, "has been increased clarity of statement, and experimental technique, which provided means of measurement. As a final result it has been possible in repeated instances to demonstrate that systematic supervision brings results distinctly superior to the former methods."

Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, told today's session that the world is advancing so fast scientifically, that political, social and economic mechanisms are breaking. How to adjust science to democracy is the task of the time.

"Much of education," he said, "has been to groove into the brain of a child the fixed thinking of the day. What we should seek is to keep plastic the mental processes of youth and adolescence. Our advances through science are so fast that our political, social and economic mechanisms are breaking. Our country is witnessing the incapacity to settle major problems by sheer political procedure. Educators must detect and train experts and while we must care for every one capable, the steady rise of the general level of education makes it more imperative that we discover those of exceptional genius."

Albert S. Cook, State superintendent of schools, of Baltimore, Md., presented a survey of the progress made in offering the conclusions of the 1930 year book.

A report of a study of the effects of prohibition on youth since 1920 was made by S. M. Brownell, E. M. Conklin, and P. T. Rankin, of Michigan, covering junior and senior high schools in the entire Detroit area. Their conclusions are that drinking is less of a problem and fewer pupils are using alcoholic drinks than in 1917, or before, but there is more stealing, more cases of sex delinquency, and, in general, more cases of delinquency serious enough to get into court.

U. S. Steel President Customs Fraud Victim

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Thomas Downey, a former convict, was in the police lineup today charged with swindling James A. Farrell and other notables by impersonating a customs agent.

His alleged swindling of Mr. Farrell, the United States Steel head, and other prominent men, was an old trick, police said. He would call at a rich man's home, represent himself as a customs agent and say there was a package held at the customs house for charges, police explained, and, after collecting $50, he would disappear.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The Rev. Samuel R. Ridout, of Boyertown, Pa., author of religious books and works on Sunday school instruction methods, died at the home of a friend, Frederick Timley, in Baltimore, a message to relatives today said.

He was a native of Annapolis, Md., and a graduate of the Theological Seminary at Princeton. For some weeks he was an ordained minister in the Presbyterian Church, but later established an independent religious group in Boyertown.

District Chief Will Reside in Georgetown

Mr. and Mrs. Taliaferro Move From 16th Street Apartment.

By JEAN ELIOT.

AFTER "playing with the idea" of migrating to Georgetown for at least two years, Commissioner and Mrs. Sidney Taliaferro moved yesterday from their apartment in Sixteenth street to the house at 3410 P street. Even now they are but staging a "tryout" in the charming old town, which looked down upon Washington when the new Capital was still a "city of magnificent distances"—and mud puddles—and which has of late years claimed an ever-growing group of prominent Washingtonians. They have taken their house, which is a fine old home engagingly remodeled and preserving its quaint charm, on a lease, but with the privilege of buying. And it seems highly probable that Georgetown will be their permanent home in future.

Their new home boasts two gardens, one at the side and a glorified back yard planted with the fine old trees and shrubs for which Georgetown gardens are famous. The house belongs to Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Keene, who were responsible for its restoration, but they have gone to New York to make their home and have leased it to Mr. and Mrs. Taliaferro.

Sidney Taliaferro, a Virginian by birth, practiced law in Washington before he was appointed District Commissioner and will doubtless resume his profession after he retires from a rather thankless job, which was recently offered to and refused by no less than six well-known Washingtonians. Mrs. Taliaferro was Miss Bessie Fulton, a Scotch girl, who grew up in Washington under the wing of an uncle and aunt, who made their home here.

A clever woman and charming, Mrs. Taliaferro has graced the role of Commissioner's wife and has a record of achievement in philanthropic and civic activities. As a member of the special gifts committee for the Community Chest, she worked like the proverbial Trojan in the recent drive and was one of the most successful members of the group captained by Mr. Newbold Noyes.

Kinkajou Ends 10-Month Trip Across Ocean

Mr. and Mrs. Outhwaite Put in at Nassau After Cruise.

Cruising aboard the Kinkajou, a 90-foot yacht, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Outhwaite, of New York, have put in safely at Nassau in the Bahamas after a most adventurous ten months' voyage. Since sailing from New York on June 29, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Borden, they have visited England, Spain, West Africa, the Canary Islands, Madeira and the West Indies. And after a few days rest they will set sail for St. Augustine, Fla., where they have a winter home.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Outhwaite was Miss Georgia Schofield, of Washington, daughter of the late Lieut. Gen. Schofield, and a belle here in her girlhood days.

The voyage, according to Mrs. Outhwaite, was most thrilling despite the fact that they experienced but little difficulty with the vessel or weather. Only one mishap is recorded on their log, when the yacht ran foul on a reef near Cat Island, one of the West Indies.

This was the Kinkajou's second transatlantic voyage—and she is smaller than Columbus' famous flag ship. Sailing from Draker, French Senegal, on the Coast of Africa to the Barbadoes, they established a new ocean-going record for vessels of the tonnage of the Kinkajou. They made the trip in fourteen days.

Mrs. William Morgan Shuster entertained a party of eight at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Navy Sponsors Are Presented To First Lady

Mrs. Hoover Is Hostess to Society at the White House.

Mrs. Hoover received the members of the Society of Sponsors of the United States Navy yesterday morning. This organization usually holds its annual meeting in Washington at the time of the Army and Navy reception at the White House, attending in a body, but the pleasant hospitality of yesterday was arranged as a substitute since this year the reception will not be held until later than the by-laws of the sponsors permit their assembling for their yearly conference.

The annual luncheon of the Society of Sponsors, held at the Willard, followed their visit to the White House. Guests of honor were the Acting Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Arthur L. Willard and the Bishop of Washington and Mrs. James E. Freeman. After pronouncing the blessing, Bishop Freeman gave a stirring talk on patriotism. Admiral Willard, commandant of the Washington Navy Yard, also spoke, as did Rear Admiral George Rock, chief of the construction division, whose subject was new developments in safety devices for submarines. And Secretary Jahncke gave a brief word of greeting.

Mrs. Russell Langdon, of Orange, N. J., president of the Society of Sponsors—made up of women who have christened Navy vessels—presided. In the company of over 50 present were: Mrs. Frederick C. Hicks and Mrs. George Rock, vice presidents; Mrs. R. E. Norman, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Reynolds Hall, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Arthur Sutcliffe, of New York, Mrs. Brooke Lee, Mrs. Albert Stahl and Miss Virginia Hunt, all trustees.

Others present were Mrs. Austin Kautz, Mrs. Albert Matthews, Mrs. Nathan Goff, of West Virginia; Mrs. Herbert Howard, Mrs. Hewitt Wells, Mrs. Eugene Bennett, of New York; Mrs. Charles Tudor, of Cincinnati; Miss Belle Bagley, sister of Mrs. Josephus Daniels, whose husband was Secretary of the Navy in the Wilson administration, and Miss Nannie Barney, who has just completed 40 years of service in the Navy Department library.

Today Mrs. Rock will entertain the sponsors at tea following a visit to the Arlington Radio Station to flash a message to Mr. Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, in London.

Word has been received in Washington of the marriage of Miss Betty Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal H. Bailey, of Coral Gables, Fla., and Mr. Jackson Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson Turner, of Washington. The wedding took place in Coral Gables on Tuesday, after which Mr. and Mrs. Turner left for New York on a short wedding trip. On their return to Florida they will make their home in Miami.

A tea bridge for the benefit of All Souls' Unitarian Church will be held in Pierce Hall on Friday afternoon and evening, March 7. Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

A smart woman was noted the other day at the Ritz wearing this printed crepe silk in Russian blue tones.

The jabot frill was caught at left shoulder with gardenia. It fell in soft ripples in most becoming flattering fashion.

It is decidedly individual. It's an economically choice, for it can be worn for street as well.

The bodice is slightly bloused in all-around styling and emphasizes the flat hips achieved through the wide girdle that is fitted with darts at the right side that is cut quite deep. It assumes a sharp diagonal line both at the front and at the back with ends shirred and caught at left hip.

The skirt shows interesting fullness in all-around box-plaits that hang so sleekly straight and flare only in motion.

Style, No. 8144, is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

It's very youthful in Paquin red silk crepe.

Navy blue crepe silk, black and white printed crepe silk, Patou tan wool crepe, terra-cotta light weight tweed mixture and pimento green crepe marocain.

There are hundreds of ways in which Mueller's macaroni products can be prepared, all delicious. Send for our book of recipes illustrated in color. No cost or obligation. Just write to C. F. Mueller Co., Jersey City, N. J.

"As Good as I Ever Made"

"I prided myself on my Egg Noodles. I always thought they were the most delicious that could be made. But when I tasted Mueller's—

"THERE are several millions more like me in America.

"Each of us is the real head of her own household, no matter what our husbands say in their income-tax affidavits.

"Many of us look different, but we are alike in the main. We are food specialists—always on the lookout for something tastier and more nourishing for our families. We are the housewives of America.

"And when I taste anything that I like as well as my own make, I'm sportsman enough to say so.

"There's a tempting deliciousness in Mueller's Egg Noodles that I'm never going to improve on by experimenting all my days. And I've never seen my own boys and girls eat noodles more heartily before."

Yes, that's all true, Mrs. Housewife, but the taste is only part of it. Of course, the appetizing goodness will make the youngsters come back for more, but the best part of it is that each helping will build muscle and bone into their young, growing bodies more effectively than any other food that you can prepare so quickly and so easily.

FLAVOR

The taste and lightness of Mueller's Egg Noodles comes from the special scientific methods used in making them, which you, yourself, as an expert noodle maker, would recognize as being fundamentally correct. The effect of these processes is very noticeable in the delightful "fluffiness" obtained by nine minutes' boiling.

NOURISHMENT

The healthfulness of these tasty Egg Noodles is due to the food elements that enter into them—selected fresh eggs and a special blend of choice flour. Not a bit of artificial coloring is used. Ideal results are obtained by using the wide noodles for main dishes, and the fine for soups.

TIME-SAVING

Think of the time you'll save and the trouble you'll avoid by "letting Mueller make them." Once you've tasted Mueller's Egg Noodles—once you've served them to your family—you'll find it a pleasure to "quit making your own."

Ask your grocer for Mueller's Egg Noodles. He has them or can get them for you.

$40,000 Extortion Exacted for Return of Pershall Arouses Citizens.

FAMILY HINDERS POLICE

St. Louis, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Aroused over the kidnaping of Charles W. Pershall, wealthy chain grocer and banker, of Granite City, Ill., in the St. Louis district, who is reported to have been forced to pay extortionists $40,000 for his freedom, a group of Granite City business men today called a mass meeting to talk over the crime situation.

The meeting was called for Friday night in the Granite City Masonic Temple. It is sponsored by 25 business men, including William Champion, president of a local bank and a close friend of Pershall.

"We've been held up, bulldozed and kidnaped long enough," said Champion, acting spokesman for the group. He did not say what is to be done about it.

Authorities marked time today in their investigation into the Pershall case, which was one of five abductions for ransom in the St. Louis district in the last three months. Police Chief Johnson, of Granite City, said officers are hindered because the Pershall family refuses to discuss the case and will not even admit there was a kidnaping, despite a confession by George O. Blockburger, bondsman and real estate dealer, that he acted as an unwilling go-between for the kidnapers and the Pershall family in raising the ransom, and that he delivered the $40,000. Blockburger and Herman Tipton, gangster, arrested as a suspect, are under heavy bonds.

Pershall disappeared last Wednesday and reappeared 46 hours later. His son, Samuel Pershall, said today that when his father returned he said he had been on a vacation trip to Hot Springs, Ark. "I had an idea what had happened, but he didn't tell me and I didn't want to know," the younger Pershall told newspapermen.

Reached in Fort Worth, Tex., today, where the elder Pershall went after leaving here Sunday, accompanied by other members of his family, the grocer-banker refused to discuss the kidnaping other than to say that if his family paid anything in the way of a reward for his return he knew nothing of it.

Chief Johnson said today the Granite City Police Department is amply prepared to protect Patrolman Reimer, whose tip led to exposing of the kidnaping, against reported threats against his life by the kidnapers.

BUILDING SERVICE COMBINE ADVOCATED

Efficiency Bureau Favors Reorganization of District Inspectors.

SINGLE HEAD IS URGED

Complete reorganization of the District Building and related inspection service and their grouping under a general superintendent of inspection was recommended by the United States Bureau of Efficiency in a report submitted to the District Commissioners yesterday.

The report was transmitted by T. F. Murphy, assistant chief of the bureau, and was accompanied by a request that the Commissioners "inform this bureau as soon as possible as to the action taken after you have had an opportunity to study the subject matter and recommendations presented."

The report was signed by R. J. Queenin, investigator, and D. P. Evans, chief investigator, and comprised 55 pages.

The superintendent of inspection proposed in the report is a new office and would be filled, under the Efficiency Bureau's plan, as soon as the properly qualified person is found for the job.

Under the superintendent would be grouped the building, electrical, plumbing, elevator and steam boiler inspection services.

The bureau disapproved the present practice of permitting builders to hire their own inspectors from among men whose qualifications have been approved by the building inspector. This practice was developed by Col. John W. Oehmann, building inspector, who said that it is a makeshift to provide against the existing inadequate force of inspectors on the District pay rolls.

The bureau proposed to substitute inspectors paid by the District and would increase the inspection fees all along the line by whatever amount is needed to pay for the inspection required on any building operation. The report also recommended that the salaries and qualifications of inspectors be raised. There are not now, it declared, the proper minimum requirements for employes of the building inspection department. It also proposed that the present fee system in vogue in the boiler inspector's office be abolished. All of the inspectors and employes of the general inspection service would be full time, full salaried employes of the District under the bureau's plan.

The report proposed several changes in existing arrangements, such as transfer of the task of inspecting fire escapes, from the building inspector to the fire marshal, and the transfer of the electrical inspection service from the electrical department to the inspection service. Legislation prohibiting electric wiring and other wiring except by competent licensed electricians also was proposed in the report.

On the Rules of Traffic
By WILLIAM ULLMAN

The thought that the engine of an automobile is a good brake is recognized in the traffic regulations of the District of Columbia.

Such recognition is to be found in the fact that coasting with the gears in neutral is strictly forbidden. It is required that the clutch be engaged and the gears in mesh except when changing gears, just before stopping, and when being towed.

Example: A driver is approaching an intersection which is showing a red light against him. He has plenty of momentum to carry him the remaining 75 yards, so he slips the gear-shift lever into neutral and coasts up to the point at which he will stop. He has committed a breach of the traffic regulations.

Wife Asks Maintenance Of Reputed U.S. Worker

John A. Demorest, of 713 Fern street northwest, said to be a disbursing officer in the employ of the Department of Labor, was sued yesterday in District Supreme Court by his wife, Mrs. Mary M. Demorest, of Takoma Park, Md., for maintenance.

The wife tells the court that on December 1 last her husband told her there was no power on earth which could take from him his freedom. She states that her husband has deserted her, and that although he gives her half of his salary it is not sufficient to support her and her two children. Attorney George E. Sullivan appears for the wife.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 23.

Deductions for depreciation form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers, and are the subject of frequent inquiries. "Depreciation" is defined as "a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence."

In claiming a deduction for depreciation, several fundamental principles must be observed. The deduction must be confined to property actually used in trade, business, profession, or vocation. In general, it applies to the taxpayer's capital assets—buildings, machinery, &c.—the cost of which can not be deducted as a business expense.

Depreciation may be claimed on all business property, which includes not only buildings and machinery of a permanent character, but automobiles, farm tractors, mine and mill equipment, office furniture and books. A lawyer, doctor, or other professional man may not charge off as a current expense the cost of a library used wholly in his profession, this being a capital expenditure and the library a capital asset. But he may deduct an allowance of depreciation, based upon the useful life of the library.

school they had constructed a cave for play. Earlier in the afternoon they had dug deeper into the earth to make it larger and this, together with the rain, is believed to have weakened the cave.

When Lawrence was brought to the surface his mouth, eyes and ears were filled with sand.

Interviewed at his home, he said that when all the earth fell on him he tried to get up but was unable to move.

"So I knew that I was going to die. And then everything went black," he explained.

The cave had been used for several weeks by the children of the neighborhood. Sometimes groups of four or five had played in their improvised grotto. Capt. Bassord declared that the quick wit of Harold Bacon undoubtedly saved Lawrence's life.

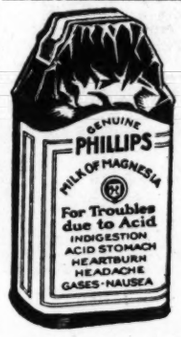
Wife and Husband File Suit in Train Injuries

Two suits for aggregate damages of $30,000 were filed yesterday in District Supreme Court against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co.

Minnie E. Goldstein, of 404 Varnum street northwest, seeks $25,000 for alleged personal injuries, said to have been suffered last October 5 when she fell in a passenger coach while making the trip from Washington to Laurel, Md. The woman states that the train jerked to a stop and that she was permanently injured. Her husband, Benjamin H. Goldstein, of the same address, seeks $5,000 damages for loss of his wife's services and medical expenses. Attorney Joseph J. Malloy appears for the plaintiffs in both actions.



When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

Too many of our meals are lacking.

Lacking in what?

"Every time I go to the Browns for a meal, I leave the table not entirely satisfied," said a man to his friend. "Why is it . . . they seem to set a good table."

"I agree with you," replied his friend, "and I'll tell you what their meals lack. It's sugar."

Nothing takes the place of sugar in satisfying the appetite. And it is natural that our systems crave sugar. We have learned to expect it in fruits and vegetables, which, if fresh and ripe, abound in original sweetness. But too often, these foods reach us lacking in sugar. A clever cook senses this and replaces it in cooking, or tops the meal with a sweet dessert.

As a matter of fact, sugar is an essential in the diet. Not only for the energy it supplies, but for its value in making essential foods more palatable. Dieticians will tell you that it is correct to add a dash of sugar to carrots, peas, spinach, cabbage and tomatoes while they are cooking. Such flavored foods are eaten with keen relish.

It is your duty to see that you—your family—has sugar in the correct amount. And it can be judiciously introduced in the diet—as a flavor and in wholesome desserts. The Sugar Institute.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A NINETEEN-GUN salute could be distinctly heard over the radio at about 5 o'clock Tuesday while the Army Band was playing at Washington Barracks. The salute was being fired in honor of a visit by the Secretary of War.

Last Monday night's was the final broadcast in the first series of the American Home Banquets, but the response was so great that the company has decided to continue them indefinitely.

THIS is the thirty-ninth birthday of David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America. At the age of 9—a Russian immigrant—David did not know a word of English. Today Mr. Sarnoff is one of the best speakers of the industry.

The N.B.C. program makers seemed to have nodded when they scheduled two grand operas to follow one another over WRC next Thursday night, "Faust" at 10 o'clock, and "Aida" an hour later.

Ever since the Radio Commission banquet those who attended have wondered how Fred Wile, who spoke to them from London, knew who was present. The fact is Wile had cabled that afternoon for a list of those expected to be present and then surprised the commissioners, Martin Codel, and several others by calling them by name, pretending he could see them.

However, he missed it on Vice President Curtis, who, in the last minute, did not attend the party.

WILL ROGERS will receive $15,000 for a 12-minute talk over a chain of midwestern stations, it is reported.

Jane Interprets the MODE

The daughter of Comtesse de Polignac, matron of honor at Mlle. de Peloux's wedding, wore white moire. (Courtesy of Phillippe at Gaston, Paris).

Paris, Feb. 26.

ARE you actually into your long skirt yet? If you are, there is one more thing in its favor that has come to your attention, something you never suspected in the sad, sad beginning when you feared that long skirts would, while undeniably elegant, hamper your freedom—and that is that actually you have a great deal more freedom of leg movement and consequently a great deal more gracefulness of carriage solely because you are not hampered by a "short" skirt.

There are two things about the short skirt that were unpleasant—one was that they hugged the knees and made walking ugly and awkward; the other was that they necessitated continual subconscious attention in the matter of keeping them pulled down when sitting. Fuller skirts, slightly long, don't do either of these two things.

And now that we can walk unhampered by material confining our knees, now that the subconscious burden of keeping our skirts pulled down is lifted, the whole effect is one of gracious relaxation of the entire body. The new mode is aiding and abetting loveliness!

• • • •

No, it's not a gadget and it's not silly—you should have a special kind of bag that hangs on a hook or the closet rod, in which to keep your fox fur. And it's very easy to make—just a couple of embroidery hoops, a slide-fastening, a hunk of material and this week's illustrated leaflet, for which you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

• • • •

Every now and then, just sort of occasionally, one would see a collar and cuff set of beads—'twas Jenny especially who favored this. But this spring and summer they appear quite a bit more frequently, enough so to warrant supposing that they are going to be of style interest and importance, and not be just in the novelty class. And they are not always very plain beads, either—in fact, they are sometimes more in the nature of costume jewelry, being made of crystal and cabochons, onyx and amber.

• • • •

The Couturiers.

There is one couturier in Paris who specializes in men's clothes, a man's tailor, and just to be inconsistent, or consistent, whichever you prefer, he makes sports dresses for women. The name is David, but it is a French house and David in French is pronounced "dah-veed." The "ah" is pronounced like the "a" in father.

• • • •

And then here is the dress of the matron of honor at the wedding of the famous lady whose gown I sketched for you yesterday. The lady was not lacking in titles herself, being the daughter of the Countesse Polignac. This dress was of white moire, and very quietly rich and elegant in line and Phillippe et Gaston execution.

Au Revoir!

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Digging Up the Bones."

DEAR MISS MacDONALD: I have been reading your column for quite a while and I would like your advice on a matter which I believe is almost exclusive in the way of there being others.

I met a girl at a party, fell in love and started going with her. She was already going with a fellow, but she went with us both. She had been very fond of this boy for nearly three years, but yet she went with me. About six or seven months ago, the other one stopped seeing her and we started going together in earnest.

About two months ago we were secretly married, and we certainly were happy. I love her and she has told me for five months that she loves me.

However, nearly every time the other fellow happens to enter our conversation, she gets into a pensive mood and always takes the part of the other one because she claims she pities him. I love her, or I wouldn't have married her, and although we do not live together, and nobody knows we are married, we are just as close to each other's hearts as my father and mother are to each other.

Do you think she loves this other boy, or is she just basking in past memories? And should she do this? What should I do? I will watch for your answer. I am 21, she is 20.

"A. R."

P. S.—Most of our arguments arise over "him."

Why do you persist in keeping the other man in her memory by constantly discussing him? No woman-girl can help feeling regret and even remorse for suffering caused some man who loved her, and the more sensitive the woman, the more deeply she feels for the man who believing she was his, suddenly found himself forced to relinquish her. You won. Are you not satisfied to be the victor, without being the persecutor?

Men have much to answer for in the miserable bickerings their jealousies beget. Every reticence is torn aside, every sensibility outraged. And at last a woman feels that indeed she decided in favor of the wrong man. The rejected lover looms as the real hero, considerate, generous, injured. "Each man kills the thing he loves," and most men kill love through jealousy and the miserable trail that follows in the wake. A jealous man seems bent upon showing how truly disagreeable and unmanly he can be. And the woman is utterly helpless. What can she do or say when every word or act will be pounced upon and misinterpreted? Even tears are construed as tears for her best lover, as indeed in time they really are.

"Basking in past memories," perhaps. Memories of a man who was to be all things desirable, who vowed love eternal, who won, and who promptly dissolved and was replaced by a jealous, prying, suspicious husband.

Stop this grave-robbing. Stop digging up what is past and done with. Stop making your one-time rival seem in perspective a hero and a prince compared to you. Be a gentleman. Concentrate on how to be worthy of your wife's love, and let the men who were her lovers rest in peace.

William Dodge was elected vice president, Mary Stallings, secretary; Warren Hayes, Edwin Turner, Wilson Dawson and Robert Carnahan, cheer leaders; Kennedy Irelan, eighth semester representative; Alfred Reichman, seventh semester, and Charles Mourhess third semester.

In the sixth, fifth, fourth, second and first semesters, where no candidate received a majority, elections will be held again on Friday.

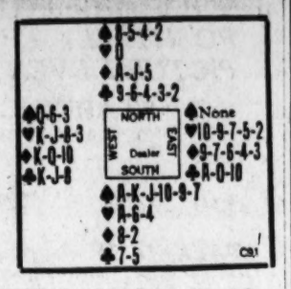
WORK ON BRIDGE

INTERESTING HANDS I HAVE MET.



THE above hand was played in a game of Contract Bridge. South started by bidding two Spades; West doubled, North bid four Spades and after two passes West again doubled—this time for business, of course.

If the hand had been played at Auction Bridge, South would have started with a bid of three Spades, which West would consider too high for an Aceless hand to double informatorily, and East would probably feel too weak to bid.

THE PLAY.

In the Contract game, West started by leading the King of Diamonds, and Declarer appreciated that in view of West's second double, West probably had the Queen of Spades and two guards. It looked also as if Declarer would lose one Diamond and two Clubs, and consequently fail to make game. His best chance of avoiding this seemed to be by playing a small Diamond from dummy on the first trick. It looked as if this would give South a needed discard if West continued Diamonds or shifted to Hearts or Spades. In view of the length of the club suit in dummy, it did not seem probable that West would shift to that suit.

As it happened, West, an exceptionally keen player, was able to diagnose the reason for dummy's Diamond duck; it must be that South had only one more Diamond and needed a discard. It was obvious that the discard could not be needed in the Heart suit as North could ruff all the Hearts after the first, and it was hardly probable that South had only one Heart. Consequently, West determined that a Club discard was what South needed and that Clubs should be led. It took nerve to lead King from King-Jack, with five cards of the suit in dummy, but West did it and the lead produced the tricks needed to save game for the adversaries.

BRIDGERS, ATTENTION!

Mr. Work has prepared a splendid 48-page booklet entitled, "Playing Problems," which presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with the reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reasons for such answers in complete detail, all written in Mr. Work's clear and interesting style.

This booklet, "Playing Problems," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed, stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet.. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

NOW that the tumult and the shouting have died, in so far as the immediate local introduction of Grandeur Film is concerned, it begins to look as if this "Happy Days" business, coming in to the Fox with a special midnight performance Friday, might be a right sizable sort of entertainment in whatever dimension the powers that be choose to project it.

There is not sufficient time left in this habitually short Wednesday to stop to count the roster of principals announced for this pretentious revue, but if I had catalogued them on a Burroughs I should say that there are an even 34. Out of this number I could prattle on at great length concerning at least 31, but what would be the use, since they are all Fox contract players about whom you probably know more than I? Three of the crowd, however, could stand a line or two, perhaps.

This fellow, Jack Smith, "the whispering barytone," for example, has never before been in any picture shown on a Washington screen, to the best of my knowledge and belief. He nevertheless numbers a great many friends in the Capital by reason of earlier appearances in person at the Metropolitan, both before and following his European triumphs at the Kit Kat Club, in London and elsewhere.

Jack used to be a song-plugger for Irving Berlin, specializing in radio broadcasts when that was the smart and exclusive thing to do. One night he presented himself at WJZ in New York so hoarse he could scarcely sing a note—upon any attempt at power he merely croaked, and so attempted to beg off, but he had been advertised so that wouldn't do.

To cope with the emergency the studio manager decided to place Jack's lips almost against the microphone, have him purr his numbers into it and trust to luck that the control room would be able to do the rest with the amplifiers.

It worked so well that Jack has been a "whispering barytone" ever since.

Then there is this lad James J. Corbett, one of the interlocutors in the minstrel show sequence. I do not recall ever having seen him in a motion picture, silent or talking—which does not at all mean that he has never been in one. Maybe there was a Vitaphone Variety with Neil O'Brien, at that. But a very vivid recollection of him does stick in my mind as interlocutor of the old Cohan and Harris Minstrels, probably one of the greatest all-star aggregations in the history of burnt cork.

The "high yaller" of the company was none other than Julian Eltinge, wearing a coat of light walnut paint; the chief funster was George "Honey Boy" Evans—later succeeded by Raymond Hitchcock—and the principal musical comedians were the Waterbury Brothers and Tenney. And over this stellar galaxy presided Mr. James J. Corbett. So I imagine he ought to be fairly at home and passably good in his part in "Happy Days."

The third I anxiously await is George Olsen—with his band. Never since the week in Washington when they were trying to build a spot for him somewhere except in intermission with Eddie Cantor in "Kid Boots," have I ceased to tune him in, when possible.

Another offering of more than ordinary promise is "The Case of Sergeant Grischa," starring Betty Compson, supported by Chester Morris, at the RKO-Keith Theater next week. Herbert Brenon is said to have directed this opus into no less than a screen masterpiece.

In fact, the entire line-up for the ensuing week bears rich promise. To wit: Metropolitan, Richard Barthelmess, in "Son of the Gods," second week; Palace, Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen in "The Dangerous Paradise;" Earle, Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook in "The Laughing Lady;" Rialto, Glenn Tryon in "Dames Ahoy;" Fox, "Happy Days;" RKO-Keith, Betty Compson and Chester Morris in "The Case of Sergeant Grischa;" Columbia, Greta Garbo in "Anna Christie," second week.

The Metropolitan and Rialto begin their bills Friday; the Earle and, this week, the Fox, Friday midnight.

By the way, what are you doing for Tuesday's sunburn?

Georgetown Law Class Will Hold Third Prom

Georgetown Law School will hold its third annual prom tomorrow night at the Mayflower Hotel at 10 o'clock. The plan of having a general law school prom rather than separate class affairs originated about three years ago when the success of the first such affair resulted in a continued policy.

The executive committee this year consists of Eugene M. Thore, chairman; Charles P. Nugent, W. O'Neil, D. J. McLaughlin, W. P. Bowers, A. T. Albert, A. E. Voglewood, J. T. McTigue and W. T. McCue. Chairmen of the other committees are: C. P. Nugent, finance; E. Tamm, favors; T. Roerkel, music; T. Mooney, hotel; C. Zacharias, guests, and J. Winters, publicity.

Morton Wilner Wins Class Cutting Privilege

Morton H. Wilner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Wilner, 2603 Connecticut avenue northwest, is one of the 76 students of the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce at the University of Pennsylvania who have been accorded unlimited cut privileges this year as a reward for having achieved a general average of 85 per cent or better in their studies. During the remainder of this academic year Mr. Wilner and his colleagues will attend their classes only when they feel inclined to do so.

Mr. Wilner is enrolled in the pre-law group of the Wharton School. In addition to his scholastic ability he is captain of baseball, varsity quarter back on the football team, was secretary of the junior class and is a member of the Friars Senior Honor Society and Phi Sigma Delta Fraternity.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

SAUCES.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

There is a great variety of sauces which can be served with meat or vegetables and are used in making sandwich fillings. In a general way, they are made like milk soups, except that more flour is used. Two tablespoons of flour and two tablespoons of butter or other fat are usually allowed for each cup of liquid. This liquid may be water, broth, tomato juice, milk, cream, the water in which vegetables have been cooked, or a combination of two or more of these.

TOMATO SAUCE.

1½ cups tomato juice
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or other fat
1 slice onion
Sprig parsley
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Add the seasonings to the tomato juice, and simmer until the liquid has been reduced to about 1 cup. Melt the fat in a saucepan, stir in the flour, and when this is smooth add the strained tomato juice. Cook for a few minutes or until smooth and thick. The tomato juice may be used plain, omitting the first cooking with the seasonings.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"PISCES."

IF February 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a. m. to noon, from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 6 a. m. to 8 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m.

The influence of Neptune will be felt on this date, and a great deal of uncertainty hovers over the outcome of material affairs. Your pride may suffer a fall, but an awakening may broaden and sweeten your outlook. Experience may be an excellent but severe teacher.

The child born on this February 27 will have a most practical nature, and will be lacking in both a sense of humor and in imagination. It will have an iron will which will carry it over most of its difficulties. Force and not tact will be its weapon.

Every ounce and every atom of your being throbs with vital energy, while you are alive you make a struggle to keep alive. An active and an adventurous existence is your choice. You are not afraid of failures, but you are afraid of falling into a rut or of being bored by conditions or surroundings. You are more anxious for knowledge than for fame or wealth, not the knowledge learned from books, but the education gained from travel and adventure. Your interests are extremely varied, and you will never tie yourself up to either a place or thing. You have decided likes and dislikes, but are not easily prejudiced. You can find "cronies" in people from all classes of life. You have a heterogeneous bunch of friends, all of whom are loyal admirers of you.

You started life on the sunny side of the road, and you have a gay courage which will hold you there. You will meet with both good luck and bad luck, but circumstances will never rob you of your cheery and optimistic nature. Life will test you, disappoint you and please you. You speak out, work hard, laugh and fear nothing.

Successful people born February 27.
1. Samuel Cony, lawyer.
2. Howard Crosby, clergyman.
3. John C. Gilbert, actor.
4. Russell A. Alger, soldier.
5. Henry W. Longfellow, poet.
6. Horatio R. Storer, surgeon.

TELL FOLKS how easy it is to LOSE FAT

Everybody knows how excess fat has disappeared in late years. Men and women in every circle prove that figures need not stay abnormal. Youth and beauty, health and vitality can come back.

All must realize that, in late years, some new factor is employed. Fewer people now rely on abnormal exercise or diet. Modern science has proved that most fat people suffer from an under-active gland. Physicians now, in treating obesity, seek to correct that deficiency.

The chief factors are embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous laboratory. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in every circle there are slender people who can tell you what they do.

The method is scientific and well known. Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for the good results. No starvation, though moderation helps. The purpose is to help out an under-active gland, which should turn food into fuel and energy.

Go test this well-tried method. In a little while results will tell you what Marmola means to you. If you see the excess fat go and new vitality return, go on until the change is completed. Then, in fairness to your friends, tell them, as users have done for so long. Start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

GOVERNOR TO HEAR FINAL SNOOK PLEA

Condemned Man's Counsel to Seek Stay of Execution and Commutation.

DOCTOR "UNCONCERNED"

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—In a last effort to save Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio State University professor, from the electric chair for the murder of Miss Theora K. Hix, a student, his attorneys were preparing tonight to go before Gov. Cooper at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

At a conference with the governor and the State board of clemency the attorneys will ask a stay of execution and commutation of sentence to life imprisonment, they said.

In the appeal of Dr. Snook to the United States Supreme Court the court yesterday refused a review leaving the governor as the last hope for the condemned man.

E. C. Ricketts, of Columbus, one of the defense attorneys, had arranged a conference today with the governor on an application for a stay of the execution but later asked the governor to consider the entire case tomorrow.

Mr. Ricketts then went to death row in Ohio Penitentiary and conferred for more than an hour with the condemned man. Mr. Ricketts' only statement on leaving the death cell was that "Dr. Snook is unconcerned."

While the attorneys were seeking a way to stop the electrocution, Warden P. W. Thomas was going ahead with plans for carrying out the sentence.

The warden would not say at what hour the execution would take place. Under the law he is authorized to carry out the penalty at any time from 12:01 a. m. to 11:59 p. m., Friday, February 28, the date fixed by the Ohio Supreme Court.

REBEL MINE GROUP DRAWS LEWIS' FIRE

Warns Members Not to Attend Rival Convention Called at Springfield.

DECLARES IT ILLEGAL

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Members of the International executive board of the United Mine Workers of America today adjourned after a session of two days and returned to their various districts to prepare for the thirty-first constitutional convention of the union, which is to meet in Indianapolis, March 10.

Officials of the union said they had not received word from Springfield, Ill., of the compromise proposed by an Illinois group which has called a convention to meet on the same day as that set for the convention in Indianapolis.

John L. Lewis, International president, said, however, that no attention would be given to the compromise offer. The persons who called the convention to meet in Springfield had no standing in the union, he said.

President Lewis sent a letter today to officers and members of the union warning them against attending the convention at Springfield. The letter characterized the call issued by the miners' group as "a dual movement in violation of the laws of the United Mine Workers of America."

At the short meeting of the executive board only routine matters were discussed other than the decision to call the international convention. At the forthcoming convention, the matter of wage scales and working agreements will be discussed fully.

Union officials said that a new wage agreement for the anthracite district will probably be negotiated shortly after the convention in Indianapolis.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Television.

O. S. W.—The writer is desirous of learning the names of the television companies whose stock is on the market, the present value of the different stocks, and your ideas as to the future of the companies and of this business?

Answer—The stock of the Jenkins Television Corporation, listed on the New York Produce Exchange and Los Angeles and Boston Stock Exchanges, is the one outstanding stock of the television companies. It is currently selling around $3 per share. Despite rumors that radio buying is currently being withheld in the expectation that television will soon become a commercial reality, the writer is unimpressed with the near term prospect for a television set of practical general public consumption.

Considerable strides have been made in this direction during the past year, it is true, but present instruments are as yet only crude and limited reproducers of visual entertainment, and can only be compared with the radio of eight or nine years ago. Jenkins Television will, it is reported, place a "kit" on the market in the very near future, but the nature of this project is concedelly an experiment and is being placed in the hands of the public purely for experimental purposes.

Starrett Corporation.

Miss M. E. H.—Will you kindly give me your opinion on Starrett Corporation preferred? I purchased the stock at $49.50 several months ago. Is it good to hold?

Answer—Even though the stock is now selling substantially under the price at which you bought it, in the opinion of the writer it should be held, considering that on the basis of current $3 annual dividends on the issue the yield on your investment is around 6 per cent. The preferred dividend is being comfortably earned.

The company reported in 1928 construction work representing over $25,000,000, and at latest account had over $29,000,000 of such work in process. Including work in progress, under contract and for which negotiations have been concluded, over $50,000,000 of construction work was recently reported to be on hand.

General Baking.

H. S.—Will you please give me your opinion on General Baking preferred and common stocks?

Answer—The preferred is regarded as a conservative investment, whereas the common is entirely speculative. On the former quarterly dividends of $1.50 per share, or $6 annually, are being paid. Earnings of the company appear to have turned the corner and should improve from now on.

However, those for the year ended September 28, 1929, were under those for the previous year, net income amounting to $6,439,799, equal to $6.48 per share on the preferred and 14 cents a share on the common, compared with net of $6,815,771, or per share earnings of $6.86 and 46 cents, respectively, for previous fiscal year. The preferred dividend of $6 per annum has been regularly paid.

Miami Copper.

A. R. H.—Do you consider Miami Copper Co. stock a good purchase at the present price?

Answer—Miami Copper Co. is a relatively high cost producer and would be materially affected by a reduction in copper prices, such as is now being quite actively discussed as likely to occur in the not distant future. Consequently, it would appear to be the better part of judgment to withhold purchases of the shares for the time being, awaiting developments, even though the stock, on the basis of present dividends of $4 annually and current selling price of the shares, yields to the investor better than 13 per cent.

However, one of the leading copper companies has recently cut its dividend substantially, and while no predictions can be made along this line, it may be possible that other copper companies may eventually follow suit.

PROBABLY, down in her heart, she wasn't quite serious. And yet, if you could see the wistful longing in the eyes of the charming women who drop in every week or so, you'd realize that many of them consider the possession of only two feet a thoughtless omission on the part of nature. So many beautiful shoes! Dainty bits of leather and fabric fashioned into the most exquisite creations you've ever seen. We really can't tell you about them, but if you will visit the I. How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HEALTH OF EDWIN STANTON.

NOT all the books dealing with Edwin M. Stanton are complimentary to Lincoln's Secretary of War. It will be remembered that years before Lincoln became President Stanton treated the future President with scant consideration or courtesy in a certain important lawsuit. In spite of this Lincoln selected him to succeed Cameron as Secretary of War and, incidentally, let himself in for trouble and even humiliation at times. Winston, in telling the story of Andrew Johnson's life, tells us much about Stanton that was not to that gentleman's credit. McClellan's autobiography handles Stanton with some of the spirit of scorn with which this scrappy Secretary handled other people. There are few now who defend Stanton's course in the trial of Mrs. Surratt and some of the other Lincoln conspirators.

But possibly the doctors can supply a defense for him. Dr. L. C. Duncan says of Stanton: "He was a short, heavy-set man who took almost no exercise. In order to overcome the bad effects of his unwholesome mode of life, Surgeon General Barnes had a standing desk placed in the Secretary's office. Instead of sitting in luxurious chairs, Stanton did his work thereafter while standing at his desk.

"He was nervously active and restless. Were he living in this day his physicians would have made a diagnosis of nervous hypertension and would have prescribed relaxation. He had a chronic bronchitis and bronchial asthma. Perhaps this asthma was largely responsible for Stanton's irascibility. In October, 1863, he visited Grant in the field and there contracted a very bad cold from which he never recovered. The period between this and his death is that in which he was making life difficult for Lincoln, fighting Andrew Johnson, doing a great injustice to Dr. W. A. Hammond, and prosecuting Mrs. Surratt.

"Surgeon General Barnes tells of two attacks of asthma in which he fell to the floor. At his death he was found to have had chronic bronchitis with asthma, heart disease with dropsy and cirrhosis of the liver. However, most of his weakness, as well as his strength, was due to qualities in no way related to his illness. Col. Duncan quotes a word picture of Ellet, which might be a description of the Secretary himself. He wrote: 'He is a clean cut, forcible, controversial writter. His fancy and will are predominant and once having taken a notion he will not allow it to be questioned.'"

WHAT IS "COMMON TOWEL?"

A. C. D., writes: Why do fool doctors write about common towels? What is a common towel?

Did you ever hear of the Negro who said his family was safe now? He had bought them a sanitary cup and they were all using it.

REPLY:

In the language of Mr. Bryan, you can't fool me. You know what a common towel is. You wouldn't let any man use your tooth brush, nor would you use his towel.

AN ALTERNATING PULSE.

M. I. P. writes: I want very much to know what is to be expected when the pulse of an elderly man stays at 40 or less.

REPLY:

The probability is that this person has an alternating pulse—one strong and one weak beat. The weak beat is not felt or recognized as a beat. A tracing, or an electrocardiogram would settle the point.

As a rule, this is not a serious condition. Napoleon Bonaparte is said to have had it.

WEAK BALLYHOO MARKS EVE OF BATTLE AT MIAMI

Duke Is Called Tournament Favorite

Blue Devil Five Rated Best in Conference Title Series.

Teams Gathering at Atlanta for Games Starting Friday.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Although Alabama, with a perfect record this season, was given highest rating by the Southern Conference basket ball pairings committee, the boys who spend their time picking winners point to the roving band of Blue Devils from Duke University as the 1930 champions. With the arrival of Homer Hazel and his University of Mississippi Basketers here today interest in the conference tournament, which starts Friday, took an upward jump.

The Mississippians will be joined tomorrow by Virginia Military Institute, Maryland, Alabama, North Carolina State and Duke Teams. All plan to take light workouts prior to the tournament.

Alabama met and vanquished eleven conference opponents during the season just closed, while Duke faltered only once. However, the Blue Devils, who went to the finals in the title meet last year and are regarded as great tournament players, went through a much harder schedule than did the Crimson cagers.

Carolina State Minus Star.

North Carolina State, defending champions, will enter the championship rounds minus the services of a stellar player. Jimmy Brown, brilliant sophomore sharpshooter, who paired with Larry Haar, and led the Red Terriers' offensive, has been rendered ineligible because of scholastic difficulties, and Coach Tebell is hard put to find a substitute capable of keeping up his pace.

Washington and Lee and Kentucky, two other favored teams, are in good shape and will arrive sometime tomorrow.

Croson Able to Play For Duke in Tourney

Special to The Washington Post.

Durham, N. C., Feb. 26.—Joe Croson, high point scorer on the Duke team for the season and the pivot around whom the Blue Devils work, will leave the hospital tomorrow afternoon to accompany the Duke team to Atlanta for the Southern Conference tournament.

Doctors announced today that Croson would be in good condition by Saturday. It is not likely that he will play in the opening game against Louisiana State University.

Croson was injured in the game with Washington and Lee at Lexington, Va., last week. He received a scratch on the lip which later became infected and for a while brought doubts that he would be able to make the trip with the team. He entered the hospital Monday.

Ten men will be taken to Atlanta by Coach Eddie Cameron; they follow: Croson and Thorne, centers; Councillor, Rogers, Garber and Carter, forwards; Werber, Capt. Parker, Metz and Shaw, guards. Baker, trainer, and Rousseau, student manager, will accompany the team.

Kaye Don Is Confident Of Bettering Auto Mark

Southampton, England, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Before sailing today on the Berengaria for New York with the speed car in which he will attempt to beat the world's straightaway record at Daytona Beach, Kaye Don, English driver, declared he had every confidence in his car and hoped to lower the mark of 231.36 miles per hour set last year by his countryman, H. O. D. Segrave.

"I think my car will do over 240 miles per hour and with a little luck it will probably top 250," he said.

The speed trials are scheduled for next month on Daytona's smooth sand beach.

Hitting the Baseball Trail

AVALON, Santa-Catalina Island, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs supplied a team from the United States Coast Guard cutter Algonquin with pitchers, catchers and a few sundodging outfielders today and won their first practice game of the season, 11 to 5.

It was a clowning contest of two and a half innings, and the pitchers, Charlie Root, for the Cubs, and Pat Malone and Malcomb Moss, for the Sailors, were asked to be easy so the players could get a workout on base running and fielding.

Moss, a youngster who came to the Cubs from Louisville, got the first official home run of the season here, hitting a line drive that bounded against the center-field fence.

After the game Manager Joe McCarthy sent his players through pitching and fielding practice.

Manager McCarthy said that with the arrival of the second squad Friday a practice for the entire team will be held, after which it will be a two-a-day drill at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., each lasting two hours.

No sore arms have disturbed the complacency of Trainer Andy Loyshaw yet.

Four Pitchers Holdout On Browns.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 26 (A. P.).—Four of the St. Louis Browns' pitching aces, Sam Gray, George Blaeholder, Walter Stewart and Warren Collins, were still missing today as the Browns went through their second workout since opening spring training this week. It was understood here that negotiations between club officials and the players are under way and that the belated ones soon will be in camp.

To offset the late arrivals, Lou Blue, first baseman, and Eddie Roetz, infielder, reported today although they were not due until next Monday. They went through brief workouts with the batterymen today.

Uhle Only Tiger Missing.

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—All but one of the Detroit Tigers' pitchers have reported to Manager Bucky Harris at training camp here, and all are said to be in such good condition that a few practice sessions should put them in shape.

George Uhle, veteran right hander and the only absentee, is having his arm treated as Los Angeles.

Manager Harris has a promising recruit in Henry Greenberg, 19-year-old New York boy. Greenberg has played first base but Harris is trying to make him over to play at third as an understudy of Marty McManus.

Yankees Pose For Movies.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.). The New York Yankees became movie actors for a while today as they went through their morning calisthenics. A talking—or grunting picture was made of the great event. The rest of the workout was light. Seven pitchers went through their paces and an infield composed of Durst, first base; Reese, second; Lary and Koenig, shortstop, and Chapman, third, had a workout.

Cedric Durst arrived today, bringing the squad almost to full strength. Lee Craig, the only missing member who was expected to turn up, wired that he is on his way.

Robinson Takes Active Charge of Robins.

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Wilbert Robinson, portly Brooklyn manager, broke a tradition of the Robins' training camp today by deserting his comfortable chair and moving out on the field to direct part of the practice.

Robbie devoted most of his time to the training of some of his young pitchers in the finer arts of fielding their position. Newsome, Moore and Phelps were the objects of his attention. Clise Dudley became the first casualty of the season but not a serious one. He limped around a bit after being struck on the leg by a hot drive.

McGraw Drives Giants In Two Drills.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Manager John McGraw took charge of the New York Giants' training activities today and before the two drills were over, numerous Giants knew very well he was there. The "Little Napoleon" appeared in mid-season form so far as drive was concerned and sent the men through two strenuous workouts, including a five inning game in the morning.

The principal damage of the hard work was on the person of Pitcher Jack Scott, who attempted to steal a base and pulled up with a charley horse.

DOEG BEATEN IN UPSET AT BERMUDA

Mathey, Veteran, Is Winner Over Young Star, 6-2, 7-5.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The defeat of John Doeg, of Santa Monica, Calif., one of the best of America's younger tennis stars, by Dean Mathey, Cranford, N. J., veteran, who only once attained the honor of a first ten ranking, provided the third round of the Bermuda tennis championships today with one of the biggest upsets in the history of the tournament. Mathey won in straight sets by 6—2, 7—5.

Playing a great game, Mathey started playing up to the net and rushed the California youth off his feet, never giving him a chance to steady his game. Doeg made just one good rally late in the match to carry the second set to deuce. With Mathey leading at 5—4, Doeg broke through the veteran's service to make it 5-all, but dropped his own service to lose the match.

Two Young Texans Gain Semifinals.

Two young Texans, Bruce Barnes and Berkeley Bell, reached the semifinals by easy victories. Barnes defeated H. Caner, of Bermuda, 6—3, 6—2. Bell eliminated Henry R. Guild, of Boston, 6—1, 6—4. Herbert L. Bowman, of New York, became the fourth semifinalist by eliminating Karl Pfaffman, former Harvard star, 6—2, 6—1.

Miss Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., the defending title holder in the women's singles championship, advanced to the final round after a three-set battle with Virginia Rice, of Boston. The scores were 6—4, 3—6, 7—5. Edith Sigourney, of Boston.

SMITH TAKES TOURNEY BY A STROKE

Wins Central Florida Open With 139 Card; Gains $600 Prize.

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Despite a faltering putter, Norton Smith, of Detroit, today won his thirteenth golf crown in fifteen months as he annexed the title of the $2,000 central Florida open tournament with 139 for the 36 holes.

Smith's work with the putter was good during his first nine holes today, when he scored a 33, two strokes below par on Orlando Country Club course, but the club failed him in the last nine holes and he missed a number of short strokes to take a 37 on the 36 par division.

One stroke behind him were Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., and Harry Cooper, Los Angeles, who polled twin 68s to lead Smith by one count yesterday. Smith's card today, following his 69 yesterday, was:

Out.... 4 3 4 4 5 3 4 4 2—33
In ..... 4 4 4 3 5 4 5 4 4—37—70—139

Cruickshank Has 143.

Neal McIntyre, Indianapolis, offered a 72—35—34—141, to follow Turnesa and Cooper, while Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, N. Y., and Al Watrous, Detroit, each had 148s.

Carl Morris Dann, jr., Orlando, Fla., was low amateur with a 146. Smith took $600 first money in the tournament, Turnesa and Light Horse Harry gaining $350 each. Other cash prizes were:

McIntyre, 141, $200; Cruickshank and Watrous, 143, $112.50; Tom Creavy, New York, 144, $68.75; Herman Barron, Portchester, N. Y., 144, $68.75; Bill Mitchell, Syracuse, N. Y., 144, $68.75, and R. McAauliffe, Buffalo, 144, $68.75

The golfing caravan departed almost in its entirety by special train tonight to seek further gold and glory at the annual $2,500 Florida West Coast Open at Belleair Saturday and Sunday. From there, they will go to St. Petersburg for that city's $3,500 open tourney March 4 and 5 before many of them descend upon Miami for the international four-ball matches March 9-13.

CALLS FREEMAN BEST.

Bill Dudack, coach of the Georgetown University Basket Ball Team, says that Bob Freeman, Western High School center, the best prospect for college basket ball play he has ever seen.

COMPANY E WINS.

Company E of the 121st Engineers, District of Columbia National Guard, overcame a 12-to-10 advantage held by the Business Whirlwinds at the half to emerge victorious, 23 to 21.

Pitchers Show Speed At Indians' Camp.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The old familiar smack of the fast ball coming to rest in the catcher's mitt was heard in the camp of the Cleveland Indians here today as the Red Skin twirlers cut loose with a little steam in the third day of practice.

Curves were still banned by Manager Peckinpaugh, but he relented a trifle on the speed proposition.

Considerable speculation is rife as to the possibilities of Belve Bean, the new right-hander from New Orleans. Bean has height, weight and speed of legs as well as in his flinging arm. He holds a bat like he knew what it was for, too, the old-timers opine. But Bean has no change of pace and Peckinpaugh has begun a strenuous campaign of instruction on that phase of the speed-ball pitcher's equipment.

Tate, Spencer Near Holdout Distinction

Catchers Are Silent Despite Ultimatum of Griffith.

Biloxi Turns Out to Welcome Johnson and Party.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 26.—Catchers Bennie Tate and Roy Spencer are on the threshold of being declared holdouts, Manager Walter Johnson learned when he piloted his vanguard of Nationals into his new training headquarters of the Washington Club tonight.

Both of these backstoppers have been furnished transportation here, with the ultimatum by Club Owner Clark Griffith that he has made them his highest bids and that it is up to them to take the salary offered or find themselves some other line of business.

Leaving Washington under Johnson's wing were Pitchers Irving Hadley, Paul Daugart and Don Savidge; Catchers Nelson Jester and Gordon Phelps and Coach Al Schacht. The latter's personally recruited "masked marvel" recruit proved to be two fellows, Harry Ruby and Bert Kallmer. But little is known of their baseball ability and both perferred to talk about the weather or something else when questioned. En route Sam Jones joined the party, suddenly showing up at Montgomery.

Welcoming Delegation Headed by Mayor.

These players, who were given quite a welcome by a delegation of Biloxians, headed by Mayor John Kennedy, found several of their mates on hand when they reached their hotel. Those already here are Pitchers Fred Marberry, Adolph Liska, Myles Thomas, Bob Burke, Lloyd Brown and Carlos Moore; Catcher Herold (Muddy) Ruel, and Coach Ed (Patsy) Gharrity. Aside from Tate and Spencer, the only other player expected is Pitcher Herbert Pyle and he probably will arrive here tomorrow.

There seems to have been some misunderstanding regarding the reporting dates of Outfielders Emile Barnes and Sam West. They have been juggled around once or twice with the result that President Clark Griffith does not know exactly when they will show up here, although he has furnished them with the necessary transportation.

Eddie Espey Defeats Viers in Final Block

Eddie Espey, youthful Arcadia star, although encountering tougher opposition in the second block last night, won his match with Noble Viers, Silver Springs phenom, with a two-block total of 1,124 to Viers' 1,035. In the second block rolled on the Silver Spring alleys, Espey nosed ahead by 546 to 542. Espey won the first block last Saturday at Arcadia, 578 to 493.

Viers missed a chance to take last night's block when he cut a deuce on a spare in the last box. About 200 persons watched the duel.

Last night's scores:

Espey..... 100 113 107 120 106—546
Viers..... 103 101 104 129 105—542

Purdue Record Intact; Defeats Northwestern

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Purdue defeated Northwestern, 29 to 16, to win its seventh consecutive Big Ten basket ball game of the season and keep its conference record unmarred here tonight.

The Boilermakers stressed defensive play in tonight's game, and although their offensive machine worked less smoothly than in past performances, managed to stay well out in front at all times.

After holding a 13-to-5 advantage at half-time, the conference leaders played a listless style of ball during the first ten minutes of the last period.

Stretch Murphy, Purdue center, ten points to his season's total. Walter, Northwestern pivot man, led his teammates with four field goals.

Six bouts, one less than the regular intercollegiate program, are carded, the first to commence at 8:30 o'clock.

In two previous matches this season, which marks the debut of George Washington in the ring sport, Coach Bucky Greene's pupils lost to Catholic University and tied Manhattan at New York City.

Coach Greene is optimistic about the outcome of tonight's match and declares his team is in better physical condition than at any time thus far. He looks confidently upon the chances of winning individual victories through the work of Harry Kleiman, featherweight; Leo Covaleskie, lightweight, and Bill Stanley, middleweight.

Polonitza and Boyle Making Debuts.

Kleiman, Covaleskie and Stanley are all experienced boxers who are farther advanced than most college exponents of the sport. Kleiman was a successful member of the New York University Team last year, while Covaleskie and Stanley have been fighting in local amateur ranks for three or four years.

Bill Polonitza, 150-pounder, and James (Red) Boyle, junior lightweight, will be making their debut in the ring. Dave Cohen, bantamweight, who lost his first fight in the Catholic U. match, rounds out the George Washington line-up.

Owing to the small seating capacity of the gymnasium, G. W. officials have limited the number of admissions to 1,000, and only those formally attired and holding special invitations will be passed through the door The formal-dress rule, which is gaining in popularity among the colleges sponsoring boxing, will be strictly enforced.

Landis, at Golf With Bobby Jones, Deplores Inadequate Vocabulary

ATLANTA, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, and Bobby Jones, national open golf champion, went eighteen holes to a "no decision" verdict here yesterday.

The commissioner stopped in Atlanta to investigate the Nick Cullop case, concerning the transfer of the former Cracker star from Atlanta to Brooklyn back in 1928, and accepted an invitation for a round of golf with the Atlanta barrister.

Commissioner Landis plays a fair game of golf himself, but yesterday he just stopped and shook his head in astonishment as Bobby contributed one brilliant shot after another. No scores were kept.

On the fifth tee Jones drove a great shot some 250 yards down the fairway.

"Bobby," Landis said, "you were five-eighths of an inch off on that drive. You must do better."

Then the judge made his tee shot. He watched the ball trickle down the fairway for a short distance.

"Some day," he said, "I hope to learn to play this game so that my caddy may hold up his head. Look at him. He is the picture of dejection."

Coming in on No. 9, Landis dubbed an approach that was only a matter of 10 feet or so from the green. He played it up on the next shot and then said: "My vocabulary is entirely inadequate to express my feelings in a matter like this."

The commissioner made no decision on the Cullop case. He will spend several weeks visiting the various major league training camps in Florida.

Mays was substituted today for Salvatore Ruggerillo, giant Italian who contracted bronchitis.

Penn State Is Agog Over Bouts With Navy

Special to The Washington Post.

State College, Pa., Feb. 26.—The Jack Sharkey-Phil Scott fight may be the apple of pugilistic world's eye at present, but to Penn State College students it is just another evening's radio entetrainment. Instead, all fight talk around the campus centers on the coming dual meet between the championship Lion team and the Naval Academy here Saturday.

Penn State is the strongest rival Navy has in dual meet competition and at present holds the intercollegiate team championship. Navy has never been beaten in a dual meet in more than ten year of int collegiate fighting, but was tied in one match by the Lions. Penn State hopes to break the Middies' long streak in the coming bouts. It will be the first appearance of a Navy team here for a dual meet since 1925.

Conger to Race Foreign Stars at Mile March 12

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The Columbian mile, feature event of the annual New York Chapter, Knights of Columbus games at Madison Square Garden, March 12, will bring together an international field. Dr. Paul Martin, Swiss olympic veteran and Stanislaw Petkiewicz, of Poland, have signed to match strides with Ray Conger, the American mile king, it was announced today.

Martin has been running shorter distances for the most part, while Petkiewicz has been engaged in longer events, but both figure to give the Illinois A. C. star a hard race. Conger will be the favorite since he has won five straight mile races this season in impressive fashion.

Joe Sivak, Butler University, and Joe Hickey, New York University's Intercollegiate champion miler, are to be in the field.

Argentinian Swimming Star to Enter Yale

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Albert Zorilla, 23-year-old Argentinian who won the Olympic 400-meter swimming championship in the 1928 games at Amsterday, arrived here today from South America and announced he intended to enter Yale University in the fall. He expects to become a lawyer.

In the meantime Zorilla will train at the New York Athletic Club pool in preparation for the national indoor swimming championship in Los Angeles July 3-6.

"If I can get into shap soon enough," he said, "I may also enter the indoor championships at Chicago April 2-5."

Zorilla does not plan to return to South America until after the Olympic games of 1932 at Los Angeles, where he proposes to defend his title.

Sharkey Held Choice Over Scott, 5-1

Garden's Story About Injury to Schmeling Collapses.

Attempt to Add Importance to Bout Is Failure.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—With the ballyhoo going full blast, efforts that appeared little short of desperate were put forth today to turn what has looked like a certain financial flop into a profitable success before Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott step into the ring for their fifteen-round heavyweight elimination match tomorrow night.

The climax in the belated "build-up" was reached by issuance of a somewhat sensational yarn that Max Schmeling, the German clouter, had injured his thumb or his ankle, thereby jeopardizing his ring future, also the contemplated championship "final" this June at New York, and increasing the "significance" of the Sharkey-Scott outcome to a point whether the winner might claim the world's title.

This elaborate reasoning sounded all very well until an Associated Press dispatch from Berlin disclosed that Schmeling was in perfect health, good fighting condition and enjoying himself at the winter sports. This news reached the center of fight preparations with a dull, reverberating thud just as the respective managers of Scott and Sharkey were preparing elaborate statements to claim the championship for tomorrow's winner.

Handling of Ballyhoo Is Bungled.

The handling of the spurious bad news about Der Maxie was marked by mystery and some bungling. The first statement, saying Schmeling had broken his thumb three weeks ago, was issued on the authority of Frank J. Bruen, general manager of Madison Square Garden, but later in the day he denied knowledge of the reputed cablegram from Germany. At about the same time, however, the Miami Daily News, from a "trustworthy source," reported it had been advised Schmeling had suffered an ankle injury and would never fight again.

The News' informant was unidentified but said he personally had seen Schmeling on crutches in Berlin several weeks ago.

The Schmeling story, therefore, shared the same explosive fate as the bubble of Jimmy Johnston's row with Referee Lou Magnolia and the Miami Boxing Commission over ring regulations, a controversy marked by Johnston's empty threat to withdraw Scott from the match.

Assumes Proportions Of "Racket."

It stripped the second battle of the palms of the last vestiges of the glamour which marked the fistic festival last winter and put the show purely on a commercial basis, assuming the proportions of a "racket" in the character of subterfuges used to help put it over.

Miami was crowded with visitors today, for the season here is at its height, but there was still no definite answer as to whether they would flock out to the arena tomorrow night for the international heavyweight carnival in sufficient numbers to make the venture pay. General Manager Bruen repeated his prediction that the "gate" would exceed $300,000, thereby representing a profit of $75,000 to $100,000.

The best available information, based on knowledge of advance sales up to today, was that not many more than 25,000 fans would contribute a "gate" of around $200,000. This would mean a chance for the New York promoters to break even.

Famous Array Will Witness Bouts.

A notable array of talent and fame, wealth and fashion, will fill the choice ringside seats, no matter how much vacant space there is otherwise in the arena, which was built to accommodate 52,000 customers. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tunney and Mr. and Mrs Babe Ruth will be among the many conspicuous figures of sport, along with Harry Payne Whitney, Caleb Bragg, Carl Fisher and Larry Waterbury. Walter Camp and his wife, the former Ruth Elder; William K. Vanderbilt, Joseph E. Widener, Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, John Golden, George F. Getz, Mrs. Tex Rickard, John Ringling, Gov. Emmerson of Illinois, and George Ade are also among the ticket-holders.

There were no developments today calculated to change the prospect of a decisive victory for Sharkey. The American remained a 5-to-1 favorite with little or no wagering reported at this prohibitive figure. Most of the experts predicted a knockout inside of four rounds. Lively speculation continued over the ten-round semi-final between Victorio Campolo and Johnny Risko, with the Argentine rated a favorite at 2 to 1, but many supporting the Clevelander.

Loughran and Maloney Popular Choices.

The American entries were popular choices in the two other ten-rounders. Sending Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, against Pierre Charles, of Belgium, and Jimmy Maloney, of Boston, against Moise Bouquillon, of France. The Loughran-Charles bout is scheduled after the main event, which is expected to begin at about 10 p. m.

All combatants on the card spent today quietly. Sharkey and Scott, both pronounced in excellent condition, exercised for about 15 minutes to keep limbered up. Each voiced confidence in brief statements, Sharkey saying he expected to "end the fight as quickly as possible," while Scott declared he felt "able to cope with Sharkey's best." Sharkey is expected to weigh around 198 and Scott about 203 on the official scales early tomorrow afternoon.

There will be no ringside broadcast. The weather prospects are for partly cloudy skies, but no rain.

THREE TRACK RECORDS BROKEN IN DAY AT MIAMI

Rapid Transit Again Sets Mark

Steps 6 Furlongs in 1:10 2-5 With Workman Astride.

Fairy Maiden, Black Bart Also Score in Record Time.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Smashing records in wholesale order, a trio of speeding thoroughbreds today established three new track marks at Hialeah Park, Miami. Today's sensational performances brought the number of new records made at the current meeting of the beautiful Florida racing plant to nine, five of which were hung up in the last two days.

For the second time in less than a week the Kilrane Stable's Rapid Transit lowered the 6-furlong record, stepping the distance in 1:10 2-5. Only last Thursday the flashy 4-year-old with the speedy name clipped one-fifth of a second off the old mark, when he covered the six panels in 1:11 flat. Today Sonny Workman got him away flying. He was at the half-mile pole in 0:46 2-5, and leading by ten lengths turning into the stretch. He won by eight lengths under wraps, with St. Jim second and Megazza third. Rapid Transit was quoted at 1 to 10.

Fairy Maiden Romps Home in Handicap.

The first record to go by the boards was the mile and sixteenth mark in the Biscayne Bay Claiming Handicap, Jimmy McGee's Fairy Maiden's galloping over the route in 1:44 1-5. The former mark of 1:44 2-5 was made by Chancellor on February 6 of this year. The 6-year-old mare, however, was forced to the limit to defeat Low Gear and Islam in one of the best races of the Miami meeting. The trio finished heads apart.

A record of five years' standing fell when the 8-year-old Black Bart covered the mile and a half in 2:33 3-5 to win the sixth race for L. D. Oldham. The old mark of 2:34 2-5 was established by Tall Grass under 97 pounds in 1925.

Bill Morris, a big 2-year-old, ran his string of victories to four today at the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, winning the opening of 3-furlong dash in an easy manner. The popular juvenile went to the post at odds of .30 cents on the dollar and then won by four lengths. To date he has won all of his races by four or more lengths.

Central's Gridmen Must Train in Spring

Only those who report for spring football training will be invited to Central's early training camp next fall, it was made known at an assembly of the Mount Pleasant school yesterday. As soon as the stadium is in shape, Coach Rauber will begin the spring work, drilling his men for an hour each morning before school. Every man must be on the field, dressed all ready to work, at 7:30 a. m., it was announced.

Although Central drilled at Annapolis last fall before school opened, the number of candidates was not limited. This year, however, not more than 28 will be taken to camp, the number to be selected from the spring trainees.

20 Batterymen Answer First Call at Western

Twelve pitchers and eight catchers answered the first call for baseball candidates made by a Washington high school when that number of players reported to Coach Moore yesterday at Western. The boys took a short workout in the gym, where they will continue to drill until the rest of the candidates are called out shortly after the close of the basket ball season.

Two likely looking hurlers reported yesterday in Bill Payne, right-hand speed-ball ace, and Charley Albert. Although Payne was ineligible last year, he made an enviable record with the Montrose independent nine and should prove a valuable aid to Western. Albert won his letter in the sport last year at Western. Quincy Owens, all-high catcher last year, will devote his efforts elsewhere this year, with Ray Yowell slated to handle the backstopping duties. Owens, a valuable all-around player, may play at second base.

FOUR SOCCER GAMES HERE SUNDAY

Concord, Washington Teams Battle in Day's Feature.

CONCORD and Washington Soccer Clubs are scheduled to meet next Sunday on the Friendship field in what is expected to be one of the most interesting matches of the current season. The game will be the final of the first round of the Washington and Southeastern District Soccer Association cup tournament.

These teams met several weeks ago and after a hectic battle Concord emerged the winner by a scant 2-to-1 score. A keen rivalry exists between the two elevens and a good contest is always assured when the two meet. The winner of this match will go into the third round of play as a bye was drawn for victor of this game in the second round.

J. Wilson Referees Battle.

At the last meeting of the association much discussion was centered on the referee of the game as both clubs had very decided opinions as to who the official should or should not be. In the last analysis the contesting clubs do not have anything to do with appointing the referee, but they were permitted to express their views in order to preserve harmony. J. Wilson, of the District Soccer Referees Association, has been named referee of the tilt.

The Capital City League has listed three games for Sunday. Galic-Americans will play Gaithersburg at Gaithersburg, Marlboro will play District Kickers on the Monument grounds, and Silver Spring will play Rockville at Rockville. Officials for these games will be named tomorrow.

Penn A. C. Boxers Visit City Club Ring Tonight

The heavyweight bout between Russell Wolfram and Mike Verheghie will top the card tonight at the City Club when the City Club boxers meet the mittmen of the Penn Athletic Club, of Philadelphia, for the second time this season. City Club fans are backing Wolfram on the experience gained in his last four bouts which seem to indicate an even chance for victory against the hard-hit

ENTRIES CLOSE TOMORROW FOR POST'S TOURNEY

Lists to Set Record for A. A. U.

District Court Titles at Stake in Play Starting Mar. 10.

Post Is Prepared to Handle Last-Minute Rush.

TOMORROW at midnight the gate will be closed to further applicants for entry in the fourth annual A. A. U. basket ball championships to be held under the supervision of the District Association for the first time. All individual registration applications and all team entries for the big tournament to be held, starting March 10, under the auspices of The Washington Post, must be filed before that hour.

Entries received to date indicate that last year's entry list of 89 teams in the seven classes will be surpassed and a new record established. Forty-one teams have previously entered the unlimited and 145-pound class championships and more than this number are expected to enter the 130, 115 and 100 pound boys' class and the two women's classes, the unlimited and junior.

130-Pound Teams Enter in Force.

It is probable that more than a score of 130-pound teams will be entered. The Boys' Club Optimists and Northwestern were the first to file for this division. The field of title contenders in this division will probably include the Aces, Ambassadors, Anacostia Eagles, Arcadians, Calvary Eagles, Corinthians, Clovers, Fort Myer, Griffith & Perry, Jewish Community Center Flashes, Kanawhas, Lionels, Lightnings, Meridians, Pilgrims, Potomacs, Saranacs, Skeletons, St. Stephen's, Tech Lightweights, Vagabonds, Victors, Walshs, Westerns, Y. M. C. A. and several others expected to get in line before entries close tomorrow night.

Burns A. C. and Fort Myer Teams lead the list of 115-pound class entrants. This group will include some snappy teams, of which the Arcadians, Aztecs, Boys Club, Corinthians, Gonzaga Lightweights, Fort Myer, Nehi, Rambler, Shipley Midgets, Spengler Post, St. John's Victors and others loom as strong contenders.

The Fives Club, of Charlottesville, and the Knight Midgets, of Alexandria, will give Virginia two strong representatives in the 100-pound division. Other outstanding teams looking longingly at the title of this group are the Spartans, Arcadians, Boys Club, Jewish Community Center, Clark Griffiths, Montrose A. C., Peck Midgets, Raymond Riordan School of New York, St. John's Midgets and Flashes, and a half dozen other outstanding teams.

Alexandria High Sextet Entered.

Miss Maude Parker, director of girls' activities of the Municipal Playground department, who is in charge of entries for the two women's sections, expects to have most of the women's teams in line by tonight. The St. Paul's and Alexandria High School Teams have been added to the list of prospective entrants in the junior division, which will probably be twice as large as last year.

THE championship of the Community Center Basket Ball League will be decided tonight, when the Woltz Photographers and the Potomac Boat Club, at present tied for that honor, meet in the Tech High School Gymnasium. The game, which is the play-off of a tie existing between the two clubs at the end of the regular season, will begin at 9 o'clock.

Each team had lost one game in the league, and although the Potomac Boat Club nosed out the Photographers in their clash, the former was upset by the Walter's Whirlwind five in the league finale, creating the deadlock.

That heated action will likely be on display tonight is evidenced from the warm rivalry existing between the two teams. The opposing fives are ardent A. A. U. foes, bearing that enmity since the A. A. U. tournament, last year. In 1929, the Photographers defeated the Boat Club in the semifinal game, using the victory as a stepping stone to ultimately annex the title of their class.

Walter's Whirlwinds, the stumbling block of the Boatmen a week ago, jointly with the Dixie Pigs, will provide the attraction in the preliminary starting at 8 o'clock. Third place in the league standings will be at stake in this contest, the Whirlwinds and Pigs being tied for that notch at present.

INDUSTRIALS HEAD STOCK PRICE GAINS

Index of 90 Shares Climb 3 1-3 Points as Tobacco Issues Advance.

EASTMAN KODAK RISES

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A swift upsurge in stock prices greeted the improvement in the grain and cotton markets today. Trading was in moderate volume, the turnover barely exceeding 3,000,000 shares but prices generally made the most striking progress since late December, as bears were driven to cover and forced to bid actively for stocks.

Gains of 3 to 9 points were common among the more active shares, while a few of the lightly traded issues jumped 10 to 15 points. The price index of 90 leading stocks rose about 3 1-3 points to within 2 points of its best level of the year. Leading industrials made the most extensive gains, with the tobaccos displaying marked buoyancy.

The market remained almost wholly professional, however, for despite the better tone in the commodity markets, business news was not altogether encouraging. The weekly steel trade reviews stressed the slight lag in aggregate steel mill activity, this weakness reflecting cautious buying by the automotive industry. Iron Age stated, however, that "while the long view has become more obscure, prospects for the next month or two are regarded as good."

Freight Car Loadings Rise.

Freight car loadings as announced for the second week of the month showed a moderate gain over the previous week, but held far below the like period of last year. Crude oil production took another sharp upturn last week, a retail gasoline price-cutting war broke out in the Eastern States today, and export gasoline prices were cut ½ cent.

The credit outlook was dominated by the possibility of a further reduction in the Bank of England's discount rate tomorrow. Late advices to Wall street indicated that opinion in London financial circles was almost evenly divided on the subject. The open market bill rates in London have already fallen to levels which would be in line with a lower bank rate, and a reduction would probably help cash subscriptions to Chancellor Snowden's conversion loan. Wall street is primarily concerned with the influence of a lower London rate on the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate.

Opinion in Federal Reserve circles is said to be divided as to the advisability of a reduction below the present 4 per cent rate, but also, the Federal Reserve is undoubtedly not anxious to disturb London's gold holdings, and a reduction in London would be very likely to result in a flow of the yellow metal to New York without a corresponding reduction in the New York rate. Credit conditions in Wall street remained practically stationary, with call money holding at 4½ per cent.

American Tobacco Climbs.

Westinghouse Electric rose about 9 points, while Eastman Kodak, the American Tobacco issues and Warren Bros. sold up about 6 to 8. Shares closing approximately 4 to 5 points higher included American Can, U. S. Steel, Air Reduction, J. I. Case, Lambert, Johns Manville, Auburn, Chesapeake & Ohio and Underwood Elliott. Radio mounted 3 points to 47¾, a new high for 1930.

Despite the unfavorable petroleum news, oil shares were generally carried upward, Standard of California closing 2 points higher. Among the less active shares, American Machine mounted 13 points and Vulcan declining 15.

Wheat futures closed about 2 cents higher, influenced by heavy Farm Board buying of cash wheat, firmer foreign markets, and better sales of flour. There was an outburst of selling around midday, but reports of freezing weather over the winter wheat area quickly turned the market upward again. Corn, on the other hand, lost about a cent in realizing prompted by yesterday's advance. Cotton closed steady, despite further weakness in silver, with its adverse influence on the Bombay market. Early in the session, there were advances of 50 to 60 cents a bale, but these were largely lost in realizing.

Sterling was depressed by the prospect of a lower Bank of England rate, and other foreign exchange rates sagged in sympathy. Sterling cables declined about ¼ of a cent to $4.86 1-32, which is more than 2 cents below the high levels reached in December.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The cotton market was less active today, further advances of about 10 to 12 points were followed by reactions under realizing or liquidation. May contracts, after selling up to 15.40, or 45 points above the low level of yesterday morning and 12 points net higher, reacted to 15.25, but steadied again, closing at 15.33. The general market closed steady at net advances of 1 to 6 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 10 points in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables. There was also some buying on the opening advance in the wheat market. The upturn net considerable realizing and prices on the more active positions reacted to about yesterday's closing quotations during the early trading.

The dip brought in covering and some trade buying and the market firmed up again around noon. March advanced to 15.11, July to 15.62 and October to 15.85, or about 11 to 12 points net higher. The buying, however, was much less active than yesterday, while the nervous and erratic fluctuations reported in wheat seemed to cause hesitation in cotton, and prices eased again in the late trading. March sold off to 14.99, July to 15.46 and October to 15.69 or back to yesterday's closing quotation in the case of March and 3 to 4 points net lower on the later months. There was a renewal of covering at this decline, and closing prices were 5 to 10 points up from the lowest.

The early buying was accompanied by talk of a firmer technical position following the recent severe decline, but the trade demand which had been one of the outstanding features of yesterday's market was much less in evidence. Reports that the cooperative interests were supporting the wheat market received much comment by cotton traders and probably promoted some covering, but the decreased business after yesterday's advance was regarded as indicating a disposition to await further developments.

Amendments to the by-laws of the exchange were adopted providing for a new contract eliminating the 35-point differential starting with October deliveries, in which trading will begin tomorrow. Trading in the old contract will continue until the end of next January. Exports, 6,139, making 5,380,940 so far this season. Port receipts, 11,063. United States port stocks, 3,149,560.

EASE IN TIME MONEY RATES AID BOND RISE

Foreign Shares and Rails Advance in Active Turnovers.

INDUSTRIALS ARE FIRM

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Investment rails and a handful of high-grade utilities claimed most of the attention in today's bond market. The list moved a shade higher coincident with an easing in time money rates, but the day's turnover was relatively small.

United States Governments overcame some of the recent apathy and closed irregularly higher in response to the slightly lower interest charges. However, this group is expected to do little more than mark time pending announcement of the terms on the Treasury's March 15 financing.

Indications that the market is steadily, if slowly, improving, and has attained a considerable degree of stabilization are seen in current plans for railroad financing. The Pere Marquette has asked for authority to replace a 5 per cent first mortgage loan, totaling $14,000,000, with a 4½ per cent issue, the higher coupon bonds were approved some time ago, but remain in the treasury.

New Rail Share Admitted.

The curb market admitted to trading on a when issued basis the Rock Island's prospective convertible 4½s and contracts were executed between 98½ and 99 against the offering price to stockholders of 95.

French issues of various descriptions moved briskly, unaffected by the political situation. The Republic 7½s and 7s were in demand at net advances of ⅜ each, while larger net gains developed in Bordeaux 6s, Lyons 6s and Marseilles 6s. Belgium 7½s, for whose redemption the permission of parliament is being sought by the government, advanced half a point above their call price of 115, at which they closed yesterday. Denmark 4½s made a new high for the year and German 7s came within a small fraction of their 1930 peak.

Favorites among the domestic rails included Rock Island secured 4½s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Louisville & Nashville 4½s, New York Central 5s, New Haven 4½s, St. Louis & San Francisco 4½s and Wabash B 5s and 4½s. Gains in these and other carriers were moderate, but inquiry was noticeably broader.

American Telephone Advances.

American Telephone Debenture 5s, of 1965, making a turnover of $500,000, touched a new high of 101½. North American Edison 5s, Pacific Gas & Electric 5s, the New Public Service Electric & Gas 4½s, and International Telephone 5s were also well taken.

Among the quiet but firm industrials, a 1-point gain came out in Atlantic Gulf & West Indies Steamship 5s on the restoration of the $5 dividend to the preferred stock. The bonds closed at 76. Armour Real Estate 4½s, American Smelting 5s and North American Cement 6½s averaged half a point higher. International Paper 6s rose 2¼.

American Telephone 4½s led the convertibles with a net rise of 3¾. Texas Corporation 5s improved ⅝ and American International 5½s rallied ½.

New offerings appearing tomorrow include a $10,000,000 issue of Crown Zellerbach Corporation 10-year debenture 6s with common stock purchase warrants, priced at 98. The company is a producer of paper products.

In connection with its program of development, the East St. Louis & Interurban Water Co., one of the largest operating water subsidiaries of the American Water Works Co., will issue $2,500,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series D, due February 1, 1960.

Statements of operation for this company and the Georgetown Gas Light Co. were filed with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday. The Georgetown company showed a net corporate income of $20,698.80 for January, 1930, as compared with $16,404.97 for the month a year ago.

Telephone operating revenues for the month of January were $718,978 with operating expenses of $527,236, the report of operations of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to the Utilities Commission shows. Net revenues after deducting taxes and uncollectible bills were $140,756, as against $170,950 in January, 1929.

$211,660 for Additions.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Grain trading recovered comparative poise today. Recent wild downward plunges in values with rushes of heavy stop-loss selling gave place to a general upward movement of the wheat market in particular. This movement was decidedly helped by the fact that among brokers the National Wheat Stabilization Corporation's big purchases of future delivery contracts in Chicago yesterday was construed as virtual admission that grain exchanges are the market place of the world, and that major operations in grain must be conducted upon the exchanges.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were firm, ranging from ¼ cent lower to 2 cents higher compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed ½ to 1¼ cents down, oats ¼ to ⅜ cent off and provisions 12 to 22 cents up.

Supplementing the effect of an evident return of greater general confidence today in grain values was a widespread assumption that the Federal Farm Board allies will give the wheat market concrete aid in emergencies. There were also reports current that the future delivery operations of the wheat stabilization corporation have been more extensive than was at first supposed and have resulted in the corporation acquiring ownership of 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels of terminal elevator grain in different positions, including considerable at the seaboard. Sharp upturns in Liverpool wheat quotations today contributed further stimulus to friends of higher prices here.

On the other hand, setbacks at times carried Chicago prices of new crop deliveries of wheat, July and September, down to well below yesterday's finish, whereas old-crop months, March and May, showed relative strength. This circumstance was associated with selling due to uncertainty as to what loan basis the Federal Farm Board will fix upon for the 1930 domestic wheat crop. Another complication today was much so-called "spread" trading that consisted of buying of wheat against simultaneous selling of corn, a development that late in the day tended to lift the wheat market, but depress corn. Export demand today for wheat from North America was described as slow.

Aside from the bearish effect of spread trading, corn market developments were favorable to holders. An outstanding feature was that advices at hand told about bad conditions of roads limiting the movement of the corn crop. Oats followed wheat rather than corn.

Provisions were higher, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

ARLINGTON ADOPTS EDUCATION REPORT

U. S. Bureau Recommends Bond Issue of $580,000 for School Additions.

LYON PARK AID IS ASKED

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Arlington County School Board, meeting at the courthouse last night, unanimously adopted a report of the United States Bureau of Education, covering the present and future needs of the Arlington County Schools. The report carries with it recommendations for a bond issue of $580,000 for additions to the Washington-Lee High School and several of the elementary schools.

Chairman Thomas J. DeLashmutt stated that the board reserves the right to make any changes necessary to meet the requirements of the communities in which the schools are located.

County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp expressed the desire that the movement for the bond issue be launched within the next two weeks.

DeWitt M. Evans, a member of the school committee from Lyon Park, was assured that the Lyon Park School is included in the report and that it will be cared for.

Superintendent Kemp said that he hoped crowded conditions at the Lyon Park School would be relieved by October of this year.

A proposal for Boy Scout troops at the county schools failed to meet with the approval of the school board. Chairman DeLashmutt refused to approve a plan to allow pupils to act as traffic policemen. He was supported by the other members of the board.

County Engineer C. L. Kinnier will be requested to prepare plans and specifications and to call for bids for the continuance of the Washington Lee High School sewer line.

The Lyon Park Citizens Association went on record as opposing the expenditure of county funds for the construction of a new county jail until adequate school facilities had been provided at a meeting last night. The association adopted a resolution asking the county board of supervisors and the county school board to provide additional school facilities at the Lyon Park School.

Recommendations of investigators from the United States Bureau of Education that four rooms be added to the present two-room school was indorsed. The resolution was offered by Harry C. Armstrong.

The discussion disclosed that the school has an enrollment of 180 pupils with only 90 desks and that one of the teachers is responsible for the daily instruction of 90 pupils.

The sanitary committee reported that immediate action is to be taken by the county engineer to remedy the objectionable conditions of the Long Branch sewer line which passes through Lyon Park. The community septic tanks adjacent to the line are all to be cleaned out and put in repair, and storm drainage, which has heretofore entered the line at its upper end is to be diverted. The cost of the work will be shared by the county and the firm of Lyon & Fitch.

There will be a card party tonight in the Community Utility House at Bon Air, held under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliry. The proceeds will be used to add furnishings to the building.

Ground has been broken by the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department for its new home, to be located on Buckley street, below Columbia pike.

The building will be of brick construction and the work will be under the supervision of Chief A. C. Scheffel. The estimated cost of the building is $5,000.

Aided by the ladies' auxiliary, and with the work to a large extent to be done by volunteer labor, it is now planned to complete the first story and as fast as funds can be raised complete the second floor, which will provide a large auditorium.

Tomorrow night in the Arlington Methodist Church the ladies' auxiliary will give a benefit dinner from 5 to 7:30 o'clock. The proceeds will go to the building fund.

The Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen's Association at its meeting last night at Ballston instructed the secretary to write Gov. John Garland Pollard inviting him to lead firemen from the two counties in a parade to be staged by the Washington Fire Department on Labor Day. It was pointed out that the invitation is being sent at this early date owing to the fact that in past years the firemen have found it impossible for the governor to attend owing to previous engagements.

C. C. Donaldson, of the Cherrydale department, was elected general chairman to have charge of the arrangements for the annual convention which will be held early in August.

The County Board of Supervisors, having under consideration appropriations to the several departments for gasoline and oil, each department was instructed to make a report showing the approximate cost of gasoline and oil over a period of one year. This report is to be filed with the county engineer, C. L. Kinnier.

The association warns all citizens against the danger of burning grass and trash in violation of the county fire ordinance.

It was voted to hold the March meeting at the Clarendon Firemen's Hall.

Plans for the fourteenth annual banquet of the Cherrydale Fire Department, to be given the evening of March 4 in the auditorium of the Firemen's Hall, are being rapidly completed, according to announcement made last night by Robert E. Janson, general chairman in charge of arrangements.

The program will include speakers of national prominence, with a program of entertainment which is promised to excel any held in the past. The completed program will be announced later.

The Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, after more than two hours' discusion on the report of the special committee investigating the question of the installation of water and sewers in the Waycroft subdivision, failed to adopt a report or take definite action. A committee will appear before the County Board of Supervisors Saturday and ask why exception was made in the installation of water and sewers in the Waycroft subdivision. The committee consists of Mrs. J. B. Lowell, chairman; Mrs. Bertha Kelley and Mrs. Richard L. Eacho.

It was decided to hold an anniversary meeting March 22 to celebrate the seventh birthday of the organization. A special committee on arrangements is to be appointed by the president.

The president, Mrs. Ruby Simpson, announces the appointment of the following committees: Publicity, Mrs. Elizabeth Saunders, chairman; Mrs. Pauline A. Smith and Mrs. Marjorie McFall. Civic committee, Mrs. Ada H. Davidson, chairman; Mrs. Charlotte Bouknight, Mrs. Ruth Simpson, Mrs. Jessie Roberts, Mrs. Helen Bardwell, Mrs. Carrie Gibson, Mrs. Jessie Hunt, Mrs. Lola Miller and Mrs. Elsie Gall. Political committee, Mrs. Rose Greenwood, chairman; Mrs. Helen Orr, Mrs. Sara E. Carl, Mrs. Marian Hagan, Miss Alice Garbe, Mrs. Jeannette Allwine, Mrs. Bessie Gannt and Mrs. Mary A. VanDoren.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department announces a benefit dinner tonight at the Lyon Park Community House from 5:30 to 7 o'clock. The proceeds will go to assist in the maintenance of the fire department.

D. A. R. of Culpeper Has Extra Meeting

Graves of Revolutionary Soldiers May Be Given Markers.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Feb. 25.—Two unmarked graves in the Soldiers Rest Cemetery at Orange are those of Gen. James Williams and another soldier of the Revolution, it was reported to a special meeting of the Culpeper Minute Men Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution yesterday. The matter of marking these graves was taken under consideration.

An exact copy of the rattlesnake flag carried at the Revolutionary battle of Great Bridge by the Culpeper Minute Men, from whom the chapter takes its name, was displayed during the meeting. This flag shows a rattlesnake, ready to strike, with the printed warning: "Don't Tread on Me," and was the first battle flag of organized American troops.

An original paper on the experiences of Washington's army during the winter of 1778 was read by Miss Kate Perry. Mrs. Berkeley G. Calfee, State registrar of the D. A. R. and former regent of the chapter, gave a report of the last meeting of the State board, recently held in Richmond.

YOUTH CONFESSES KILLING COMPANION

Blood on Clothing Betrays Cole, Who Is Arrested in Victim's Auto.

TELLS OF DEATH FIGHT

Special to The Washington Post. . . .

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 26.—Robert Cole, 25, of Crucible, Pa., who, the Pennsylvania State police say, confessed to slaying his companion, Theodore Rechmann, also of Crucible, along the lonely Magnolia, Paw Paw, W. Va., road, last Saturday night, was being taken to the Charles Town, W. Va., jail tonight to await the action of the Morgan County, W. Va., grand jury, in which county the crime was committed. Cole was not taken to Berkeley Springs, the county seat, because of the escape of three prisoners from the jail early today.

Cole confessed that he shot and killed Rechmann after they had quarreled, then dumped his body down the embankment and returned to Crucible. He did not know he was sought when arrested near Brownsville, Pa., late yesterday.

The most damaging evidence found when Cole was arrested were blood stains on his clothing a piece from the gun, found at the scene of the shooting.

Cole in his confession said that he and Rechmann had been here last week and were returning from Cumberland to Crucible when they got into a fight. Rechmann, he said, hit him, and he then shot him, left the scene, but returned to hide Rechmann's body.

Corpl. William Hanna, of the Pennsylvania State police, who announced that Cole had confessed, said that when arrested Cole was in possession of Rechmann's new automobile.

Deaths in Paper Plants Reported

Virginia Has Four Such for Year 1929, With 518 Accidents.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—State industrial statistics for 1929, compiled by Frank P. Evans, statistician, show that four deaths resulted from accidents in the paper and pulp manufacturing industry in Virginia last year, and 518 industrial accidents occurred which resulted in a loss of time from work of one day or more each.

Accident experience for the last half of the year showed an improvement over the first half, the first six months indicating 49 injury cases, causing a day or more loss of time each, as compared with 53 during the last six months.

In the paper and pulp manufacturing group there were eleven plants in the State with an average number of 3,591 employes during the period from July 1 to December 31, with a total of 4,848,617 working hours and a total of 239 lost-time injuries. For the first half of the year the same plants had an average of 3,608 employes and a total working period of 5,364,741 hours and 283 lost-time injury cases.

Taxi System Operator Is Declared Bankrupt

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Feb. 26.—Adam Henry Tenney, who operated a taxicab system and bus lines in and out of Buckhannon, has been declared a bankrupt by Judge William E. Baker, of Federal district court. His wife, Maude E. Tenney, has also taken bankruptcy. Their combined liabilities are listed at $102,950 and their assets at $16,217.

Arthur Sheets, of West Milford, one of Harrison County's outstanding farmers, has had to take bankruptcy, listing liabilities of $65,000 and assets at $50. Mr. Sheets had to make good accommodation paper of which he was indorser as the result of the failure of a Clarksburg man. He had been quite successful in farming, being one of the leading figures in the advance of agricultural extension and experimentation in the State.

VIENNA VOLUNTEERS TO QUIT ASSOCIATION

Department to Participate in Fairfax County Radio Broadcast.

ACCEPTS MOVIE MACHINE

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 84.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Vienna Volunteer Fire Department at the Town Hall in Vienna, the department voted to withdraw from the Arlington-Fairfax Firemen's Association. The Vienna department will lose its equity in the amount paid into the association as a result of its action as well as relief benefits the members would be entitled to if they were injured or killed on fire duty.

The department plans to take part in the county firemen's radio broadcast over Station WJSV on March 18 under the auspices of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce. A committee consisting of Garth King, H. Glen Cunningham and Minor Waggoner was appointed to arrange for the company's contribution and to procure the talent necessary to represent the department.

A motion picture projecting machine was offered the department at a previous meeting by J. Lovell Jeffries and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Barringer, of Vienna. A committee consisting of William Bennett, J. Gilbert Berry and F. N. Hagman, jr., appointed to investigate the feasibility of the company's operating a motion picture show in the town hall as a plan to raise money, reported favorably on the project and the machine was accepted. The committee was instructed to make the necessary arrangements to open a weekly show.

There will be a meeting at 10 o'clock Saturday morning of the program committee of the District H school teachers' meeting, in the office of Divisional Superintendent of Schools Wilbur T. Woodson in Fairfax.

Charles Adams and George King, of Vienna, were badly injured and Burdette Martin and Clarke Davidson, also of Vienna, received minor injuries when a tire on the car in which they were riding blew out causing the car to leave the road and collide with a telephone post at Five Oaks, Va., late Tuesday night.

Adams and King were rushed to the Emergency Hospital in Washington, where they were treated for cuts and internal injuries. The other two youths were treated by a local physician. Martin's car was completely demolished.

Harvey Fearson, of Chesterbrook, Va., was arrested by Traffic Policeman Carl R. McIntosh in Chesterbrook for the transportation and possession of intoxicating liquor. A quantity of alleged liquor was seized. Fearson was taken before Justice of Peace A. C. Ritchie at Fairfax and after a hearing was ordered held for the action of the grand jury at the March term of court under a bond of $500.

The week-day schools of religious education in Arlington and Fairfax counties have issued special invitations to the mothers of boys and girls enrolled in the schools to visit the classes the week beginning March 3. Regular classroom work will be carried on and mothers are urged to attend so that they might see exactly what the children are studying.

The schools meet for one hour a week during school time and are held at ten centers in the two counties. There are approximately 600 children receiving this instruction at the present time under the leadership of Miss Isabel Latimer. Mothers who are interested in the classes held at the Patrick Henry School are asked to visit the school Monday morning, those in Falls Church Tuesday morning, and in Annandale Tuesday afternoon.

Classes for the Cherrydale school are held Wednesday morning and the James Monroe school Wednesday afternoon. Clarendon and Ballston schools meet Thursday, the McLean school Friday morning, and the Oakton school Friday afternoon.

The report of Miss Ida H. Jones, assistant collaborating epidemiologist for this county shows that nine out of the fourteen physicians in active practice in Fairfax County reported thirteen cases of influenza, two of lobar pneumonia, and two of mumps during the past week. These reports are mailed to the State Health Department and Bureau of Vital Statistics at Richmond.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA now has an idea she'd like to see the North Pole.

"Why not the South Pole?" I asked.

"Too hot," she sighed.

It just goes to show the value of publicity. Because the South and heat are so closely associated Luella believes it's hot at the South Pole. I had to get literature to prove to her that it's as cold at the South Pole as it is at the North.

"That's news to me," said Luella, who had gone once to hear Burton Holmes lecture on the South Seas.

"There are a lot of funny things in this old world," I remarked. "Take, for instance, chop suey——"

"Chop suey? What about chop suey?"

"It's supposed to be a Chinese dish and yet it really is an American invention——"

"I wouldn't call chop suey an invention," declared Luella, who is a great friend of Henry Ford's.

"No? Why not?"

She laughed. "It's incongruous——"

"In Congress? What's in Congress?"

"Who said anything about Congress?" she asked, in desperation.

* * * *

SOMETIMES I think I'm getting deaf—or Luella is losing her sense of humor.

"What we ought to do," she said, "is take a boat trip, go to Europe, or Australia, anything, anywhere, to get away from it all——"

There it was again. The old wanderlust. If it hadn't been for her early training I believe Luella would be an explorer.

"Is that what made you think of the North Pole?" I asked, curious to watch the operation of her mind.

"Oh, no," she confessed, "I happened to think of that this morning while I was reading one of Omar Khayyam's poems, 'East is East, and West is West'——"

Funny, I always thought Kipling wrote that, but Luella said he's the author of "Out Where the West Begins." It must have been two other fellows.

STRIKE-DEATH JURY IS TOLD OF THREATS

Woman Tells How Autos Pursued Truck Mrs. Wiggins Was Riding In.

STATE CASE IS NEAR END

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—T. F. Wilson, of York, S. C., who was in Gastonia the day Mrs. May Wiggins, Bessemer City textile worker, was killed, last September, testified in court here today he heard threats against her and other visiting textile workers from Bessemer City.

"Let's get them out of here or kill every d—n one of them," an unidentified man who was in the mob following the truck was quoted as saying. Wilson said he did not know any of the five men now on trial charged with murder of the woman.

Another witness today, Mrs. Mary Goldsmith, the only woman in the Bessemer City group except for Mrs. Wiggins, told how automobiles pursued them as the truck in which 25 textile workers were riding left Gastonia after a mob had warned them not to attend a Communist meeting.

She described Mrs. Wiggins death telling that just at the moment the truck crashed into an automobile that pulled in front of it, a shot was fired, fatally wounding her companion. She could not say, she said, who fired the bullet.

Although Solicitor Carpenter said the State expected to rest sometime today, it continued this afternoon to present evidence in an effort to connect the five defendants, Fred Morrow, O. H. Lunsford, Lowery Davis, Troy Jones and Horace Wheelus, all Gastonia textile workers, with the shooting.

VIRGINIA ADVANCES CONDEMNATION BILL

Senate Kills Resolution for Free Schoolbook Item in 1932 Budget.

ELECTION ACT PASSED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 26.—The House roads committee today reported the Ball bill, which would give to the Federal Government the same right the State now has in the matter of condemning property for roads, a measure that is needed in the forthcoming development in northern Virginia, where the United States is preparing to build a memorial boulevard from Washington to Mount Vernon.

At the same time the House courts of justice committee reported the Reid bill, which would provide a county court for Arlington County, but amended it materially in the process. The Reid bill, as originally drawn, would have set up a court paralleling corporation courts of the cities, but this was in error, it was said, and the bill was amended to meet the situation. It would abolish justices of the peace as trial magistrates and set up a trial justice in their place.

The Senate spent its entire time in debating and killing by a vote of 26 to 13 the resolution, passed by the House, whereby Delegate Wilbur C. Hall, of Loudoun, was attempting to have the General Assembly go on record requesting Gov. Pollard in 1932 to include an item in the budget to care for furnishing free text books in the elementary schools of the State.

Ball Describes Advantages.

Senator Frank L. Ball, of Arlington, only county in the State that now furnishes text books free of charge, led the fight for the resolution, and told the Senators of the advantages to be gained by the system as had developed in his county. Senator B. F. Buchanan, of Smyth, led the opposition, saying that the precedent that would be set was dangerous and would ultimately lead to the ruination of the budget system in that the patron of any bill, felling to get an appropriation might have the legislature pass just such a resolution and have the governor include the item in the next budget. This he said, would lead to the ultimate defeat of the purposes of the budget.

The Senate took up out of its regular order and passed a substitute bill for the Verser measure which would provide for a study of the States' election laws. Under the substitute bill the head of the legislative reference bureau, which would be recreated as a full-time place under the Ball bill now pending, or some other expert designated by the governor, would check and revise the election laws, listing the inconsistencies found. These would be submitted to a commission of nine, three senators-elect, three delegates-elect and three persons named by the governor, which would study in and make its recommendations to the 1932 Assembly.

Redistrict Bill Deferred.

The privileges and elections committee also passed by indefinitely the Lesner resolution, that would have named a commission to study the matter of redistricting the State, which under the constitution will have to be done in 1932. The Warren bill, which would have provided that any judge of a court of record must resign before becoming candidate for any office, was not called up again as had been expected, and apparently it will spend the rest of its days in the committee file. It was not pushed by its patron when it was discovered that it would apply in the case of Judge Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, now seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Eighth Virginia District in opposition to Senator Ball.

The House spent practically all of its working hours today passing up uncontested measures and getting its calendar in shape. Delegate R. L. Brewer, of Suffolk, offered a resolution, which was adopted by the House, providing for a commission to study compulsory automobile insurance in the State, inasmuch as the Lesner State-wide automobile drivers' permit bill apparently will not be able to find its way out of the committee this year.

Alabama Cities Vie For Hospital Site

Spirited Fight Is Waged to Get Aproval of U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

A spirited fight over the location of the new veterans hospital in Alabama has been waged during the last two days by the 50 or more representatives who have been pressing the claims of their respective places before the Federal Hospitalization Board.

About 20 cities and towns in Alabama are bidding for the hospital. The list includes Birmingham, Mobile, Montgomery, Selma, Tuscaloosa, Huntsville, Dothan, Troy, Athens, Jasper and Tennessee Valley.

Among the prominent Alabamians who appeared before the hospital board were Col. William P. Screws, of Montgomery; Col. L. E. Persons, of Tuscaloosa; City Commissioner Leon Schwarz, of Mobile; Col. G. Hubbard, of Troy; Hugh Mallory, of Selma; Capt. Charles R. Wiggins, of Jasper; Frank M. Dixon, of Birmingham; Mayor Askeridge Williams, of Evergreen; Judge Winkler, of Greenville, and Dr. E. Marlette, of Brenton.

While here the visiting Alabamians were entertained by the State's delegation in Congress.

Jail Empty as Three Brothers Make Escape

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Feb. 26.—Three brothers, the only occupants of the Morgan County Jail, at Berkeley Springs, W. Va., escaped today with what Sheriff G. P. Newbraugh believes was outside aid. The trio, Albert Miller, 19; Royal Miller, 29, and Lafe Miller, 21, who have served time in the Moundsville Penitentiary, were not in their cells when the sheriff came this morning with their breakfasts. The cell door and outer door of the jail were open, the locks having been picked. The cell lock was an intricate one and the sheriff said that it could not have been opened from inside.

The brothers were being held on a burglary charge and also were wanted in Virginia and Maryland for numerous crimes.

Opposition Is Seen To New Ferry Line

Competition With Service Now Under Construction Deemed Uncalled For.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., Feb. 26.—Plans for a proposed new ferry line from Sandy Point, near Annapolis, to Kent Island have been made public by W. T. Emory, of Anne Arundel County, but are said to have aroused little enthusiasm in upper Eastern Shore counties. The creation of the Chesapeake Bay 15-minute service committee, of Anne Arundel County, was announced by Mr. Emory, who also stated that Charles F. Lee, of Annapolis and Charles Soper and P. Y. K. Howatt, of Baltimore, are interested in the project. The group is negotiating with New York bankers, it is declared, to finance the construction work.

Opinion among leading business men of the Eastern Shore seems to reject the idea of a new ferry service from Kent Island now that the Kent Island-Annapolis Ferry is under construction and will fill all requirements.
